BEAMER BALL LIVES HERE!

Virginia Tech retired Frank Beamer's No. 25 in 2002, but with Beamer's blessing in 2016 head coach Justin Fuente and his staff paid homage to Tech's legacy of excellence on special teams by selecting a different special teamer each week to the honorary Beamer 25 jersey. The response by the team and some of the subsequent performances by players wearing that symbolic number quickly ensured that another Virginia Tech tradition had taken root.

"Thanks to Coach Beamer, his assistants and many talented student-athletes, Virginia Tech has become synonymous with special teams success," Fuente said.

"I'm really honored that a member of the special teams will get to wear my old number every week," Beamer observed. "Of course, it's not just a recognition of me, it's about all those coaches and kids who made special teams part of our identity at Virginia Tech."

CB GREG STROMAN

It was only fitting that the first player to score a touchdown wearing the 25 was CB Greg Stroman, who returned a punt for an 87-yard TD vs. East Carolina. Stroman also registered a punt return score in Beamer's final game as head coach in the 2015 Independence Bowl. Of course, he gestured to the 25 on his chest as he entered the end zone in a 54-17 win against ECU.

WR CAM PHILLIPS

In a game played amidst the driving rain and wind of Hurricane Matthew, the Hokies seemed oblivious to the conditions, dominating at North Carolina in all three phases of the game. WR Cam Phillips, who blocked a punt the previous week vs. East Carolina broke through to tackle punter Tom Sheldon for an 18-yard sack in a 34-3 Tech victory.

WR DIVINE DEABLO

Playing in the Hokies' second consecutive Thursday night game before a national TV audience on ESPN, freshman WR Divine Deablo forced a fumble on a kickoff return that was recovered by Tech. Special teams were the star attraction at Heinz Field that evening as K Joey Slye tied an ACC record with six made field goals in a 39-36 victory for the Hokies.

WR C.J. CARROLL

Tech was facing Notre Dame for the first time in school history amidst snow, cold and blustery conditions. Despite trailing by 17-point deficits twice in the game, C.J. Carroll's 62-yard catch and run to the six-yard line set up a Steven Peoples' TD run that cut the Irish lead to 24-21 en route to a 34-31 comeback win.

DT TIM SETTLE

Arguably the largest human ever to wear No. 25, Settle donned the jersey for a 49-0 shutout of Boston College. "You stand out when you wear No. 25," he said. "Everyone knows what it means -- that you're a big part of the team when you wear No. 25."

RB SAM ROGERS

The pride of Mechanicsville, Virginia authored one of the best Senior Day performances in recent memory. Rogers ran for a career-high 105 yards and scored two TDs as the Hokies registered a 13th consecutive victory over Virginia. If a 52-10 win, raising the Commonwealth Cup and the ACC Coastal Division trophy weren't enough, Rogers proposed to his longtime girlfriend on the field after the game, and of course she said "yes!"

WINNING TRADITION

America's longest active bowl streak, domination of an in-state rival, ACC championships, national exposure, a history of sending players to the NFL, fanatical fan support and an unprecedented track record of families sending multiple members to play for the Hokies are all part of Virginia Tech's winning tradition.

17

FIRST-CLASS FACILITIES

Lane Stadium/Worsham Field provides Virginia Tech with one of the most revered homefield advantages in all of college football. The Hokies arguably boast the finest indoor practice facility of any college or NFL team in the nation, and it's literally just footsteps from a fabulous locker room.

COACHING STAFF

Head coach Justin Fuente leads a staff that combines some cornerstones of Tech's past success with fresh ideas and enthusiasm. They share one common mission – identify and recruit the best student-athletes to Virginia Tech and then help prepare them for success.

49

PLAYER BIOS

The Hokies return 13 starters from last season's squad. The defense features senior Virginia natives Andrew Motuapuaka, Greg Stroman and Anthony Shegog along with brothers Tremaine and Terrell Edmunds. On offense, Wyatt Teller and Eric Gallo anchor the line with Cam Phillips the top receiving threat for Tech.

SEASON REVIEW

The 2016 season included playing in front of the biggest crowd in American football history, wins in a hurricane and over the Hurricanes, a first-ever victory at Notre Dame, extending its streak against Virginia, a return to the ACC Championship game and a historic comeback in the Belk Bowl.

119

RECORDS/HISTORY

Virginia Tech's history and football records are inextricably linked. A litany of NFL greats like Carroll Dale, Bruce Smith, Michael Vick and DeAngelo Hall firmly etched their names in Tech history during their memorable careers with the Hokies.

BEAMER LEGACY

Few figures in college football history are as beloved by their alma maters as Frank Beamer is by Virginia Tech. Even fewer individuals may have impacted their institutions more than Beamer did in his 29 seasons as the head coach of the Hokies.

185

UNIVERSITY/MEDIA

Virginia Tech continues to thrive under the leadership of President Tim Sands, while Director of Athletics Whit Babcock continues his fourth year in Blacksburg. Plus, complete information on how you can follow the Hokies through all of our official platforms and social media accounts.

TECH TRADITIONS

NOTHING defines Lane Stadium more than the playing of “Enter Sandman” as the team runs out of the tunnel before kickoff.

For the past 17 years, Tech fans have become part of the stadium’s “Enter Sandman” culture. Virginia Tech has played the introduction of the Metallica classic as the team has emerged out of the tunnel and onto Worsham Field since 2000.

HOKIE STONE

Before each home football game, Tech’s players and coaching staff enter Lane Stadium through the tunnel to Worsham Field. As they pass beneath a Hokie Stone they touch for good luck, they see these words: “For those who have passed. For those to come ... Reach for Excellence.”

HOKIE VILLAGE

Located on the turf soccer practice field, across Beamer Way from Lane Stadium, Hokie Village opens up 3.5 hours before kickoff, is free for all, and begins Tech’s gameday experience.

HOKIE WALK

Established in 2001, when the football team arrives on campus about 2.5 hours before kickoff, the Hokies take the short walk up Beamer Way sandwiched on either side by the Tech faithful.

MARCHING VIRGINIANS

Known as "The Spirit of Tech" and established in 1974, the Marching Virginians draw from the general student body and perform at halftime of every home football game.

THE HIGHTY TIGHTIES

A Regimental Band, the Highty Tighties are Tech's longest-serving musical organization and the oldest college band in the Commonwealth and is a company in the third battalion of the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets.

SKIPPER

In 1963, three Virginia Tech students and Corps of Cadets members built a cannon and it made its debut against VMI in the two schools' annual Thanksgiving Day game. The students named the cannon "Skipper" after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated on November 22, 1963. Ever since, Skipper fires outside of Lane Stadium at the opening of Hokie Village, after the national anthem and whenever the Hokies score.

HOKIE POKEY

The spirit teams and the Marching Virginians' tuba section lead the Lane Stadium crowd in Blacksburg's rendition of the Hokie Pokey.

NATIONAL ATTENTION

"NESTLED IN THE APPALACHIAN MOUNTAINS IN SOUTHWESTERN VIRGINIA, BLACKSBURG IS A BEAUTIFUL COLLEGE TOWN SETTING. TAILGATE PARTIES DOT VIRTUALLY EVERY OPEN SPACE AROUND LANE STADIUM AND THERE'S A REAL SENSE OF HOSPITALITY TOWARD VISITORS - AT LEAST UNTIL THE GAME STARTS. THE HOKIES ROARING ONTO THE FIELD TO THE STRAINS OF METALLICA'S 'ENTER SANDMAN' MAKES KICKOFF SEEM ALMOST ANTICLIMACTIC. IT IS ONE OF THE BEST SCENES IN COLLEGE FOOTBALL."
- RECE DAVIS - ESPN'S COLLEGE GAMEDAY

ESPN'S THURSDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

Since the inception of ESPN's Thursday Night Football package in 1991, the Hokies are 23-9 (.719) in such games. The only other team that has even played in as many Thursday night games as Virginia Tech has won is Georgia Tech, and the Hokies are a perfect 6-0 in Thursday contests against the Yellow Jackets.

VT FOOTBALL IS FAMILY

The Virginia Tech football program prides itself on the family atmosphere it instills. That atmosphere hasn't gone unnoticed as many sets of sons and brothers of former Hokies have followed in the footsteps of their fathers and older brothers and decided to play in Blacksburg. Since 1987, Tech has seen 25 sets of brothers (27 total) and seven fathers and their sons compete for the Hokies. Below is a comprehensive list of those families who have sent multiple relatives to Tech, with current Hokies in bold.

LUNCH PAIL D

The famed Virginia Tech Lunch Pail has come to symbolize the blue-collar approach of the Hokies' defense under longtime defensive coordinate Bud Foster.

In 1995, Foster served as co-defensive coordinator with Rod Sharpless, whose mother-in-law found the original Lunch Pail in Mercerville, New Jersey. The pail once belonged to a coal miner and after a record-setting defensive season, the Lunch Pail became an iconic part of Hokies' lore.

The Pail travels wherever the Hokies go and its care is only entrusted to a defensive leader.

Before the start of every season, a signed mission statement from the defense is placed in The Pail. Then every week, unit goals, team goals and keys to success are placed in The Pail, plus the turf from any road victories.

Since 2007, The Pail has also contained the names of the 32 fallen Hokies taken in the April 16 tragedy.

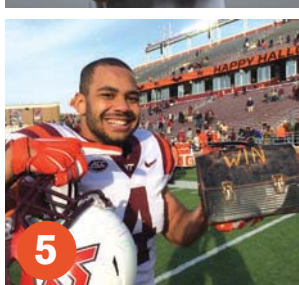

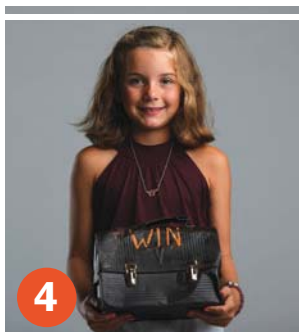

Corey Moore – whose jersey No. 56 is retired by Tech – is the only player who has ever earned lifetime possession of an incarnation of The Pail from Foster.

In 2015, The Pail made its debut on ESPN's SportsCenter set with Chris McKendry, Coach Beamer and Jay Crawford.

Herb Thomas

HERBERT J. THOMAS, JR. (Class of 1944)

Thomas, a former football player, received the Medal of Honor for action on Bougainville Island in the South Pacific during World War II. During a battle, Thomas threw a grenade, but the jungle vines dropped it back among his men. Thomas jumped on the grenade, giving his life to save the lives of his men.

CHRISTOPHER KRAFT (Class of 1944)

Kraft, a former baseball player, is a retired NASA engineer who established the agency's "Mission Control" operation. He served as the agency's first flight director and oversaw the first human spaceflight, orbital flight and spacewalk. The Mission Control Center at the Lyndon B. Johnson Space Center in Houston is named after Kraft, who graduated from Tech with a degree in aeronautical engineering.

ROBERT RICHARDSON (Class of 1958 and 1960)

Richardson brought international notoriety to Virginia Tech when he shared the 1996 Nobel Prize in Physics with two others for their 1972 discovery of the property of superfluidity in helium-3 atoms. He received both his undergraduate and master's degrees in physics from Virginia Tech and spent nearly his entire career as a professor and physics researcher at Cornell.

IRVING PEDDREW (Class of 2016)

Peddrew was the first African-American student to attend Virginia Tech and the first to attend any historically all-white four-year public institution in the 11 former states of the Confederacy when he enrolled in 1953. Peddrew studied at Tech for three years before moving to California to join the workforce. In 2016, the university presented him with an honorary Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering.

CHARLIE YATES (Class of 1958)

Yates was the first African-American graduate of Virginia Tech, receiving his degree in mechanical engineering 1958. He later became a college professor and twice returned to Virginia Tech to work. The final time was in 1987 when he served as an associate professor in the aerospace and engineering department. He remained at Tech until his retirement in 2000. In 2010, he passed away after a long bout with leukemia.

HOMER HICKAM (Class of 1964)

As a Corps of Cadets member, Hickam designed Skipper, the iconic cannon Virginia Tech fires during football games when it scores and also at other functions. After graduating with a degree in industrial engineering, Hickam served in the military during the Vietnam War, and after he returned, he worked for NASA. But he is best known as an author, with his memoir "Rocket Boys," becoming a New York Times best seller. The 1999 movie entitled "October Sky" was based off Hickam's book.

DAVE CALHOUN (Class of 1979)

Calhoun is the senior managing director and head of private equity portfolio operations of Blackstone. He also has worked as a vice chairman of The General Electric Company. He graduated with a degree in accounting and serves on the Pamplin College of Business Advisory Council.

ROB WITTMAN (Class of 1981)

Wittman earned his degree in biological sciences and worked for 26 years in state government as a field director for the division of shellfish sanitation in the Virginia health department and as an environmental health specialist for local health departments in the commonwealth. He transitioned to politics, and today, the former Corps of Cadets member is a U.S. Congressman, representing Virginia's 1st Congressional District.

LETITIA "TISH" LONG (Class of 1982)

Long began her career in the U.S. Navy before she even graduated with her degree in electrical engineering, serving as an intern developing capabilities for the submarine force. She eventually moved into intelligence arena, and in 2010, became the director of the National Geospatial-Intelligence Agency. She became the first woman to lead a major U.S. intelligence agency. In 2014, she retired after 36 years of federal service.

HODA KOTB (Class of 1986)

Kotb works as a co-anchor for the fourth hour of the TODAY show with Kathie Lee Gifford and she also serves as a correspondent for Dateline NBC, an investigative show. In addition, she has written three books and once served as Virginia Tech's commencement speaker (2008). She graduated from the university with a degree in broadcast journalism.

STEVE MOLLENKOPF (Class of 1992)

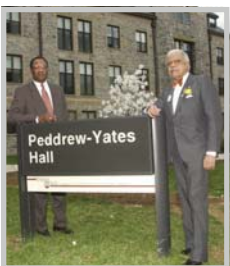

Mollenkopf began his career with Qualcomm more than 20 years ago as an engineer and eventually led the chipset business, overseeing the launch of the 4G technology. In 2010, he moved into the role of chief operating officer and he now serves as the CEO of the company. He graduated from the university with a degree in electrical engineering.

ROGER CRAIG (Class of 1999)

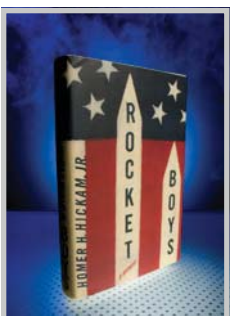

Craig graduated with degrees in biological sciences and biochemistry and has published eight papers in the field of bioinformatics. But he is best known for holding the record for highest single-day winnings on the quiz show Jeopardy, which he set on Sept. 14, 2010. In 2011, he returned to win the Jeopardy! Tournament of Champions.

As Virginia Tech football entered a new chapter under head coach Justin Fuente in 2016, we did so with a refreshed brand identity that honors our visual past and positions us to attract and engage new student-athletes, faculty and supporters for the future. In partnership with NIKE, Virginia Tech Athletics refreshed its marks and colors to create a consistent look to one of the most recognized brands in all of college athletics.

NIKE and Virginia Tech students-athletes, coaches, administrators and alumni collaborated on the brand evolution program for 18 months, gathering insights on key attributes of the university.

As part of the updated brand identity, all 22 Virginia Tech varsity sports showcase consistent colors, logos, lettering and numerals. To ensure consistency across all sports, Virginia Tech will reinforce the primary VT logo that honors the tradition and creates distinction for the next generation.

LANE STADIUM

A TRUE HOMEFIELD ADVANTAGE

NO. 1

Best Homefield Advantage in College Football (Rivals.com)

Lane Stadium doesn't blow people away by the brute strength of a massive stadium, but with knowledgeable fans that always reach a frenzied pitch at the right time, the Hokies make the most of their numbers.

Every good stadium has at least one end designed for deafening noise levels, and the enclosed South End Zone at Lane Stadium fits the bill perfectly. Holding more than 11,000 screaming Virginia Tech fans, the section amplifies noise and renders audibles useless. That's not to mention the isolation factor. With the nearest major airport nearly 45 minutes away, opponents' fans are never out in force at Lane Stadium.

Strength and conditioning program epitomizes what head coach Justin Fuente wants his program to embody — #HardSmartTough

The words can be found right above the entrance to the Virginia Tech football team's weight room.

They are displayed big and boldly – Hard, Smart, Tough.

Those three pillars represent the foundation of head coach Justin Fuente's football program and the construction of that foundation starts in the weight room, where Ben Hilgart, the associate athletics director for strength and conditioning, oversees that construction.

He and his staff want to make this team tough, and more importantly, instill Fuente's vision for the program.

"I think it starts with culture," Hilgart said. "It's bigger than any bench press or back squat that we'll do. Our job as a strength and conditioning coach is to promote the culture and instill the vision that the head football coach has for this entire program. That's something we can do every day.

"We have the unique opportunity to be around these players every single day. We're around them more than the assistant coaches are, so every single day, we're going to promote the culture and the vision of this football program.

Beyond that, it's athletic development. We'll have a comprehensive plan in place that will train all aspects of athletic performance. I've coached five-star kids and zero-star kids and it all comes down to development and maximizing these kids' potential."

2017 HARD HAT WINNERS

During winter strength and conditioning workouts, Coach Hilgart and his staff recognized 33 Hokies for their exemplary performance. In alpha order:

Adonis Alexander	Sean Daniel	Reggie Floyd	Billy Ray Mitchell	Parker Osterloh	Tim Settle	Colton Taylor
Xavier Burke	Divine Deablo	Eric Gallo	Andrew	Steven Peoples	Anthony Shegog	Wyatt Teller
AJ Bush	Terrell Edmunds	Daniel Griffith	Motuapuaka	Colt Pettit	Joey Slye	Tyrone Thornton
Austin Cannon	Tremaine Edmunds	Josh Jackson	Deon Newsome	Cam Phillips	Tyrell Smith	Ricky Walker
Jack Click	Brandon Facyson	Dalton Keene	Yosuah Nijman	D.J. Reid	Greg Stroman

#BIGSQUATFRIDAY

Under Hilgart, #BigSquatFriday has become a new Virginia Tech off-season tradition where players finish their Friday workouts by piling plenty of weight on the bar as their coaches and teammates enthusiastically cheer them on. Wyatt Teller, Tim Settle and Steven Peoples are among the many Hokies who have distinguished themselves on #BigSquatFriday.

Eating healthy and making food functional for athletic performance are important aspects of a Virginia Tech student-athlete's life, and that's why the athletics department implemented the sports nutrition program in July of 2002. Jennie Zabinsky is the department's director of sports nutrition.

The sports nutrition program offers a wide variety of services that aim to enhance the performance of each student-athlete. Services include individual assessments, team talks, body composition analysis using the Bod Pod, grocery store tours, supplement management and education, disordered eating counseling, travel meal arrangements, and football training table menu planning and management. Zabinsky works closely with coaches, team physicians, athletic trainers, strength coaches and the sport psychologist to address any performance concerns. She directs the nutrition and performance committee that meets monthly to discuss student-athletes of concern.

The sports nutrition staff manages two facilities, the Nutrition Oasis and Fueling Station, that provide athletes fuel in between workouts, classes and meals. Each facility provides recovery beverages, Gatorade products, smoothies, and a variety of high performance snack options as well as nutrition education resources.

The first part of a two-phase project began in 2016 to update the entrance to the Merryman Center and renovation of the Legends Hall area. The football offices and Olympic Sports entrance area on the first level of the Jamerson Athletics Center near the sports medicine area also received a major facelift.

New exhibits commemorate the accomplishments of Tech's greatest players, including All-Americans like Bruce Smith, Corey Moore and Michael Vick, while another area will highlight current Hokies playing in the NFL such as Duane Brown, Kam Chancellor, the Fuller brothers, DeAngelo Hall, Tyrod Taylor and others. Tech's greatest football accomplishments will also be celebrated along with new graphics and video displays on the walls. The specifications of the area also call for an open floor plan that will allow for a stunning view the indoor practice facility.

Snyder & Associates, a local company, handled the demolition, while Cannon Design, with regional offices across the nation has been handling the design concepts. Nashville-based 1220 Exhibits, Inc., added Virginia Tech to its impressive list of exhibits and display clients that includes the Pro Football Hall of Fame, as well as Notre Dame and Tennessee.

The $1.7 million Phase I of the project is being paid for with private contributions to the athletics department. Phase II involves overhauling McConnell Auditorium, which is the football team's meeting room inside the Merryman Center, and also the football team position meeting rooms – spaces adjacent to Legends Hall. Thanks to the generosity of Virginia Tech football alum Steve Johnson, work began in the summer of 2017 to replace the seating, the lighting and the ceiling, along with adding new graphics on the walls.

Plans are in the works to overhaul the Bowman Room, which resides on the fourth floor of the Jamerson Center. The room sees heavy use – from meetings to luncheons and dinners before and after football and basketball games to providing team meals for all sports on occasion. The athletics department wants to expand the room, adding seating and possibly a full-service kitchen. This area would provide a central place for team meals and other functions.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Office of Student-Athlete Development is committed to ensuring a first-class student-athlete experience. With a holistic focus on leadership development, career development and a commitment to community outreach, Virginia Tech student-athletes are provided with a foundation for success at the university level and beyond.

Inspired by the NCAA Student-Athlete Affairs commitment areas, the Athletics Office of Student-Athlete Development creates programs designed to enhance student-athletes in these areas.

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

We believe we've been afforded a tremendous opportunity to assist Virginia Tech student-athletes in their growth as leaders. Our intent is to help student-athletes identify ways they can thrive as leaders, students and competitors.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The Office of Student-Athlete Development is committed to educating student-athletes on the proficiencies and strategies necessary to develop career success during their time at Virginia Tech and beyond. The Career Game Plan provides student-athletes with insight into unique aspects of career development throughout their tenure at Virginia Tech and offers stepping stones on their path to post graduate success.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

With the university motto, Ut Prosim, (That I May Serve) at our core, the Office of Student-Athlete Development assists student-athletes in taking advantage of the many opportunities to volunteer throughout their college experience. Teams partner with national and local community organizations and volunteer their time at community-wide events.

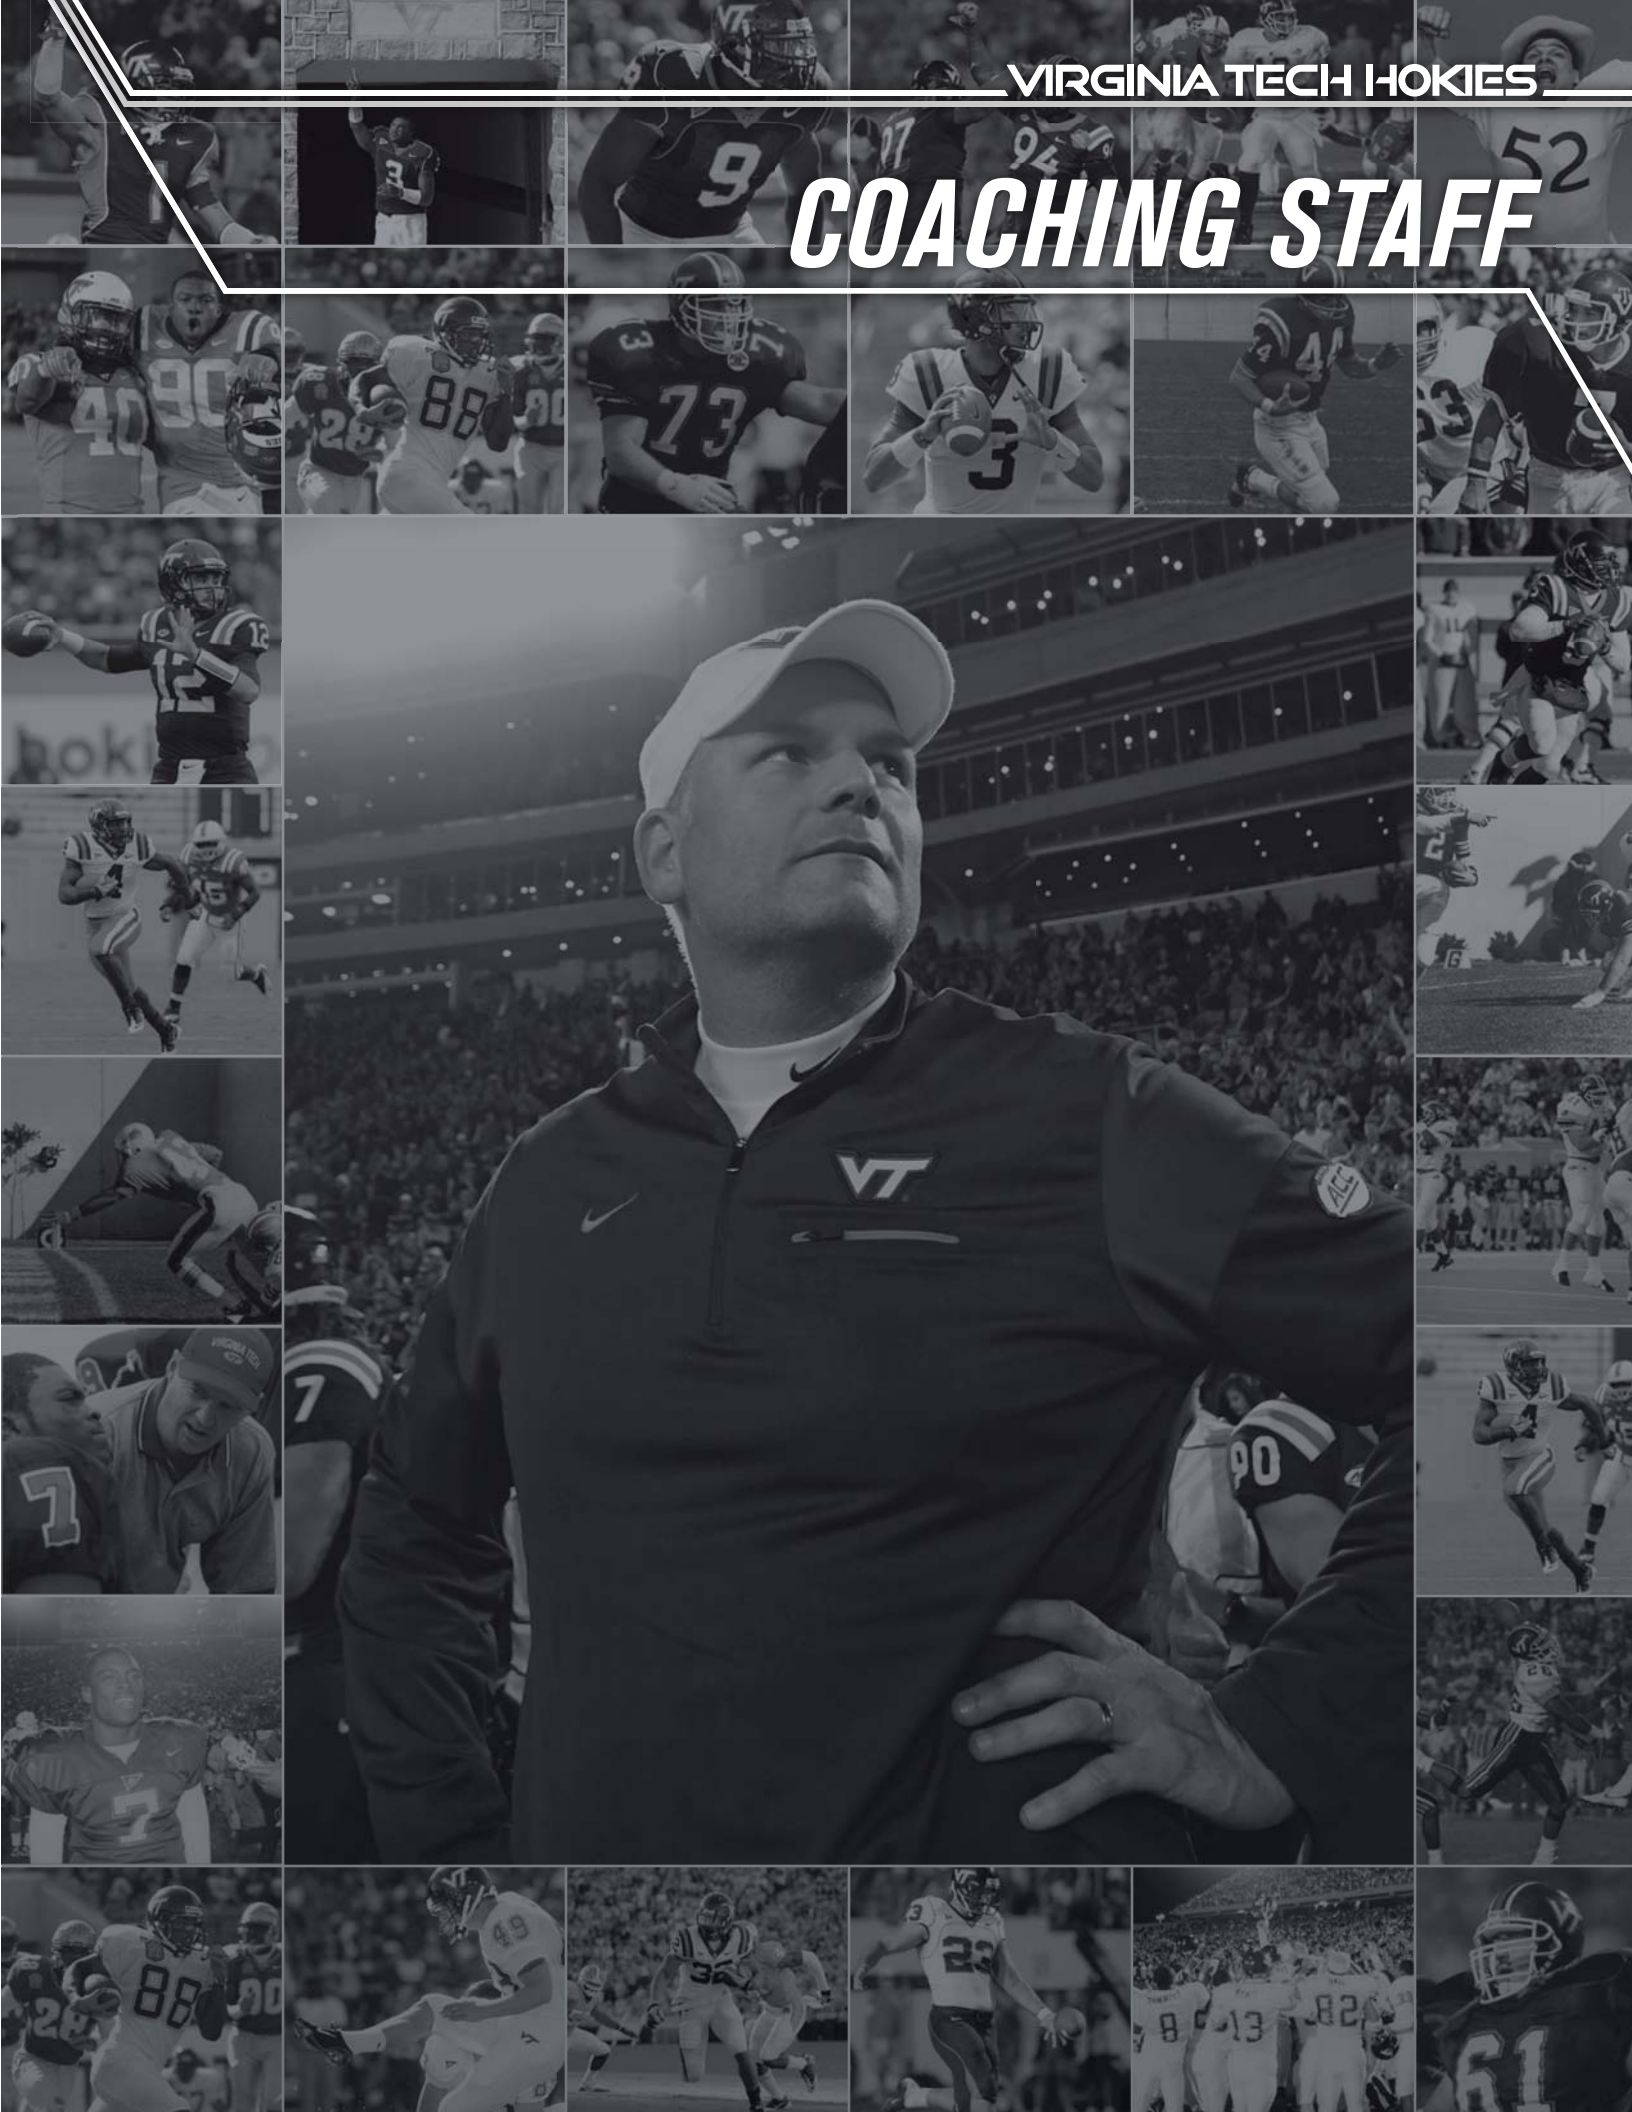

The program has been previously honored for its commitment to serving the good of the student-athletes by the Division I-A Athletic Director's Association as a program of excellence.

Since 2011, Hokie student-athletes have had the opportunity to participate in a study abroad course focused on sport and international development. Over the years, the course has worked with NGOs in the Dominican Republic, visited the United Nations and International Olympic Committee in Switzerland, and most recently, partnered with a K-12 school in Kigali, Rwanda.

PLAYING HIGHLIGHTS

- Was recruited to the University of Oklahoma by Howard Schnellenberger and played two seasons for the Sooners.
- Saw duty in 20 games at OU and led the Sooners to a 30-27 upset in win overtime against No. 25 Texas in the Red River Shootout (10/12/96) in the inaugural Big 12 contest between the two longtime rivals. Also set an OU freshman record with 11 TD passes that season.
- Transferred to Murray State, the same school that Frank Beamer coached prior to accepting the Virginia Tech job in 1987.
- Set 11 schools records during his two-year career at Murray State, completing 458 of 794 passes (57.7%) for 6,372 yards with 50 touchdowns and 20 interceptions, good for a 140.8 rating. Also scored two rushing TDs and had a 15-yard reception.
- Posted a career-high 553 yards at Southern Illinois (9/11/99) and threw for 470 yards and five TDs in his final game against Kentucky Wesleyan (11/20/99), leading the Racers to a 53-0 victory.
- Named the 1999 Ohio Valley Conference Offensive Player of the Year and was a finalist for the Walter Payton Award.
- Played professionally for the Arena Football League's Oklahoma Wranglers before embarking on his coaching career.

2016 ACC COACH OF THE YEAR

- Fuente and his entire staff return for their second season at Virginia Tech after a remarkable debut campaign in Blacksburg.
- The consensus 2016 ACC Coach of the Year, Fuente was also named the top first-year FBS head coach in the nation by the Football Writers Association of America, sharing that honor with USC's Clay Helton.
- Tech finished the 2016 season ranked No. 16 in both the AP Poll and the Coaches Poll, marking the highest final mark for the Hokies since 2010 (No. 16 AP, No. 15 Coaches).
- Virginia Tech, Penn State, Colorado, West Virginia and Western Michigan all finished in the AP Top 25 after getting zero votes in the AP Preseason Poll.
- Tech's 10 wins were the team's most since 2011 and the most ever by a first-year Virginia Tech head coach, surpassing the previous mark of nine wins by C.P. Miles in 1905.
- Fuente led Tech to its sixth ACC Coastal Division Title and its first since 2010, sending the Hokies to the ACC Championship Game where Tech lost a narrow 42-35 decision to eventual national champion Clemson.
- The Hokies did not lose consecutive games under Fuente in 2016 as the Hokies extended the nation's longest active bowl streak with their 24th straight appearance.
- Under Fuente, the Hokies also extending their winning streak against Virginia to 13 straight games.
- Virginia Tech's 35-24 victory over Arkansas in the Belk Bowl marked the largest comeback in school history. The Hokies were down 24-0 at halftime before scoring 35 unanswered points en route to victory, making Fuente the initial coach to guide the Hokies to a bowl victory in his debut season.
- The Hokies broke 10 offensive single-season records in 2016, most notably registering school marks for points (490), total first downs (330), TD passes (31), passing yards (3,660) and yards of total offense (6,223).
- Among ACC squads, only Clemson (26.9) averaged more first downs per game than Virginia Tech (23.6) in 2016.
- The Hokies also returned to their dominant defensive ways in Fuente's debut campaign as Tech ranked second in the nation in third-down defense (27.5%), while ranking fourth among Power Five squads in tackles for loss (113.0) and fifth in opponent completion percentage (50.1).
- Virginia Tech also experienced a special teams' resurgence as the Hokies returned to its Beamer Ball roots, blocking four kicks (three FGs, one punt), while registering TDs on a punt return and a blocked FG return.

WELCOME TO HOKIE NATION

- Named Virginia Tech's head coach on Nov. 29, 2015 after orchestrating one of the more dramatic program resurrections in recent college football history at Memphis.
- Considered one of the hottest coaching commodities in a market filled with high-profile openings, Fuente later indicated that Virginia Tech was a program he had long admired from afar, and was the only job he truly coveted, thanks in large part to the rich football tradition, a great environment to raise his family in Blacksburg and campus leaders committed to winning with integrity.

The Fuente family enjoyed a practice visit from great Hokies' QBs Michael Vick and Bryan Randall in 2016.

Buffalo Bills Pro Bowl QB Tyrod Taylor and Seattle Seahawks Pro Bowl S Kam Chancellor caught up with Coach Fuente at the 2016 Spring Game.

- While following in the footsteps of a bona fide legend like Frank Beamer would be a daunting task for any individual, Fuente immediately embraced the lofty expectations associated with inheriting the nation's longest active bowl streak and a fanbase hungry for a return to championship contention.

- Perhaps the perfect touch for Fuente incorporating the best of Beamer Ball into his own program came when he and longtime defensive coordinator Bud Foster forged an immediate connection and he promoted Foster to associate head coach, while retaining one of college football's most respected defensive minds.

The Fuentes — Justin and Jenny with daughters Charlotte, Cecilia and Caroline.

THE MEMPHIS TURNAROUND

- Compiled a 19-6 record in his final two seasons at Memphis, guiding the Tigers to back-to-back bowl berths after inheriting a program that went 5-31 in three years before his arrival.

- Unanimous selection as 2014 American Athletic Conference Coach of the Year when he led Memphis to its first conference title since 1971.

- Guided Memphis to a 15-game winning streak that included a 37-24 win over No. 13 Ole Miss (10/17/15).

- Memphis posted a 9-3 regular season mark in 2015, capped by a 63-0 win vs. SMU in Fuente's finale as the Tigers' head coach.

- The Tigers concluded a 10-3 season in 2014 with a 55-48 double-OT triumph over BYU in the Miami Beach Bowl, the first 10-win season for the Tigers since 1938.

- Fuente's final game as Memphis head coach was a 63-0 win vs. SMU (11/28/15). QB Paxton Lynch tied an FBS record with seven touchdown passes in the first half of that game. Lynch threw for a school-record 28 TD passes on the 2015 season.

- Memphis outscored its opponents by an average margin of 20.7 points per game during a run of 15 consecutive wins from 2014-15, scoring 652 points (43.5 ppg), while allowing only 341 (22.7 ppg).

- Memphis scored 471 points in 2014, shattering the old school record of 430 points set in 2004, while allowing a mere 19.5 points per game, a figure that ranked 11th among FBS squads.

- The Tigers went +11 (31 takeaways/20 giveaways) in the turnover column in 2014, finishing the campaign ranked in both the AP Top 25 and in the USA Today/Amway Coaches Polls, a first in school history.

- Fuente's squad led Conference USA in total defense in league games in 2012, giving up just 331.6 ypg.

- The Tigers also excelled on special teams under Fuente as Tom Hornsey won the 2013 Ray Guy Award as the nation's top collegiate punter.

BUILDING THE BLUEPRINT AT TCU

- Earned a well-deserved reputation not only as a top recruiter, but also as one of football's most innovative offensive minds during a record-setting five-year stint on head coach Gary Patterson's staff at TCU (2007-11).

- It was also at TCU where Fuente began a track record of developing quarterbacks and preparing them for NFL futures.

- During his final three seasons as play caller, QBs coach and co-offensive coordinator at TCU from 2008-10, the Horned Frogs produced a 36-3 overall record and went on a 24-game win streak in the Mountain West Conference.

- From 2008-10, TCU was the only program in the country that finished in the Top 10 in both the AP Poll and USA Today Coaches Poll all three of those campaigns. TCU also made back-to-back appearances in BCS bowls with Fuente on the staff, registering a 2011 Rose Bowl victory over No. 5 Wisconsin.

- In 2010, TCU set single-season school marks in touchdowns (73), points scored (541), total offense (6,199 yards) and first downs (327).

- The Horned Frogs also ranked fourth nationally in scoring (41.6 ppg), sixth in passing efficiency (166.9), 10th in rushing (247.4 ypg) and 12th in total offense (476.9 ypg) in 2010.

- His prowess for mentoring quarterbacks garnered national attention as TCU QB Andy Dalton flourished under his tutelage. From 2009-10, Dalton led TCU to a 25-1 record and set the Mountain West career record for total offense (11,925 yards).

- TCU was the only school in the nation to have two different quarterbacks rank in the top 10 in the country in passing efficiency from 2009-11.

- After Dalton completed his career as TCU's career leader in virtually every passing category, QB Casey Pachall picked up where Dalton left off. In 2011, Pachall led TCU to an 11-2 mark, completing 66.5 percent of his throws (228 of 343) with 25 TDs and seven INTs.

FCS ROOTS AT ILLINOIS STATE

- The composition of the Fuente's current staff traces some key roots to his initial coaching assignment at Illinois State as four of his nine assistants – Brad Cornelsen, Galen Scott, Vance Vice and Holmon Wiggins – worked with him there. In an ironic twist, the hometown of Bud Foster (Nokomis, Ill.) is actually less than 100 miles from Bloomington, Ill.
- After beginning his tenure at Illinois State coaching quarterbacks in 2001, he added offensive coordinator duties to his assignment for his final three seasons with the Redbirds (2004-06).
- Under his direction in 2005, Illinois State ranked fifth in both total offense (477.6 ypg) and scoring (39.2 ppg) among FCS squads.

COACHING INFLUENCES

BILL BLANKENSHIP

Fuente played for Blankenship at Tulsa's Union High School. Blankenship later served as head coach at Tulsa (2011-14) and worked with Fuente at Memphis (2015). He currently is the head coach at Fayetteville High School in Fayetteville, Ark.

"I'd still run through a brick wall for him. Many years later, he's still my coach, but he's also become a great friend, confidant and mentor. I'm eternally grateful for everything he's taught me over the years, lessons that have extended far beyond the football field. He's taught me about life, how to treat people, how to deal with success and how to overcome adversity." – Fuente

DICK WINDER

The late Winder served as Oklahoma offensive coordinator when Fuente was quarterbacking the Sooners in the 1990s. Winder retired as Gary Patterson's quarterbacks coach at TCU following the 2006 season and encouraged Patterson to interview Fuente for that position.

"Coach Winder was as rough and tough and as hard as they come. I would have jumped in front of a train for him, though. He was the polar opposite of Coach Blankenship personality-wise, but what an amazing coach. While my demeanor may be different, a lot of techniques and idiosyncracies of coaching offense and quarterbacks specifically, I took from Coach Winder." – Fuente

GARY PATTERSON

Before accepting the challenge of rebuilding the Memphis program, Fuente spent five invaluable seasons working with Patterson at TCU from 2007-11 as the Horned Frogs emerged as a national power.

"I patterned many organizational pieces of our program based on the structure of what Coach Patterson had developed at TCU. Working with Gary really prepared me in a number of facets to become a head coach. Gary's expertise was on defense, but I really appreciated the balance he struck between giving us his input on the offense and then giving us the freedom to operate, while being mindful of the overall picture with defense and special teams. It was a great lesson and it's a style I try to emulate with our staff." – Fuente

FUN FACTS ON THE FUENTES

- Fuente's great grandfather, Jack, supported his family during the Great Depression as a professional wrestler under the nicknames "The Spanish Red Devil" and "Spanish Jack".

- The most popular conversation piece in Fuente's office is a WWE title belt that was presented by Memphis native Jerry "The King" Lawler after Fuente's Memphis squad won a share of the 2014 American Athletic Conference championship.

- Other notable pieces of wrestling memorabilia in Fuente's office include a pair of personalized photos from Hall of Fame wrestling announcer Jim Ross, who once served as a high school football referee in Oklahoma.

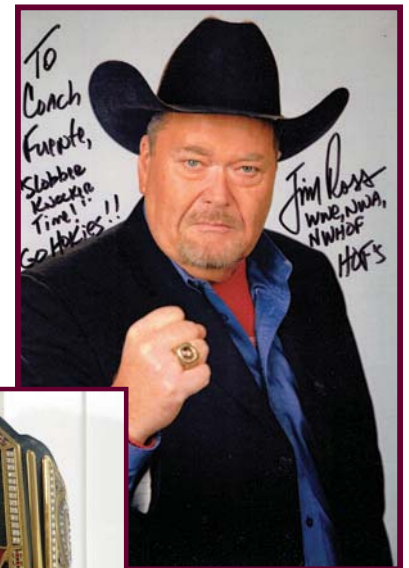

- Current Virginia Tech offensive line coach Vance Vice held that same role at Murray State when Fuente was the Racers' quarterback. Vice is also an Oklahoma native and once played in a high school game where Ross was an official.

- Current Tech assistant head coach Galen Scott introduced Fuente to his future wife - the former Jenny Kabbes - while Fuente and Scott were roommates at Illinois State.

- Jenny was an accomplished athlete in her own right as a volleyball student-athlete at Illinois State. The 1998 Missouri Valley Conference Newcomer of the Year was a first-team all-conference choice in 1999. After major shoulder surgery, sidelined her in 2000, she returned to the court to earn second-team All-MVC honors in 2001 and first-team accolades as a senior in 2001. She holds a business degree from Illinois State in addition to earning a master's degree in kinesiology and recreation with an emphasis in sport management.

- An avid golfer and fisherman in his limited free time, Fuente enjoyed the thrill of playing Pebble Beach in June.

- The Fuentes are the proud owners of two dogs – Petey & Bear.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

- Respected as one of the nation's top coaching minds and one of college football's most decorated defensive coordinators, enters his 31st season at Virginia Tech.
- Elevated to the post of associate head coach by current Tech head coach Justin Fuente after enjoying a historic 29-season run under Frank Beamer that began in 1987. Interestingly, both Fuente and Foster played at Murray State more than a decade apart.
- Architect of Tech's famed "Lunch Pail Defense," Foster is the longest continually tenured FBS assistant coach at the same school, holding that position with the Hokies since 1995 (as co-coordinator) and taking over sole possession of that role in 1996.
- Has been a key component in helping the Hokies register the nation's longest active bowl streak recognized by the NCAA, a 24-year stretch that began in 1993.
- Beginning when he was named co-defensive coordinator in 1995, the Hokies began a stretch where the club produced 13 seasons with 10 or more victories during a 17-season span.
- Won the 2006 Broyles Award, given annually to the top assistant coach in the country, and was a finalist on three other occasions (1999, 2001, 2005).
- Named the Division I-A Defensive Coordinator of the Year by American Football Coach magazine after helping the Hokies to the 1999 national championship game on the strength of a defense that led the nation in scoring defense at 10.5 ppg.
- His defenses have led the nation in a major defensive statistical category eight times and have placed in the top five 40 different times.

- Virginia Tech has finished in the top five in scoring defense on six different occasions under Foster, leading the nation in both 1999 and 2006, while ranking second in 2001, 2004 and 2005. The Hokies registered six straight top 10 finishes in scoring defense from 2004-09.
- The Hokies led the nation in total defense in both 2005 and 2006, while ranking second in 2001.
- His 2006 defense was arguably one of Virginia Tech's finest as the Hokies led the nation in scoring defense (11.0 ppg), total defense (219.5 ypg) and pass defense (128.2 ypg).
- Since Foster took over sole reins as Tech's defensive coordinator in 1996, the Hokies lead all FBS programs in sacks (781.0), sack yardage (-5,377), interceptions (360) and third-down percentage (31.4).
- Over that same span, only Alabama (16.4 ppg) and Ohio State (16.5 ppg) have been better in scoring than Virginia Tech (17.7).
- Since the start of the 1996 season the Hokies are second among FBS squads in pass defense (188.4 ypg) and takeaways (577), while ranking third in total defense (305.0 ypg) and sixth in rushing defense (116.6 ypg).
- Thanks to his opportunistic defenses, Virginia Tech owns an unbelievable +119 turnover differential (577 takes/458 gives) dating back to 1996, while 50 different defensive players have scored a total of 78 touchdowns.
- Blacksburg has truly become a no-passing zone under his direction. Since the start of the 1996 campaign, Tech has permitted the lowest completion percentage (50.5) of any FBS team, while owning the nation's highest INT percentage (4.5) and the third-best TD/INT differential (0.77) over that span.
- During that same timeframe, only Florida (105.4) has held opponents to a lower composite passer rating than Virginia Tech (106.3).

- Going back to 1996 NFL Draft, 41 of his defensive pupils have been drafted including nine players picked in the first or second rounds. Six of those nine first or second-round selections have been defensive backs, including a pair of first rounders in CBs Kyle Fuller (D1-14, Chicago) and DeAngelo Hall (D1-08, Atlanta).
- Coached three of the four Fuller brothers – Vinnie, Kyle and Kendall – part of the only quartet of brothers in NFL history to all be drafted and all attend the same college.
- Hall has gone on to earn three Pro Bowl berths during his professional career, while fifth-round pick Kam Chancellor has earned a Super Bowl ring, appeared in two Super Bowls and been named to four Pro Bowl squads with Seattle.
- Postseason honors have become synonymous with the Hokies' defense with at least one defensive player earning All-America honors of some form in 18 different seasons.
- Under Foster, Virginia Tech produced its first Lombardi Award winner and its first Nagurski Trophy winner in Corey Moore.
- The Hokies have also two BIG EAST defensive players of the year during Foster's tenure – Moore, who earned the honor in both 1998 and 1999, and Cornell Brown, who won it in 1995. Brown would later earn a Super Bowl ring with the Baltimore Ravens.
- Originally came to Tech as inside linebackers coach in 1987 before serving as outside linebackers coach from 1988-92. Added special teams duties to his responsibilities in 1993 before becoming co-defensive coordinator in 1995 and taking over sole responsibility for those chores in 1996.
- Began his career as a graduate assistant at Murray State in 1981-82 before assuming a full-time role with the Racers from 1983-86 before making the move with Beamer to Blacksburg in 1987.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

- Another longtime colleague of head coach Justin Fuente enters his second season with the Hokies. Scott's association with Fuente dates back to Illinois State when they both served as assistants on the Redbirds' staff and shared an apartment.
- Named the FCS Assistant Coach of the Year at Illinois State in 2007.
- High-energy coach owns experience as a defensive coordinator at both Memphis and Illinois State, joining defensive line coach Charlie Wiles as another member of Bud Foster's defensive staff with experience in that role.
- A former All-America linebacker in his own right, Scott owns 16 years of collegiate coaching and will work with the Hokies' safeties for a second season, in addition to duties assigned by Fuente as assistant head coach.
- The 2005 American Football Coaches Association I-AA Coach of the Year, Scott served as defensive coordinator for Fuente at Memphis.
- Played an integral role in helping Fuente resurrect a squad that finished 2-10 in 2011 and hadn't posted a winning campaign since 2007.
- Only 15 FBS squads allowed more points than Memphis in 2011 (35.1 ppg) and only three teams permitted more yards of total offense than the Tigers (491.0 ypg) that season. Just a year later, Memphis led Conference USA in total defense in league games at 331.6 ypg.
- By the 2014 and 2015 seasons, the Tigers registered back-to-back bowl berths, compiling a 19-7 record that included a 15-game winning streak that boasted a victory over No. 13 Ole Miss.
- Despite losing eight starters from the previous season, the Tigers held four opponents under 20 points in 2015, including a 63-0 shutout of SMU in the regular season finale. The Tigers followed up that performance by registering three interceptions in the Birmingham Bowl vs. Auburn, including one that was returned for a 53-yard TD.
- With Scott serving as defensive coordinator in 2014, Memphis ranked 11th in the FBS in scoring defense (19.5 ppg), putting the Tigers ahead of traditionally stout defensive programs such as Ohio State, Michigan State, Wisconsin and many others.
- The 2014 squad led the American Athletic Conference and ranked eighth nationally in opponent passer rating (106.3) and was 19th among FBS squads in rushing (121.5 ypg).
- The defensive effort by the Tigers in 2014 played a pivotal role in Memphis claiming the American Athletic Conference championship, the team's first league title since 1971. At 10-3, Memphis equaled a school record for victories which had stood since 1938, capping the season with a dramatic, double-OT win over BYU in the Miami Beach Bowl.

- Memphis continued its defensive improvement in 2013, ranking 12th among FBS squads in rushing defense (116.3 ypg) as the Tigers permitted only one individual 100-yard rusher and contained four teams to under 100 net rushing yards. Memphis also ranked 39th nationally in total defense (370.7 ppg).
- Scott guided one of the most-successful linebackers in school history in 2010 when Jamon Hughes ranked third nationally with 147 tackles.
- Spent two seasons working under head coach Todd Graham at Tulsa from 2008-09.
- Coached outside linebackers and safeties in 2008 as the Golden Hurricane finished the season with an 11-3 record and a 45-13 win over Ball State in the GMAC Bowl.
- Served seven years at his alma mater, Illinois State (2001-07) and took on the role of defensive coordinator his last two seasons.
- In his first season as defensive coordinator in 2006, Scott directed a Redbirds defense that was the Gateway Conference's No. 3 total defense and No. 2 scoring defense, allowing 19.7 ppg.
- Began his coaching career at Illinois State in 2001.
- Was one of nine minority coaches selected to participate in the 2016 NCAA Champion Forum in June 2016 where attendees gained a realistic view of the role of a successful college head football coach and the preparation necessary to become one.

PLAYING HIGHLIGHTS

- A three-time All-America selection and four-year All-Gateway Conference pick as a linebacker, helped Illinois State to its first Gateway Conference title (1999) and a pair of NCAA Division I-AA playoff appearances (1998, 1999).
- Held the school's career tackle record with 528 at the time of his graduation, a mark that was subsequently broken by one of his pupils, LB Boomer Grigsby (580), but still ranks third in Missouri Valley history.
- His 27-tackle performance against Southern Utah in 1998 remains an Illinois State record and ranks sixth in conference annals, while his 175 tackles that season stands as the eight-best single-season tally in conference history.
- Named to the 1997 All-Gateway Newcomer Team.

PLAYING HIGHLIGHTS

- Three-time All-Big South wide receiver at VMI from 2002-05, finished his career with 162 receptions for 2,101 yards (13.0 avg.) with 12 touchdowns for the Keydets.
- His 162 catches rank second in school history behind only Mark Stock (165) while his yardage tally is third in VMI history.
- Owns a share of a school record with a reception in 34 consecutive games.
- Racked up 58 catches for 742 yards and three TDs as a senior in 2005, tying as the second-best season reception total at the school. Also had 57 catches as a junior in 2004.
- Registered two games with 10 catches during his career, a mark that ties as the second-best single-game tally in VMI history, while his five 100-yard contests are the second-highest total in the VMI record book.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

- Talented and versatile coach enters his third season at Virginia Tech, his second coaching running backs.
- Originally joined the Hokies as wide receivers coach in 2015.
- Selected to participate in NFL's Bill Walsh Diversity Coaching Fellowship with the Washington Redskins during camp in July 2017.
- Born and raised in the heart of the 757, Burden hails from an area that has served as a hotbed of talent for the Hokies for generations. Also owns experience coaching at Fork Union Military Academy, a school that has produced a distinguished pedigree of NFL performers.
- Helped groom RB Sam Rogers into a multiple-purpose offensive threat.
- A record-setting collegiate receiver in his own right at VMI, helped develop WR Isaiah Ford into Virginia Tech's first pass catcher to ever produce a 1,000-yard season in 2015 when he set a single-season school record with 1,164 yards, capping the year with a 12-catch, 227-yard effort in the Independence Bowl.
- Joined the Hokies after a three-year stint as the passing game coordinator and coaching wide receivers for Old Dominion (2012-14).
- Prior to Virginia Tech, Burden spent three seasons at Old Dominion (2012-14) in Norfolk, Virginia, where he groomed 1,000-yard wideouts such as Antonio Vaughan, Zach Pascal, Larry Pinkard and Nick Mayers.
- Old Dominion was one of 13 FBS schools in 2014 to have three players with 40 or more catches and one of 16 schools to have four players with 30 or more receptions.
- Vaughan produced his best collegiate season with 63 catches for a league-high 1,019 yards under Burden's guidance in 2014 as his 12 touchdowns tied for fourth among FCS programs.

- With Burden serving as passing game coordinator in 2013, Old Dominion ranked fourth in the FCS in scoring offense (42.3 ppg), fourth in passing offense (359.4 ypg) and seventh in total offense (519.0 ypg) as Pinkard led the squad with 68 catches for 1,020 yards.
- Helped lead the most prolific FCS offense in 2012 as the Monarchs led the nation in scoring (45.2 ppg), total offense (548.2 ypg), passing offense (393.8 ypg) and TD passes (44). Mayers tied for second among FCS performers with a school-record 16 TD catches. He also set single-season school records with 79 catches for 1,233 yards earning All-America honors from College Sports Madness and Beyond Sports Network.
- Developed WR Tre Gray into a record-setting receiver at Richmond in 2011. He earned third team All-America honors from the AP after leading the Colonial Athletic Association and setting Richmond single-season records with 95 receptions for 1,187 yards.
- Served as an integral part of one of the most successful start-up programs in recent history as Old Dominion returned to the field in 2009 after a 68-year absence.
- Joined the Old Dominion staff as defensive backs coach in 2007, helping to build a roster from scratch as the Monarchs got on the field in 2009 and produced a 9-2 mark, the best record for a first-year program in the modern era of college football.
- Embarked on his coaching career in 2006 at Fork Union Military Academy where he coached wide receivers and defensive backs while also serving as the passing game coordinator and recruiting liaison.

PLAYING HIGHLIGHTS

- Became the first quarterback in the history of NCAA Division II football to pass for at least 4,000 yards and rush for at least 2,000 yards during his career at Missouri Southern State from 1995-98.
- Inducted into the Missouri Southern State Athletics Hall of Fame in 2014.
- Was on the same Oklahoma roster as current Tech head coach Justin Fuente in the 1995 Oil Bowl, an annual Oklahoma vs. Texas high school summer all-star game.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

- Prolific collegiate quarterback enters his second season serving as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Virginia Tech.
- Under Cornelsen's direction, Virginia Tech tied or broke 10 offensive single-season records in his debut season with the Hokies.
- With Cornelsen calling the plays in 2016, the Hokies tied or set school bests in points (490), total TDs (61), first downs (330), passing first downs (172), TD passes (31), total offense (6,223), completion pct. (62.1%), passing yards (3,660), pass completions (279) and total plays (1,087).
- Among ACC squads, only Clemson (26.9) averaged more first downs per game than Virginia Tech (23.6) a year ago.
- The Hokies also ranked fifth in the ACC in scoring (35.0 ppg), total offense (444.5 ypg), rushing (183.1 ypg), pass efficiency (149.8) and time of possession (31:15).
- Helped QB Jerod Evans register one of the most productive seasons of any quarterback in school annals in 2016.
- In his only season of FBS competition, Evans set eight single-season records for the Hokies, including marks for total offense (4,392), passing yards (3,546), TD passes (29), total TDs accounted for (41) and rushing yards by a QB (846).
- Along with current Tech head coach Justin Fuente, helped take a Memphis program that had gone 3-21 in the two seasons prior to their arrival to a squad that went 19-7 and earned back-to-back bowl berths in 2014-15.
- Joined Fuente in grooming a relatively unheralded two-star quarterback prospect, Paxton Lynch, into a first-round NFL Draft pick.
- During his final two campaigns for the Tigers, Lynch completed 64.8 percent (555 of 856) of his passes for 6,807 yards with 50 TDs and 13 INTs, good for a 147.9 rating. He also ran for 15 TDs over that two year span, while surrendering a mere 32.0 sacks.
- By contrast, in the three seasons (2009-11) prior to Lynch's arrival at Memphis, the Tigers compiled a 5-31 record, threw for 7,182 yards with 37 TDs and 36 INTs, while suffering 80.0 sacks.
- Under Cornelsen's tutelage in 2015, Lynch threw for 3,776 yards, with 28 touchdowns and only four interceptions. He tied an FBS record with seven touchdown passes in the first half of Memphis' 63-0 victory over SMU.
- In 2015, under his direction as co-offensive coordinator, Memphis finished 11th nationally in scoring offense (40.2 ppg), ranking ahead of both squads who played in the College Football Playoff Championship Game – Clemson (16th – 38.5 ppg) and Alabama (30th – 35.1 ppg).
- Memphis was particularly efficient on third down in 2015, converting 48.8 percent (101 of 207) of the time to rank eighth in the FBS.

- In 2014-15, the Tigers averaged 185.0 rushing ypg and scored 60 TDs on the ground, producing 11 games with 200 or more net rushing yards. By contrast, the Tigers averaged a mere 87.8 rushing ypg and scored 15 rushing TDs in 2010-11.
- The Tigers set a school record for points in consecutive seasons (993 in 2014-15) and boasted a +19 turnover differential (53 takes/34 gives) over that timeframe.
- In 2014, with Cornelsen as the quarterbacks coach, Lynch guided the Tigers to a Miami Beach Bowl win over BYU. Lynch was the MVP after completing 24 of 46 for 306 yards and four touchdowns. He also ran for three scores, tying an FBS record for touchdowns responsible for in a bowl game.
- In 2012, Cornelsen mentored Jacob Karam who completed 64.2 percent (176 of 274) of his passes, while throwing 14 touchdowns and a school-low three interceptions.
- Prior to joining the staff at Memphis, Cornelsen was the offensive coordinator at Northeastern State, a Division II school in Tahlequah, Okla. In his final season there in 2011, he helped the offense become among the nation's leaders in passing offense (13th, 291 ypg) and total offense (22nd, 440 ypg). NSU's seven wins that season were the program's most in 11 years.
- In 2011, Northeastern State receiver Trey McVay became a first-team All-American while in Cornelsen's offense, catching 82 passes for 1,533 yards. He set a school single-season record for receiving yards. His 425-yard performance vs. Harding set an NCAA single-game record at any level for most receptions in a game. His 16 catches and six TDs in that contest also established school records.
- Landed his initial full-time coaching position at Illinois State in 2003, where Fuente also served as an assistant on the Redbirds' staff from 2001-06. Current Tech assistants Holmon Wiggins and Vance Vice were also members of that Illinois State staff.
- Developed QB Luke Drone developed into an All-Gateway Conference choice at Illinois State in 2007.
- In 2005, Cornelsen helped Laurent Robinson become an All-America selection and earn conference offensive player of the year honors after he set a Missouri Valley record with 86 catches for a school-record 1,465 yards. Robinson's 292-yard game against Indiana State in 2005 still stands as a conference record.
- Robinson concluded his career at Illinois State with 192 catches for 3,007 yards with 29 TDs, a yardage total that still ranks sixth in Missouri Valley annals.
- Spent the spring of 2001 at NW Missouri State working as a graduate assistant under legendary NCAA Division II head coach Mel Tjeerdsmas before taking a similar role at Oklahoma State under head coach Les Miles.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

- Veteran coach and former NFL player enters his second season with Virginia Tech as cornerbacks coach.
- Came to Blacksburg after spending three seasons in a similar capacity at West Virginia.
- Quickly made an impact on Tech's secondary in 2016 as the Hokies boasted the fifth-lowest opponent completion percentage in the nation (50.1) and ranked 10th with a 111.1 opponent passer rating. Only Michigan (21.0%) permitted a lower third-down percentage than Virginia Tech (27.5%) last season.
- Served as defense coordinator and secondary coach for Ruffin McNeill at East Carolina from 2010-12 after working with McNeill on the defensive staff at Texas Tech.
- During his distinguished coaching career, has been a member of staffs that have won five conference titles and made 14 bowl appearances.
- 11 of his defensive backs have gone on to sign professional contracts.
- In 2015, WVU's defense led all Power Five schools by forcing 23 interceptions and ranked second with 31 total takeaways. Mitchell's cornerbacks accounted for 11 of those INTs, finishing the year with 28 pass breakups. The Mountaineers finished the year with a +9 turnover margin (31 takes/22 gives) to rank 15th among FBS squads.
- Daryl Worley tied for third among Power Five players with six interceptions and was eighth among FBS performers with 12 passes defended.
- The Mountaineers also finished eighth among FBS squads in highest percentage of opponent three downs and out in 2011, while ranking No. 11 among Power Five squads in third-down defense (31.7%).
- In 2014, WVU's defense was eighth among Power Five teams in third-down defense (31.4%) and were No. 15 among FBS squads in terms of forcing three-and-outs. The Mountaineers also ranked No. 18 among Power Five teams in opposing passer efficiency (116.2).
- In 2013, WVU's defense was No. 4 among FBS squads with 16 fumbles recovered and ranked 14th among Power Five squads with 28 turnovers forced.
- In 2012, East Carolina tied UCF for first place in the Eastern Division of Conference USA with a 7-1 league record and made its second bowl appearance in three years with Mitchell serving as defensive coordinator and secondary coach.

- Spearheaded the installation of a 3-4 scheme in 2011, an alignment that produced immediate results and earned ECU a reputation as one of most improved units nationally as the Pirates allowed 947 total net yards and 185 fewer points than the previous season.
- Tutored cornerback Emanuel Davis to back-to-back All-Conference USA selections and developed Damon Magazu into a ball-hawking free safety who led the team with four interceptions and three fumble recoveries in 2011.
- Accompanied McNeill to East Carolina after a four-season stint at Texas Tech.
- Jamar Wall led the secondary with 62 tackles and two interceptions in 2008 and earned All-Big 12 honors in 2009 after ranking second nationally with 17 passes defended.
- The Red Raiders pass defense led the Big 12 Conference in net passing yards in both 2006 and 2007. In 2007, Texas Tech limited foes to 188.4 ypg in that department, a figure that ranked 13th among FBS squads.
- Worked on the staff of legendary coach LaVell Edwards at BYU after a stellar playing career for the Cougars.
- Helped guide the team to five bowl appearances and a No. 5 national ranking following a 14-1 campaign in 1996, as well as back-to-back Western Athletic Conference championships.
- While at BYU, he also served as the faculty advisor to the Black Student Union from 1995-02.
- the school's record book, while his five picks in 1989 were a season high.

PLAYING HIGHLIGHTS

- A seventh-round draft choice of Atlanta in the 1991 NFL Draft, played in 36 games over three seasons for the Falcons.
- All-WAC cornerback who played in four bowls and ran the opening leg of BYU's All-America 400M relay team.
- Still holds the school record for the longest interception return, a 97-yard effort against New Mexico in 1989.
- His 13 career interceptions stand fifth in the school's record book, while his five picks in 1989 were a season high.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

- Regarded as one of the nation's top special teams coaches, enters his second season serving as special teams coordinator and tight ends coach at Virginia Tech.
- Joined the Hokies after working with current Tech head coach Justin Fuente at Memphis.
- Presided over the resurgence of Tech's special teams units in 2016 as the Hokies hearkened back to the heyday of Beamer Ball by blocking a punt and three field goals, while returning both a punt and a blocked field goal for touchdowns.
- K Joey Slye led all ACC kickers and set a single-season Tech record for a kicker with 118 points in 2016, as he hit 20 of 27 FGs (74.1%) and converted 58 PATs.
- Slye also set a Tech single-game record with 21 points in a 39-36 win at Pitt (10/27/16) as he tied an ACC record with six made FGs in the contest. He also led the ACC with 73 touchbacks on kickoffs.
- Also tutored Tech's tight ends in 2016 as Bucky Hodges thrived in a hybrid TE/WR role, setting career highs with 48 catches for 691 yards, while tying a career mark with seven TDs.
- Brought 25 years of coaching experience with him to Blacksburg, including 12 seasons as a special teams coach in the Southeastern Conference at both Ole Miss and Arkansas.
- His special teams units at Memphis were among the nation's finest the past two seasons. His 2015 squad ranked seventh in the country in overall special teams efficiency via Football Outsiders, while his 2014 unit was the best in the FBS according to ESPN.
- Memphis kicker Jake Elliott was named the American Athletic Conference's Special Teams Player of the Year Award with in both 2014 and 2015.
- Memphis was the only collegiate program to have a semifinalist for both the Ray Guy Award and the Lou Groza Award in 2014.
- A three-time Groza Award semifinalist, Elliott connected on 76.9 percent (60 of 78) of his FGs the past three seasons under Shibest with eight makes from 50 or more yards, including a school-record 56-yard FG at South Florida (11/16/13).
- Elliott established Memphis records in 2015 with 23 made field goals and 132 points. He connected on 82.1 percent (23 of 28) FGs and nailed all 63 of his PATs.
- Special teams coverage units coached by Shibest haven't allowed a kick return or punt return TD over the past six seasons. His squads ranked among the nation's top 10 in net kickoff coverage three of the past five years. The Hokies ranked 12th in that department in 2016, allowing 17.9 yards per return.
- Was part of a Memphis staff that guided the Tigers to a 10-win season in 2014, the first time the school had registered double-digit victories since 1938.
- Memphis ranked fourth among FBS squads in punt coverage in 2014, allowing opponents only a 2.77 yards per return.
- Memphis wide receiver Keiwone Malone concluded his collegiate career with a school-record 83 punt returns for 716 yards, a figure that ranked as the fourth-highest tally in school history.
- In 2013, Shibest coached the nation's best punter, Tom Hornsey, who earned the Ray Guy Award and was honored by the American Athletic Conference as the league's Co-Special Teams Player of the Year.
- Hornsey ranked seventh nationally in punting in 2013, averaging 45.2 yards per punt. He also landed 46.8 percent (29 of 62) of his punts inside the 20.
- Memphis led Conference USA in kickoff coverage with a net average of 42.6 yards in 2013.
- Freshman tight end Alan Cross led Memphis with five TD catches in 2012 and was named to the All-Conference USA Freshman Team.
- Spent four seasons at Ole Miss, where he coached an NCAA statistical champion, four All-SEC honorees and two freshman award winners highlighted Shibest's special teams accomplishments.

- Tutored the top two kick returners in Ole Miss history in Mike Wallace and Jesse Grandy.
- In 2011, the Rebels ranked second nationally and led the SEC in punt returns with a 15.6-yard average.
- Kicker Joshua Shene wrapped up his career at Ole Miss second in career scoring (310), field goals (57), field goal attempts (75), PATs made (139) and PATs attempted (142).
- In his first season with the Rebels in 2008, Shibest was honored as the Special Teams Coordinator of the Year by FootballScoop.com.
- Shibest groomed running back Felix Jones into the SEC Special Teams Player of the Year at Arkansas in 2007.
- Spent eight seasons as Arkansas (2000-07), where he coached special teams and had stints tutoring tight ends (2000-01, 2006-07) and receivers (2002-05).
- Led Butler County (Kan.) Community College to a four-year record of 34-10 and back-to-back National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) championships in 1998 and 1999.
- Named the NJCAA Coach of the Year both seasons, and he also earned Jayhawk Conference Coach of the Year honors in 1996 and 1998.
- During his tenure at Butler County, Shibest coached 19 NJCAA All-Americans and 34 NCAA Division I signees, including Ricky Hall who registered 12 touchdowns for Tech in 1998-99 as a receiver and return man.
- Led the Grizzlies to records of 7-4 in 1996, 4-5 in 1997, 12-0 in 1998 and 11-1 in 1999.
- In two seasons at Garden City (Kan.) Community College he helped the Bronco Busters to a 10-1 record in 1994 and a 9-2 mark in 1995 with an offense that ranked sixth in the NJCAA.

PLAYING HIGHLIGHTS

- Prep All-American receiver at Houston's MacArthur High School earned All-Southwest Conference honors at Arkansas in 1984 and 1986, amassing a then-school-record 1,920 receiving yards on 97 receptions, including 10 touchdowns.

PLAYING HIGHLIGHTS

- Two-year starter at Oklahoma State who saw duty at both defensive tackle and tight end.
- Blocked for a pair of Pro Football Hall of Fame running backs in Thurman Thomas and Barry Sanders.
- Was also a teammate of current Oklahoma State head coach, Mike Gundy, who quarterbacked OSU from 1986-89.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

- Veteran offensive line coach enters his second season in Blacksburg.
- Another longtime associate of head coach Justin Fuente, their relationship dates back to 1999 when Vice served as offensive line coach at Murray State and Fuente was the Racers' quarterback. The duo later coached together at Illinois State before reuniting at Memphis.
- Under his direction in 2016, G Augie Conte and T Jon McLaughlin both earned third-team All-ACC honors as the Hokies' blocking unit paved the way for an offense that set or tied 10 single-season Tech records.
- Thanks to the protection of Vice's unit in 2016, QB Jerod Evans also enjoying a prolific campaign, setting single-season records for total offense (4,392), passing yards (3,546) and rushing yards by a QB (846).
- Fuente's "Hard, Smart, Tough" mantra is personified in Vice, who played collegiately as a defensive lineman and tight end at Oklahoma State in the 1980s.
- Credited with helping Fuente establish a winning and competitive culture at Memphis, taking a once moribund program to back-to-back bowl games in 2014-15.
- During his final two campaigns at Memphis, the Tigers compiled a 19-7 record and allowed a conference-low 32.0 sacks, cutting that sack total in half compared to the 64.0 sacks Memphis allowed in the two years prior to his arrival in 2010-11. The Tigers also set a school record, scoring 993 points over that two-season period.
- The Tigers permitted a mere 17.0 sacks in 2015 as only nine teams in the Power Five permitted fewer. Memphis allowed 16.0 sacks in 2014, a total that ranked 15th among FBS squads.
- The rapid development of a blocking unit to protect QB Paxton Lynch allowed the Memphis passer to complete 64.8 percent (555 of 856) of his passes for 6,807 yards with 50 touchdowns and 13 interceptions, good for a 147.9 rating during the 2014-15 seasons. By contrast, Memphis registered only 24 TD passes during the 2010 and 2011 seasons combined.
- The Memphis ground game also prospered thanks to Vice's blocking unit. In 2014-15, the Tigers averaged 185.0 rushing ypg and recorded 60 rushing TDs after averaging a 87.8 rushing ypg and scoring 15 rushing TDs in 2010-11.

- To put the ascent of the Memphis rushing game in additional perspective, Vice and the offensive staff inherited a squad that averaged 84.0 rushing ypg in 2011. The only FBS program that ran for fewer yards per game was Miami (Ohio) at 73.8 ypg.
- During the 2015 campaign, Memphis scored 40.2 ppg to rank 11th among FBS squads, while coming in 18th in passing offense (307.5 ypg) and 19th in total offense (486.9 ypg). The Tigers also ranked eight among FBS squads on third down, converting on 48.8 percent (101 of 207) of their opportunities.
- Prior to rejoining Fuente at Memphis, Vice spent three seasons at Louisiana-Monroe (2009-11) where his offensive front paved the way for 21 rushing scores in 2009 and 22 rushing TDs in 2011. The Warhawks amassed 392.3 ypg of total offense in 2009, the program's highest offensive output since joining the FBS.
- RB Frank Goodin finished the 2009 season with 1,126 rushing yards, good for the fourth-highest seasonal total in school history, while his 13 TDs were the second-best mark in Louisiana-Monroe history as the squad averaged 183.9 rushing ypg.
- The Warhawks were tied for 21st in the FBS by permitting 16.0 sacks in 2009.
- During Vice's four seasons at Utah State, a quartet of his offensive linemen earned All-Western Athletic Conference (WAC) honors including Ryan Tonnemacher who was a two-time Rimington Trophy Watch List nominee at center.
- Enjoyed a five-year stint Illinois State as offensive line coach with additional responsibilities as assistant head coach.
- Three of Vice's linemen earned All-America honors and eight garnered All-Gateway Conference accolades at Illinois State. In 2003, the Redbirds established a school record with 248.1 yards per game rushing and allowed just 5.0 sacks on 367 pass attempts, tying as the fifth-lowest tally among FCS squads.
- Part of the Hokies' "Murray State Mafia," joining Fuente, Bud Foster and Charley Wiles who also spent time with the Racers earlier in their careers.
- Spent three seasons as tight ends coach at Clemson under head coach Tommy West from 1996-98.
- Began his coaching career as a graduate assistant under Ray Goff at Georgia before spending three seasons in the Georgia high school coaching ranks.

PLAYING HIGHLIGHTS

• A four-year letterwinner and three-year starter at running back for New Mexico (1998-2001), he finished his career with 1,833 rushing yards, the 14th-most in school history. He also remains the Lobos' single-season leader in punt returns (46) and punt return yardage (392) – both set in 2000 – and ranks 12th all-time in all-purpose yards with 2,912 yards.

• Named the Los Angeles Class 4A Player of the Year as a senior at San Pedro High School.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

• Enters his second season with the Hokies after spending four seasons in the same capacity at Memphis.

• Well-versed in the offensive philosophy of head coach Justin Fuente and offensive coordinator Brad Cornelsen, Wiggins' relationship with that duo and current Tech offensive line coach Vance Vice dates back to their time together at Illinois State.

• Part of a staff that helped guide Tech's offense to 10 single-season records in 2016, including points (490), passing first downs (172), TD passes (31), total offense (6,223), completion pct. (62.1%), passing yards (3,660) and pass completions (279).

• Helped continue the ascent of WR Isaiah Ford, who broke his own Tech single-season record with 79 receptions in 2016, registering 1,094 yards and seven TDs in the process.

• Also tutored WR Cam Phillips, who earned Belk Bowl MVP honors and concluded his junior campaign by setting personal bests in receptions (76), receiving yards (983) and TDs (five). Those 76 catches were the second-best season mark in school history behind only Ford, who had 79 receptions a year ago.

• An integral component of Fuente's staff that helped lead Memphis to 19 victories and back-to-back bowl appearances in 2014-15. That amazing run featured a 15-game winning streak, the school's first conference championship since 1971 and a double-overtime win over BYU in the Miami Beach Bowl.

• Inherits an All-ACC pass catcher in WR Isaiah Ford, who set single-season Tech records with 75 receptions for 1,164 yards and 11 touchdowns as a sophomore in 2015.

• Drastically improved the production of the wide receivers corps at Memphis. That position accounted for 125 receptions for 1,417 yards and eight touchdowns in 2012 and made incremental gains each subsequent season.

• Memphis wideouts registered 148 receptions, 1,687 yards and four TDs in 2013 and upped that total to 205 receptions for 2,422 yards and 14 TDs in 2014 before hauling in 255 passes for 3,277 yards and 19 TDs in 2015.

• In total, Memphis registered 53 total receiving scores in 2014-15, compared to only 24 TD passes in the two seasons before Wiggins accompanied Fuente to the school.

• Under Wiggins' tutelage, WR Mose Frazier (who began his career at Arkansas-Pine Bluff) enjoyed a breakout senior campaign in 2015, leading the Tigers with 70 catches for 797 yards, while adding four scores.

• The Tigers ranked 18th in passing offense (307.5 ypg) among FBS squads and were 19th in total offense (486.9 ypg) in 2015, while finishing 11th in scoring offense (40.2 ppg). Memphis also ranked eighth in the nation in third-down conversions at 48.8 percent (101 of 207).

• Memphis posted a 10-3 mark in 2014 thanks to a potent offense that ranked 21st among FBS squads by averaging 36.2 ppg.

• Frazier and fellow WR Keiwone Malone formed a dynamic tandem of wideouts for the Tigers in 2014, combining for 92 receptions, 1,061 yards and seven TDs.

• Joined the Memphis program after a one-year stint coaching running backs under head coach Bill Blankenship at Tulsa in 2010.

• His Tulsa running backs combined for 2,006 rushing yards, while H-Back Willie Carter led Tulsa with 868 receiving yards that season, meriting a spot on the All-Conference USA Second Team.

• Enjoyed a five-year tour of duty coaching running backs at Illinois State from 2006-10, helping guide the Redbirds to the FCS quarterfinals in his initial season on the staff.

• Under his tutelage in 2006, RB Pierre Rembert earned All-America accolades and rushed for a school-record 1,743 yards. From 2006-08, Illinois State averaged 187.7 rushing ypg and racked up 76 rushing scores.

• Wiggins began his coaching career at his alma mater of New Mexico after enjoying a standout playing career for the Lobos.

COACHING HIGHLIGHTS

- Enters his 22nd season coaching Virginia Tech's defensive line, making him the second-longest tenured member of the Virginia Tech staff behind only associate head coach/defensive coordinator Bud Foster who joined the Hokies in 1987.
- The productivity and consistency of Virginia Tech's defensive front have been hallmarks of Tech's vaunted "Lunch Pail Defense" over the years, thanks in large part to Wiles.
- Dating back to 1996 when Wiles began his tenure coaching Tech's defensive line, the Hokies have registered 781.0 sacks, the highest total of any team in the nation over that span.
- The Hokies also own best mark of any Power Five squad on third down since 1996, limiting opponents to a 31.4-percent conversion rate. Only Michigan (21.0) ranked better in that department than Virginia Tech (27.5) in 2016.
- The ability of Wiles' linemen to put pressure on the passer also helps explain why Virginia Tech has forced an FBS-best 360 interceptions during his tenure in Blacksburg. In 2016, Tech ranked fifth among Power Five squads, limiting opponents to a completion percentage of a mere 50.1 percent.
- With Wiles helping Foster devise schemes to stop the run, Tech has permitted an average of 116.6 rushing ypg dating back to 1996 to rank sixth nationally.
- Since he joined Tech as defensive line coach, only Alabama (16.4 ppg) and Ohio State (16.5 ppg) own stingier scoring defenses over the past 20 seasons than Virginia Tech (17.7).
- Led by All-ACC DT Woody Baron (18.5 TFLs), the Hokies ranked fourth among Power Five defenses with 113.0 tackles for loss in 2016.
- Baron (Dallas), DE Ken Ekanem (Denver) and DT Nigel Williams (Buffalo) all signed as NFL free agents in 2017.
- Has coached five All-America selections – Cornell Brown (1995 & 1996), Corey Moore (1998 & 1999), John Engelberger (1999), Darryl Tapp (2005) and David Pugh (2001).
- The most highly-decorated member of that group was Moore, who became the first-ever Tech defender to earn unanimous All-America honors in 1999.
- Moore also earned the 1999 Bronco Nagurski Award as the college football's defensive player of the year while also taking home the Lombardi Award as the national lineman of the year as the Hokies tied for the national lead with 58.0 sacks and advanced to the national championship game.
- Under his tutelage, 26 different Virginia Tech defensive linemen have earned all-conference honors. In 2015, Luther Maddy (second team), Dadi Nicolas (third team) and Corey Marshall (honorable mention) continued Wiles' trend of producing All-ACC performers as Tech extended its string of consecutive bowl berths to 23 straight years.
- In 2014, his linemen helped contribute 26.0 sacks as the Hokies ranked second among Power Five squads with 48.0 sacks.

- Behind second-team All-ACC pick, Derrick Hopkins, Tech ranked 10th nationally in rushing defense (110.9 ypg) and tied for eighth with 39.0 sacks in 2013 as all four starting linemen were represented on an All-ACC squad.
- His front was part of a 2011 defense that ranked seventh in the country in scoring defense (17.6 ppg) and 10th in total defense (304.6 ypg).
- Tech claimed the ACC title in 2010 as the Hokies led the nation with a +19 turnover differential (32 takes/13 gives) and ranked second among FBS squads with 23 INTs.
- In 2006, Virginia Tech led the nation in scoring defense (11.0 ppg), total defense (219.5 ypg) and pass defense (128.2 ypg).
- Wiles' 2005 defensive line was led by first-team All-America Darryl Tapp who helped Tech lead the nation in total defense (247.6 ypg) and rank second in the nation in scoring defense (12.9 ppg).
- Tech won the ACC title during its debut season in 2004 when its defense ranked second nationally in scoring defense (12.8 ppg) and came in fourth in both total defense (268.0 ypg) and pass defense (152.8 ypg).
- The Sporting News ranked Tech's 2001 defensive line coached by Wiles as the fourth-best in the nation.
- In 1999, Corey Moore was chosen the BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year for a second consecutive year as The Sporting News rated Tech's defensive front the best in the college football as the Hokies rattled off an undefeated regular season behind the nation's stingiest scoring defense (10.5 ppg).
- Under Wiles' guidance, one-time walk-on John Engelberger earned All-BIG EAST honors in both 1997 and 1998 before earning second team All-America honors from the AP in 1999.
- Wiles embarked on his two-decade career coaching the defensive line at Tech in 1996 when his star pupil was All-America defensive end Cornell Brown.
- As co-defensive coordinator at Murray State in 1995, he helped lead the Racers to an 11-0 regular-season mark and a berth in the Division I-AA playoffs.
- Originally began his coaching career as a graduate assistant for the Hokies in 1987, Frank Beamer's first season as Tech's head coach.

DANIELLE BARTELSTEIN

SENIOR DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

Danielle Bartelstein is in her second season as the senior director of football operations for football head coach Justin Fuente. She oversees the daily administrative and operational duties within Virginia Tech's football program, the handling of team travel, and other assorted responsibilities to ensure that the program functions smoothly and efficiently.

"She possesses all of the attributes that I wanted in this role," Fuente said. "She's extremely organized, works hard, is passionate about helping us win and understands the high standards we'll have for our program. Most importantly, she always has the best interests of our student-athletes and their families at heart."

Bartelstein is the only female in such a role among Power 5 schools and one of just four among all Football Bowl Subdivision schools. The Chicago, Illinois native came to Tech after working for a year as a senior advisor for Hance Scarborough, LLP, a prestigious law firm in Austin, Texas, where she assisted in the overall management for the former U.S. Congressman and Chancellor Emeritus at Texas Tech University. However, she possesses a lot of experience in working with football programs, having served in various operational capacities at Texas Tech, TCU, and Stanford.

Prior to working for Hance Scarborough, Bartelstein served as the director of football relations at Texas Tech from 2013-15. She was responsible for the day-to-day recruiting operations. This included coordinating all official and unofficial visits, developing seasonal recruiting campaigns, and evaluating and organizing all off-campus recruiting activities. She also assisted in the logistics of team travel and the operation of summer camps.

Before heading to Texas Tech, Bartelstein worked at TCU as the assistant director of football operations (2010-12) under head coach Gary Patterson. While at TCU, she worked with Fuente, who served as the quarterbacks coach and co-offensive coordinator at the time. She helped coordinate team travel, organized and maintained the recruiting database, and served as the contact for high schools and junior colleges. She was also the liaison to pro scouts.

Her first stop in college football occurred at Stanford, where she worked as a volunteer for then-head coach Jim Harbaugh. She helped with summer camps and game-day logistics.

Bartelstein's interest in sports came at a young age, as she learned about the game of football from her grandfather, Steve Reid, who was an All-America lineman at Northwestern during the 1930s and was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1985. When she went to Illinois, where she received her undergraduate degree, she volunteered to help with the football program – her first step toward a career in the sport.

She graduated in 2006 and moved to California to start teaching. She missed football, and with her summers free, she approached the Stanford football program in hopes of finding an opportunity. Her work there and the relationships that she cultivated ultimately have led her to Virginia Tech.

PLAYER PERSONNEL

CHUCK CANTOR DIRECTOR, PLAYER PERSONNEL

Chuck Cantor is in his fourth year as the director for player personnel for Virginia Tech football program, as he oversees all aspects of the football recruiting process – from official and unofficial visits to academic eligibility of prospects to social media and camps.

Cantor came to Virginia Tech following a year at Temple University as the coordinator of external operations/on-campus recruiting coordinator.

Cantor worked at LIU-C.W. Post as the receivers coach in 2013, and prior to that, he worked as an offensive graduate assistant at Middle Tennessee State in 2012. From 2008-11, he worked at Georgia with head coach Mark Richt as an assistant athletic recruiting coordinator, where he was an integral part of the recruiting efforts that landed Georgia's "Dream Team" recruiting class of 2011 considered by many to be the top recruiting class in the country.

In 2007, Cantor served as a recruiting assistant at Rutgers under then-head coach Greg Schiano for a year. Prior to that, he worked at his alma mater – Florida State – as a graduate assistant. Cantor, a native of New Hyde Park, N.Y., graduated from Florida State in 2006 with a degree in social science education and sport management and earned his master's from Florida State in 2011 (sport management).

ADAM LECHTENBERG DIRECTOR, PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

Adam Lechtenberg joined the Virginia Tech staff as director of player development in March 2017. In that role, the Butte, Nebraska native will work closely with head coach Justin Fuente, senior director of football operations Danielle Bartelstein and the entire Hokies' football staff.

During his tenure working with Fuente at Memphis from 2012-15, Lechtenberg served as director of player personnel, and he managed many aspects of the evaluation and recruiting process. In addition, he acted as a liaison between the football program and academics, admissions and housing, while overseeing the Tigers' walk-on program that made a substantial impact on the on-field turnaround at Memphis under Fuente. In total, 11 of his walk-ons eventually earned scholarships at Memphis, while 23 made major contributions.

Lechtenberg spent the 2016 season as passing game coordinator/wide receivers coach at the University of Tennessee at Martin. In addition to his on-field coaching duties, his recruiting territory included Alabama, Tennessee and junior colleges.

A former football student-athlete at the University of Nebraska, he began his coaching career as an offensive graduate assistant working with Fuente from 2007-09. He spent the 2010-11 seasons as co-offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at Central Connecticut State.

He and his wife Kristy have a daughter Madison.

THOMAS GUERRY DIRECTOR, RECRUITING OPERATIONS

Thomas Guerry enters his fourth year with the Hokies, enhancing Virginia Tech's recruiting efforts. Among many other responsibilities, he has taken the lead on improving the Hokies' digital media and graphic design presence within recruiting (@HokiesFB). Guerry also plans official and unofficial visits, assists with Justin Fuente Football Camps throughout the summer and monitors day-to-day operations within the recruiting department.

Guerry came to Virginia Tech from Georgia, where he worked in football operations for the University of Georgia Athletic Association starting in 2010. He also assisted with recruiting visits, character education and helped start the UGA Football Mentor Program.

In 2011, Guerry was promoted to football recruiting assistant and served in that position for three years. He quickly made a name for himself within the recruiting industry by piecing together four straight top 10 recruiting classes. In that role, Guerry oversaw all official and unofficial visits, junior days, Mark Richt 7-on-7 Camps and academic eligibility for prospects.

The Canton, Mississippi native graduated from Mississippi State in 2008 with a degree in business administration and earned his master's from Mississippi State in 2010 (M.B.A. with a minor in sport administration).

Guerry and his wife Amanda reside in Blacksburg.

MATT TRANSUE ASSISTANT DIRECTOR, PLAYER PERSONNEL & RECRUITING

Matt Transue is in his second year on the Virginia Tech football staff, serving as the assistant director of player personnel and recruiting. Transue is responsible for assisting in the day-to-day operations of the Hokies' recruiting department. This includes managing databases, overseeing student workers and volunteers, taking care of administrative duties, assisting with content for the program's social media channels, and other general duties as assigned.

He also serves as the team's pro liaison to the NFL. Transue worked with Fuente and many members of his staff as a recruiting volunteer at the University of Memphis during the 2015 season.

While in Memphis, he also worked as an account executive in the ticket office of the Memphis Redbirds, the Triple-A affiliate of the St. Louis Cardinals. The Brentwood, Calif., native, is a graduate of the University of Tennessee, with an undergraduate degree and a master's degree in recreation and sport management. While at Tennessee, he served as a student assistant, and later a graduate assistant, in the football recruiting/operations area from 2011-15.

JOHN IEZZI ASSISTANT DIRECTOR, PLAYER PERSONNEL

John Iezzi (pronounced YET-zee) enters his first season working on a full-time basis in player personnel for the Hokies. He has served as a graduate assistant since June 2015 after working as a student recruiting assistant during his senior year at Tech.

He is responsible for Tech's prospect database, hosting and planning official/unofficial visits, producing recruiting materials and assisting with social media efforts.

During his time as an undergraduate, he worked as a baseball agent for Caradonna Sports and Entertainment for three years, a grassroots firm that he founded with two other individuals to assist in the representation of 11 minor league baseball players.

The Richmond, Virginia native is a graduate of Deep Run High School and earned a degree for Tech in finance in 2015.

JOSH BOST

DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL VIDEO AND TECHNOLOGY

Josh Bost enters his second season as the director of football video and technology. In his position, he manages all facets of the football video department. That includes the Hokies' new virtual reality technology, a nearly $100,000 investment that serves as a teaching tool for Tech's players.

Bost's list of duties also includes budgeting, ordering, researching, and maintaining the Hokies' XOS Technology, a system utilized by many NFL teams and one that gives the coaching staff a wealth of information in a matter of seconds. In addition, Bost and his staff coordinate, record, and edit all video from practices, games, opponent's games and recruiting for each coach to review and breakdown. Bost came to Virginia Tech from Memphis, where he had worked on Justin Fuente's staff as the video coordinator since August 2013.

Prior to working at Memphis, Bost worked at North Texas for nine years as the director of video operations. He graduated from Middle Tennessee State in 2003 and worked in that office as both a student and graduate assistant before moving to North Texas.

Bost and wife Holly have two children – a son, Micah, and a daughter, Lizzie.

ERIK LEWIS

DIRECTOR OF EQUIPMENT SERVICES

Erik Lewis is in his fourth year working in the Virginia Tech equipment room and serves as the director of equipment services. In addition to outfitting the Hokies, he plays a key role facilitating and maintaining the department's relationship with Nike.

Prior to joining the Virginia Tech staff in 2014, Lewis spent 10 years in the equipment room at East Carolina. Before landing at ECU, Lewis was a student at Marshall and worked as a student manager in the equipment room all four years.

Lewis graduated from Marshall in 2002 with a degree in sports management and marketing. He earned Athletic Equipment Managers Association certification in June of 2003 and was named the organization's District III Equipment Manager of the Year in 2013. His department was also recognized in 2008 as Conference USA's Equipment Staff of the Year.

The Hurricane, West Virginia native is married to the former Shannon St. George, and they are the parents of two daughters, Gwen and Merryn.

SAM NICHOLS

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR, EQUIPMENT SERVICES

Sam Nichols enters his third season working with the Virginia Tech football program in 2017.

The Norwood, North Carolina native spent four and a half years in the equipment room at Florida Atlantic University before coming to Tech in 2015. He worked for two years as an assistant director and then spent the final two and a half years as the director of equipment operations. He oversaw all equipment and apparel acquisition for FAU's 21 sport programs, and he played a key role facilitating and maintaining the department's relationship with Adidas.

Prior to FAU, Nichols was a graduate assistant equipment manager at Illinois State University for one year. He graduated from North Carolina State with a degree in sport management in 2010 and earned a master's in sport management from Texas A&M in 2015. He has been certified by the Athletic Equipment Managers Association since June 2010. He resides in Blacksburg.

SPORTS MEDICINE

The Sports Medicine Department at Virginia Tech continues to evolve, incorporating new ideas by utilizing state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of all Hokie student-athletes. Under the leadership of Associate Athletics Director for Sports Medicine Mike Goforth, the department is constantly improving and developing new strategies to provide the most current and comprehensive care.

Dr. Mark Rogers serves as Tech's Chief Medical Officer in accordance with NCAA requirements. According to legislation passed at the 2016 NCAA Convention, each member institution must designate a health care administrator to oversee the school's health care administration and delivery.

The team of certified athletic trainers, orthopaedic surgeons, Board Certified primary care physicians, chiropractors, physical therapists, acupuncturists, brace consultants, sport psychologists, nutritionists and massage therapists are available on site to manage the health care needs of Virginia Tech's student-athletes.

Following the 10th full year in the 4,300-square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room, the space was expanded in 2013 to create a facility that unites the training and medical staffs in a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes.

Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing it in the top five percent nationally. The addition of the rehabilitation area makes Tech the first school to install the new Pavi Gym Customized flooring and X-Lab Fitness Rack, while also adding numerous pieces of equipment to address strength, flexibility, proprioception, and cardiovascular endurance. This space is directly joined with the new training area that is home to dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, and a Biodex System 3.

A vital part of student-athlete medical services is access to Carilion Clinic and it's vast array of specialty services offered through the nationally recognized hospital system and it's affiliates.

"We are privileged to have access to the finest physicians and services that Carilion Clinic has at its disposal," Goforth said. "It is comforting knowing that our local hospital has the best care available in this region of the country for our student-athletes."

"As certified athletic trainers, for us to have the resources we have is a tremendous asset," Goforth said. "The knowledge and skills that they bring are invaluable."

Over the past 18 years, Tech has developed the reputation for producing top-level certified athletic trainers. Graduates are now employed in positions across the country at various levels of the profession.

MIKE GOFORTH

ASSOCIATE ATHLETICS DIRECTOR FOR SPORTS MEDICINE

Responsibilities: As associate athletics director for sports medicine, Goforth oversees the healthcare needs of all student-athletes and organizes all trainers and doctors while supervising all other healthcare-related services that Tech offers.

Joined VT Staff: 1998; 19th year.

Prior to Virginia Tech: Goforth came to Tech from the Hamilton Medical Center/Bradley Wellness Center in Dalton, Georgia, where he was the director of wellness and sports medicine. He has an extensive background in sports medicine, working at East Tennessee State University, William Fleming High School, Tusculum College, Greene County Sports Medicine/Industrial Cooperative, and Pioneer Sports Medicine/Physical Therapy Clinic. He also has consulted on program development throughout the country.

Education: East Tennessee State University, 1991, B.A. in physical education; Virginia Tech, 1995, master's in sport management.

Family: Goforth and wife Tracy, a teacher at Blacksburg Middle School, have two sons, Ethan and Luke.

HEAD IMPACT RESEARCH

VIRGINIA TECH LEADING THE WAY IN HEAD IMPACT RESEARCH

In 2003, Virginia Tech was the first school to use the HIT System to monitor head impacts experienced by its football players. The HIT System consists of a sensor array that integrates into existing football helmets. This device measures head acceleration for every impact that players experience during each game and practice in which they participate. After each impact is recorded, data is sent to a computer on the sideline for real-time feedback.

While researchers have used the HIT System to better understand the biomechanics of concussion and head impact exposure in football, the athletics training and medical staff have used the system as another tool improve concussion identification in athletes. Virginia Tech is participating in a new, landmark $30 million national effort sponsored by the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the U.S. Department of Defense to combat concussions among college athletes and active service military personnel.

The initiative funds the most comprehensive study of concussion and head impact exposure ever conducted. It will enroll an estimated 25,000 male and female NCAA student-athletes during a three-year study period. Virginia Tech is focusing on athletes participating in various sports, including football, women's soccer, men's soccer, and women's lacrosse.

The 2016 football season will be the 14th year that Virginia Tech has collected head impact data from its players. To date, more than 200,000 head impacts have been collected and analyzed. The head acceleration data collected at Virginia Tech using the HIT System has allowed researchers to quantify the head impact exposure that collegiate football players experience.

In addition, these data have produced valuable insight to the head accelerations associated with concussion. Beginning in 2013, the sports medicine staff started a new study looking at different biomarker levels found in the blood of its athletes. These levels are measured before and after the season, as well as in the unlikely event of a concussion being diagnosed. Researchers are looking for correlations between the force that each of these athletes sustain over the course of a season (through using the HIT System) and the changes they find in the levels of these specific biomarkers.

Knowing the location, severity, and frequency of head impacts experienced during a season of collegiate football, Virginia Tech researchers developed the STAR, an acronym for the Summation of Tests for the Analysis of Risk, Evaluation System. This system evaluates the ability of football helmets to reduce the probability of concussion, and disseminates the results to the public so that consumers can make informed decisions when purchasing helmets.

The STAR Evaluation System involves a series of 20 drop tests consisting of different impact locations and energies that represents impacts experienced by collegiate football players. Each drop test is weighted based on how often a player experiences that impact scenario throughout a season of play. For each test, risk of concussion is determined based on the head acceleration produced by each helmet.

An overall predicted incidence of concussion is calculated for each helmet for the given impact exposure to assess helmet performance. This is the first tool to assess helmet performance and make the results available to the public, allowing consumers to make informed decisions when purchasing a new helmet.

Led by Dr. Stefan Duma, this work has resulted in a paradigm shift in the way consumers purchase helmets, as well as how helmets are designed. Duma's work and data has been featured nationally on ESPN and NBC, as well as in the New York Times and other nationally recognized media outlets.

As part of his research, biomedical engineering professor Stefan Duma tests football helmets to reduce the risk of concussions to players.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

BEN HILGART

ASSOCIATE ATHLETICS DIRECTOR FOR STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

Ben Hilgart enters his second season as associate AD for strength and conditioning at Virginia Tech. He works directly with head coach Justin Fuente and the football program after joining the Hokies in January 2016.

Named a Master Strength and Conditioning Coach by the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association – the highest given in the profession – Hilgart owns an impressive resume. He has trained numerous players who have gone on to play in the NFL during his previous stints at New Mexico, Arizona State, Ohio State and UTEP. In his seven years at Arizona State, 10 players earned first-team all-conference recognition, including tight end Zach Miller, who would go on to earn All-America honors in 2006.

Hilgart oversees the Hokies' entire football strength and conditioning program, which includes all phases of strength, conditioning, rehabilitation, and injury prevention.

Before coming to Tech, Hilgart spent four seasons at New Mexico, including the past two as the director of athletic performance. He was in charge of the entire athletics performance initiative for the Lobos and he was also responsible for a redesign of the Athletic Performance Center, revamping the area into one of the top performance centers in the West.

Prior to working at New Mexico, Hilgart spent seven years at Arizona State, which included the final four seasons as the head sports performance coach. He worked directly with the Sun Devils' football program in addition to overseeing the sports performance programs for all 20 of Arizona State's sports.

Before arriving at Arizona State, Hilgart spent two seasons at Ohio State. He started as the assistant strength and conditioning coach before being promoted to associate strength and conditioning coach. He also spent two years at UTEP as the graduate assistant strength and conditioning coach. He served as the head strength coach and assistant defensive line coach at his alma mater, Western Illinois, in 2001.

Hilgart was a two-year letterman at Western Illinois, earning his bachelor's degree in physical education in 2001, and he earned his master's degree in kinesiology from UTEP in 2003. Hilgart also once served as the head strength coach at Deer Valley High School in Glendale, Arizona.

Hilgart and wife Jamie have two daughters, Riley and Reagan.

ANTHONY CROSBY

Anthony Crosby is in his second season as a member of the Virginia

Tech strength and conditioning staff. Crosby came to Blacksburg from Ole Miss, where he spent four seasons as the assistant strength and conditioning coach for football and served in a similar role to his current one.

Prior to working at Ole Miss, the Lafayette, Louisiana native spent two seasons working with the football program at Boston College, where he assisted with program design, freshman and transfer orientation, and the designing of injured player rehabilitation workouts.

Before achieving a full-time position, Crosby worked internships at Arizona State and LSU, where he helped with the football programs along with Olympic sports such as baseball, volleyball, softball, track and field and wrestling.

Crosby played football at Louisiana Tech and graduated with a degree in kinesiology in 2008. He and his wife Colby have a son, Brody.

JARRETT FERGUSON

Former football player Jarrett Ferguson is entering his 11th season with the Virginia Tech athletics department – all with strength and conditioning – and currently serves as the senior director of strength and conditioning for football. He helps design and implement the strength and conditioning programs for the squad.

In May 2017 he was named a Master Strength and Conditioning Coach by the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association, his profession's highest honor.

The Goodview, Virginia native came to Tech from the University of North Carolina, where he served as an assistant strength and conditioning coach for the 2005 season. Prior to his stint with the Tar Heels, he worked as an assistant strength and conditioning coach in the strength and conditioning department at Ohio University under former Tech assistant Sonny Sano. In 2003-04, Ferguson worked as an intern at Tech.

Ferguson graduated from Tech in 2002 with a degree in physical education and he got a master's degree in health promotions from Tech a year later. A seventh-round pick of Buffalo in the 2002 NFL Draft, he and wife Kimberly live in Christiansburg with their children Jaelynn, Addison, Chloe, Jarrett, Jr. and Lorelai.

RYAN SHUMAN

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR, FOOTBALL

Ryan Shuman enters his fifth season as a member of the Virginia

Tech strength and conditioning staff, working under the direction of Ben Hilgart, associate AD for strength and conditioning.

He graduated from Virginia Tech in 2008 after serving as a three-year starter for the Hokies. He started at left guard as a redshirt freshman before being moved to center for his final two seasons.

A former graduate assistant in the strength and conditioning department, he received his master's degree in curriculum and instruction in 2012 and moved into a full-time role with the strength and conditioning department shortly thereafter.

The Fork Union, Virginia native attended Fork Union High School. His father serves as the head football coach of the Fork Union postgraduate team. Shuman and his wife Meredith live in Salem.

ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

The Virginia Tech Athletics Department contracts with the Thomas E. Cook Counseling Center to provide psychological services for its student-athletes through the Sport Psychology Office. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes.

The mission of the sport psychology office is to promote student-athlete learning and development. Consistent with the university's mission to "educate the whole person," the sport psychology Program promotes the academic, intellectual, social, emotional, athletic, and personal development of student-athletes.

On average, Bennett conducts more than 50 individual sessions per week and meets weekly with teams as the need arises. The response to the sport psychology program has been positive. The student-athletes are very receptive to the services offered by the doctors. The sport psychology office reaches out to student-athletes who may not have considered going to the counseling service that is offered to all students at Virginia Tech.

DR. GARY BENNETT SPORT PSYCHOLOGIST

Responsibilities: Bennett meets with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team building, communication, and performance enhancement. Bennett has taught and supervised pre-doctoral level interns.

Joined VT Staff: 2000 (full time since 2007); 18th year.

At Virginia Tech: Bennett began working at Virginia Tech in 1995 at the Cook Counseling Center. Now, as the sport psychologist, he also serves on the committees for nutrition, performance, and substance abuse; and the planning committee for the "Summit for Student-Athlete Success" events. He also works with various teams in the area of performance enhancement.

Education: Centre (Ky.) College, 1981, B.A. in English, where he played baseball; University of Kentucky, 1988, master's in rehabilitation counseling; University of Kentucky, 1995, Ph.D in counseling psychology.

Of Note: Bennett is licensed as a clinical psychologist and has additional training in sport psychology. He is certified as a sport psychology consultant by the Association of Applied Sport Psychology and is a member of Division 47 (exercise and sport psychology) of the American Psychology Association.

Personal: Bennett lives in Blacksburg and enjoys playing golf and basketball, as well as hiking and skiing, in his spare time.

JENNIE ZABINSKY, MAEd, RD SPORT NUTRITIONIST

Responsibilities: Zabinsky is responsible for all nutrition and performance related concerns for varsity student-athletes, including individual counseling, team talks, body composition analysis using the Bod Pod, recovery nutrition plans, grocery store tours, training table menu planning, travel meal arrangements, managing the Nutrition Oasis and Fueling Stations, and supplement education.

Joined VT Staff: 2011; seventh year

At Virginia Tech: Zabinsky worked as the sports nutrition graduate assistant under former director Amy Freel before being hired as director. She directs the nutrition and performance committee.

Education: Roanoke College, 2005 (B.A. in sociology), while competing in basketball for four years; Virginia Tech, 2009 (B.S. in human nutrition, foods and exercise: dietetics option); Virginia Tech, 2010 (dietetic internship); Virginia Tech, 2013 (master of arts in education).

Of Note: Zabinsky is in her sixth year as director. She is a member of the Collegiate and Professional Sports Dietitians Association (CPSDA) and Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.

Personal: The Centreville, Virginia native, and husband Samuel live in Christiansburg. The couple have twin boys, Kyle Eli and Kaleb James.

SAASS

STUDENT-ATHLETE ACADEMIC SUPPORT SERVICES

Student-Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS) is committed to providing a comprehensive academic and personal development program with counseling and advising for student-athletes, offering academic counseling to ensure students receive a complete system of support consistent with university and NCAA policies.

Student-athletes have access to the department's spacious facilities, located in the West Side of Lane Stadium. Opened during the 2006-07 academic year, the SAASS suite, located in the Quillen Family Academic Center, features 17 private tutor rooms, a state-of-the-art classroom, a 36-station computer lab with printer access, a conference room, three quiet areas for reading and studying and a reference library. To accommodate the busy schedules of all of Tech's student-athletes, the SAASS office is open and available for students to access from 8 a.m., until 10 p.m., weekdays and from 6 p.m., to 10 p.m., on weekends. The SAASS office offers a tutor program available to Tech's student-athletes in both individual and group settings. Tutor services are available six days a week and the staff assures options for nearly every subject a student-athlete could request assistance in. The collection of SAASS programs housed in Lane Stadium guarantees that all student-athletes achieve success during their time at Virginia Tech.

Tech's football student-athletes have always seen great success in the classroom much in part to the help of the SAASS office. Since 2012, 100 percent of Hokie seniors have earned their degree, and the football team has earned some of its highest scores ever in the Academic Progress Rate (APR) in recent reports. Academic All-America honorees in past years have included the likes of Danny Coale and Chris Drager. Among FBS schools, Tech is annually among the best in the number of players on the current roster who have already earned their undergraduate degrees.

The pride of Danville, Virginia - Terrell, Tremaine and Trey Edmunds*THE EDMUNDS FAMILY

On Sept. 7, 2015, Terrell, Tremaine and Trey Edmunds became just the third trio of brothers to take the field together at the same time in the same game for a major college football program dating back to 1970. The Edmunds accomplished the feat on kickoff coverage. They joined Oklahoma's famed Selmon Brothers (Lee Roy, Lucious and Dewey) who all played defense for the Sooners (1972-73). Central Florida's McCray Brothers - Cliff, Jordan and Justin - all played on the offensive line together in 2010.

It should come as no surprise that the sons of Ferrell and Felicia (aka Cookie) Edmunds all found their football homes in Blacksburg and have enjoyed success on the gridiron. A two-time Pro Bowl tight end, Ferrell was a third-round pick of Miami in 1988, earning Pro Bowl berths following the 1989 and 1990 seasons. After five seasons playing with Dan Marino and the Dolphins, he concluded his career in Seattle (1993-94). Meanwhile, Felecia was a star athlete in her own right, running track at Southern Illinois.

MIHOTA, NIJMAN PARTICIPATE IN STUDY ABROAD CLASS TO AFRICA

Both Vinny Mihota and Yosuah Nijman were members of the Virginia Tech contingent of 12 students and four faculty members who traveled to Rwanda for roughly 14 days in May. The official designation of the course was UAP 3984: Sport Policy and Society. What Mihota, Nijman and the Hokies experienced was an immersive study abroad course that explored different sectors of international development and how sports can support such development. The course offered authentic and real-world engagement with multiple organizations, providing students the opportunity for personal reflection and transformative learning. This course has traveled to the Dominican Republic and Switzerland over the last five years.

While immersed in the Rwandan culture, the students learned in a classroom setting and also visited multiple organizations and destinations, including: the Rwanda National Olympic Committee, Grassroots Soccer, the Ministry of Culture and Sport, Kigali International Community School (KICS), the Kigali Genocide Memorial, Akagera National Park and Rwanda Youth Clubs for Peace.

GIVING BACK AT BELK BOWL & MORE

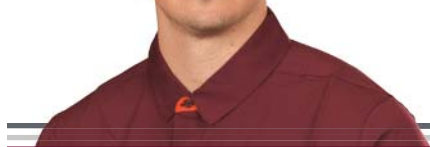

The Hokies embrace Virginia Tech's spirit of Ut Prosim on a year-round basis. During the 2016-17 academic year, members of the football team participated in 240 hours of community service activities. In November, the team packed small toys, school supplies and toiletries into shoeboxes as part of Operation Christmas Child. Samaritan's Purse, a faith-based relief organization, sponsors the initiative and ships the shoeboxes to underprivileged children all over the world.

Throughout the year, the Hokies are frequent visitors to local elementary schools and can frequently be found supporting local law enforcement efforts and hosting a variety of special guests at practice and home events.

During the team's stay in Charlotte for the Belk Bowl, members of the squad traveled to the Second Harvest Food Bank to help unpack supplies for those in need. In addition, a group of 23 players, head coach Justin Fuente and defensive coordinator Bud Foster visited the Levine Children's Hospital. The group handed out miniature footballs, signed autographs, posed for photographs and sang karaoke to the lyrics of the likes of Taylor Swift and Justin Bieber, but it was a rousing version of "Let It Go" from the Frozen soundtrack that truly made the visit a party.

2016 GAME-BY-GAME

VIRGINIA TECH 36

LANE STADIUM • BLACKSBURG, VA. • SEPTEMBER 3, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 62,234

Virginia Tech quarterback Jerod Evans threw for 221 yards and four touchdowns to lead the Hokies to a 36-13 season-opening victory over Liberty on Saturday, handing head coach Justin Fuente his first victory.

Fuente, who spent the previous four seasons at Memphis, took over in January for Frank Beamer, who retired after 29 years as Tech's head coach.

Evans, a junior-college transfer from Texas who enrolled this past January, completed 20 of 32 passes. The Hokies trailed 13-10 in the second quarter before Evans threw touchdown passes to Isaiah Ford and Bucky Hodges on the Hokies' last two possessions of the first half.

Ford caught 11 passes for 117 yards and Hodges caught two touchdown passes. Joey Slye hit two field goals of 34 yards.

Liberty amassed just 160 yards of offense, scoring all of its points off of Tech turnovers. The Hokies lost four fumbles – their only blemishes on the day.

GAME NOTES

- Fuente became the first Tech coach to win his debut since Jerry Claiborne opened his tenure with a victory over William & Mary in 1961.
- Ford's 117 yards receiving marked the fourth straight game in which he has recorded more than 100 yards receiving – a school record.
- Ford has caught at least two passes in 27 straight games, tying a school record for consecutive games with at least one reception (Ernest Wilford, 2002-03).
- Ford's touchdown reception marked the 18th of his career, tying him for second place on Tech's career touchdown receptions list with Jarrett Boykin (2008-11), Ricky Scales (1972-74) and André Davis (1998-2001).
- Greg Stroman's two interceptions gave him four for his career

VIRGINIA TECH 24
17 TENNESSEE 45

BRISTOL MOTOR SPEEDWAY • BRISTOL, TENN. • SEPTEMBER 10, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 156,990

Virginia Tech got off to a great start in its game against the No. 17 Tennessee Volunteers, but turnovers and penalties turned out to be its undoing, as the Hokies fell to the Volunteers 45-24 on Saturday night at Bristol Motor Speedway.

The long-anticipated event drew a crowd of 156,990 fans and broke college football's single-game attendance record, surpassing the 115,109 fans who witnessed Michigan and Notre Dame at Michigan Stadium in 2013.

Tennessee quarterback Josh Dobbs threw three touchdown passes and rushed for two more, as the Volunteers rallied from a 14-0 deficit to knock off the Hokies in the first regular-season meeting between the two teams since 1937.

Virginia Tech (1-1) jumped out to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter on a 7-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Jerod Evans to Sam Rogers and a 69-yard touchdown run by tailback Travon McMillian. But an Evans fumble led to a 5-yard touchdown pass from Dobbs to Jauan Jennings early in the second quarter and that started a Volunteers' string of 31 unanswered points.

Dobbs completed 10 of 19 for 91 yards, with three touchdowns and an interception. He also ran for 106 yards.

McMillian paced the Hokies with 127 yards rushing and the score. Evans completed 20 of 28 for 208 yards and a touchdown.

GAME NOTES

- Virginia Tech out-gained Tennessee (400-330), ran more plays (73-65) and had the time of possession advantage (31:44-28:16).
- Tech turned the ball over five times in the game and Tennessee scored 21 points off those turnovers. All five were fumbles.
- The momentum of the game changed when a poor snap from center Kyle Chung threw off the timing of a handoff between Evans and C.J. Carroll early in the second quarter. Tennessee recovered at the Tech 5 and scored on the next play.
- The Hokies cut the Tennessee lead to 31-17 on a field goal by Joey Slye late in the third quarter, but three of their next four possessions ended in fumbles.

GAME THREE

BOSTON COLLEGE 0
VIRGINIA TECH 49

LANE STADIUM • BLACKSBURG, VA. • SEPTEMBER 17, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 60,054

Virginia Tech quarterback Jerod Evans tied a school record with five touchdowns passes and the Hokies' defense recorded the team's first shutout since 2012, as the Hokies blanked Boston College 49-0 on Saturday in Tech's ACC opener.

Tech moved to 2-1 overall on the season and 1-0 in the ACC. The win marked the second consecutive for the Hokies over BC (1-2, 0-2 ACC) and the seventh in the past nine meetings. The shutout marked the first by Tech since it beat Bowling Green 37-0 in 2012. It marked the Hokies' first shutout of an ACC foe since 2011 when they won 38-0 at Virginia. The shutout marked Tech's first ACC shutout at home since it won 17-0 over UVA in 2006.

Virginia Tech's defense put forth a dominating effort, holding the Eagles to 124 yards. The Hokies forced a three-and-out on 10 BC possessions. Evans' five scoring tosses tied the mark held by former quarterback Bryan Randall, who threw five touchdown passes in Tech's 50-42 triple overtime loss at Syracuse in 2002. Offensively, the Hokies amassed 476 yards, including 223 on the ground. Marshawn Williams, playing in his first game since tearing his ACL in 2014, led the way with 81 yards.

Evans threw a 15-yard scoring pass to Travon McMillian on the Hokies' second possession to open the scoring and then added touchdown passes of 8 and 30 yards to Isaiah Ford. The latter came with 1:42 left in the first half and gave the Hokies a 21-0 lead, which they took into the locker room.

GAME NOTES

- Greg Stroman's 29-yard punt return set up Ford's 30-yard touchdown reception. It marked Stroman's longest punt return of the season and the seventh of his career of 20 yards or more.
- Bucky Hodges hauled in two 17-yard receptions on the same possession in the second quarter and that led to the 8-yard touchdown pass to Ford.
- Evans' 36-yard pass to Cam Phillips on the Hokies' first possession of the second half led to the 7-yard touchdown pass from Evans to Cunningham.
- Leading 28-0 and facing a fourth-and-1 from the BC 20, Tech went for it and Evans gained 12 yards on a keeper leading to his TD pass to Sam Rogers for a 35-0 lead.
- Evans' 47-yard pass to Ford on Tech's final possession of the third quarter led to McMillian's 7-yard touchdown run and gave the Hokies a 42-0 lead.

GAME FOUR

EAST CAROLINA 17
VIRGINIA TECH 54

LANE STADIUM • BLACKSBURG, VA. • SEPTEMBER 24, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 63,712

Virginia Tech quarterback Jerod Evans threw three touchdown passes and ran for a score, and the Hokies made three big plays on special teams, as they scuttled the East Carolina Pirates 54-17 in a non-conference game Saturday afternoon.

The Hokies (3-1) scored on their final five possessions of the first half, including all four of their second-quarter possessions. They jumped out to a 38-0 halftime lead, overwhelming East Carolina (2-2) and snapping a two-game losing streak to the Pirates.

Evans completed 13 of 20 passes for a career-high 282 yards and rushed for a career-high 97 more. He entered the game having thrown an ACC-best 10 touchdown passes and has thrown just one interception on the season. He threw touchdown passes of 24 yards to Isaiah Ford, 13 yards to Travon McMillian and 45 yards to Cam Phillips.

Three of the big special teams plays came in the first half. Greg Stroman scored the Hokies' first touchdown on an 87-yard punt return in the first quarter, and a blocked field goal led to a touchdown pass from Evans to Ford. Phillips blocked a punt by East Carolina punter Worth Gregory in the second quarter, and the Hokies took advantage, scoring on a 13-yard pass from Evans to McMillian.

ECU quarterback Philip Nelson had 362 yards passing and two touchdown tosses to Jimmy Williams. The Pirates had 443 yards of offense, but committed the three special teams mistakes, fumbled once and were sacked six times.

GAME NOTES

- Stroman's punt returned tied for the third-longest punt return in the modern era (post-1950) and the second career punt return for a touchdown.
- Stroman became just one of 10 Hokies since 1987 to score three or more touchdowns on defense or special teams in his career.
- Ford caught four passes for 117 yards and a TD. The touchdown reception marked the 21st of his career, leaving him one shy of Antonio Freeman's school record.
- Tech's two blocks marked the first time the Hokies had blocked two kicks in the same game since a win over Marshall on Sept. 21, 2013.
- The Hokies scored at least 49 points in back-to-back games for the first time since 1999 when they scored 58 against Rutgers and 62 against Syracuse.

2016 GAME-BY-GAME

GAME FIVE

25 VIRGINIA TECH 34
17 NORTH CAROLINA 3

KENAN MEMORIAL STADIUM • CHAPEL HILL, N.C. • OCTOBER 8, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 33,000

Playing in a downpour courtesy of Hurricane Matthew, Jerod Evans threw two touchdown passes and rushed for a score, and Virginia Tech's defense forced four turnovers, as the No. 25 Hokies rolled to a 34-3 victory over No. 17 North Carolina on Saturday in an ACC game played at Kenan Stadium.

The win marked Tech's first as a ranked team since 2014 when the Hokies beat Duke in Durham, North Carolina. Tech moved to 4-1 overall on the season, 2-0 in the ACC, and the Hokies also moved to 6-1 against the Tar Heels in games in Chapel Hill since they joined the ACC for the 2004-05 season.

North Carolina had its nine-game home winning streak snapped and fell to 4-2, 2-1 ACC. The Tar Heels failed to score a touchdown in a game for the first time since a 13-0 loss to NC State in Raleigh, North Carolina in 2011.

The four North Carolina turnovers led to 20 Virginia Tech points, and a dropped snap by North Carolina punter Tom Sheldon also led to a Tech touchdown.

North Carolina's first two turnovers led to field goals by Hokies' kicker Joey Slye. Arguably the biggest play in the game came on the Tar Heels' first possession of the second half when quarterback Mitch Trubisky fumbled, and Tech's Woody Baron recovered. That turnover led to a 22-yard touchdown pass from Evans to Sam Rogers that gave the Hokies a 20-3 lead.

Trubisky, who came into the game leading the nation in completion percentage (76.0) and ninth in passing yards per game (342.2), completed just 13 of 33 for 58 yards, with two interceptions.

Evans completed 7 of 17 for 75 yards. He also rushed for 49 yards on a career-high 21 carries. Tailback Travon McMillian rushed for 76 yards, as the Hokies amassed 189 of their 264 total yards on the ground.

GAME NOTES

- Andrew Motuapuaka's second career INT led to the Hokies' final TD, which came on a 4-yard run by McMillian, his third of the season and the 10th of his career.
- Sheldon dropped a snap early in the third quarter, and Tech's Cam Phillips tackled him at the UNC 4. Tech later went for it on fourth down, and Evans scored on a 1-yard run – his second rushing touchdown of the season.
- Greg Stroman's third interception of the season came in the first quarter at the North Carolina 20 and led to a 35-yard field goal by Joey Slye for the Hokies' first score. The interception marked the fifth of Stroman's career.

GAME SIX

17 VIRGINIA TECH 17
SYRACUSE 31

CARRIER DOME • SYRACUSE, N.Y. • OCTOBER 15, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 33,838

Virginia Tech quarterback Jerod Evans threw for a career-best 307 yards, but it wasn't enough as the No. 17 Hokies fell 31-17 to Syracuse in an ACC game.

With the loss, the Hokies fell to 4-2 overall, 2-1 in the ACC. Tech is now 2-7 at the Carrier Dome. Syracuse moved to 3-4 overall, 1-2 in the ACC.

"First of all, congratulations to Coach [Dino] Babers and his kids," Virginia Tech coach Justin Fuente said. "They played really, really well today. They beat us in all three phases of the game. That falls on me, and we obviously didn't play as well as we should have. That's obviously my responsibility."

The Hokies trailed for much of the game, but tied it early in the fourth quarter on a 10-yard touchdown pass from Evans to receiver Bucky Hodges. The touchdown cut the lead to 17-15, but the Hokies went for two points and converted when Evans found Chris Cunningham for the two, tying the game at 17 with 13:53 remaining.

But Syracuse scored touchdowns on back-to-back possessions to seal the win. Quarterback Eric Dungey's 1-yard run with 7:56 remaining gave the Orangemen a 24-17 lead, and less than three minutes later, Deontae Strickland's 16-yard touchdown run pushed the lead to 31-17.

The game featured more than 1,000 yards of total offense. Unfortunately for the Hokies, Syracuse racked up 561 yards, with Dungey throwing for 311 yards and running for 106. He also threw for a touchdown and ran for one.

Evans completed 20 of 33, with two touchdown passes and one interception, as the Hokies finished with 468 total yards.

GAME NOTES

- Evans tied his career high for completions and set a career high for attempts.
- Ford recorded his 22nd career touchdown reception when he hauled in the 12-yard score from Evans. With that reception, he tied former Tech receiver Antonio Freeman for the school record in career touchdown receptions.
- Hodges' touchdown reception marked the 16th of his career. He is now tied for sixth on the all-time list with former receiver Josh Morgan (2004-07).
- Defensive end Ken Ekanem started his 32nd consecutive game – the longest such streak on the squad.

GAME SEVEN

MIAMI 16
VIRGINIA TECH 37

LANE STADIUM • BLACKSBURG, VA. • OCTOBER 20, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 63,507

Paced by quarterback Jerod Evans' 259 yards passing, Travon McMillian's 131 yards rushing and a defense that recorded a season-high eight sacks, Virginia Tech rolled to a 37-16 victory over Miami in an ACC game played Thursday night.

Joey Slye added three field goals for the Hokies, who moved to 5-2 overall, 3-1 in the ACC. Tech snapped a two-game losing streak to Miami, which fell to 4-3 overall, 1-3 in league action.

Despite playing without starting defensive linemen Ken Ekanem and Nigel Williams, the Hokies' defense played one of its most productive games of the season, holding Miami to 42 yards rushing in addition to getting the eight sacks. Miami quarterback Brad Kaaya threw for 323 yards, but was sacked the eight times.

The Hokies led 16-9 at halftime thanks to three field goals from Slye and a touchdown pass from Evans to Bucky Hodges. Tech then broke things open with two touchdowns in the third quarter, scoring on a 12-yard pass from Evans to Hodges and a 13-yard touchdown strike from running back Sam Rogers to fullback Steven Peoples. The latter gave the Hokies a 30-16 lead with 4:01 left in the third.

McMillian rushed a season-high 18 times and finished with the second-most rushing yards in his career. The game marked his second 100-yard performance of the season (Tennessee) and was the biggest chunk of an evening in which Tech rushed for a season-high 251 yards.

Evans, who sealed the game with a 34-yard, fourth-quarter touchdown run, completed 21 of 33, with two touchdowns and no interceptions, and he also rushed for 98 yards. The Hokies finished with 523 yards of offense.

GAME NOTES

- Sam Rogers' career-long 52-yard reception in the second quarter set up Hodges' 7-yard touchdown reception. The touchdown was the only one of the half for the Hokies, and Rogers' reception broke his previous career long of 51 yards, which came last season against Ohio State.
- Miami cut the Tech lead to 23-16 midway through the third quarter, but the Hokies answered with a 75-yard drive. An 11-yard pass from Evans to Hodges on third and-9 kept the drive going and ultimately led to a 13-yard touchdown pass from Sam Rogers to Steven Peoples that gave the Hokies a 30-16 lead.

GAME EIGHT

25 VIRGINIA TECH 39
PITTSBURGH 36

HEINZ FIELD • PITTSBURGH, PA. • OCTOBER 27, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 40,254

Virginia Tech kicker Joey Slye tied a school and ACC record with six field goals and Jerod Evans threw for 406 yards and two touchdowns, lifting the Hokies to a 39-36 victory over Pittsburgh in an ACC game Thursday night. With the win, the Hokies moved to 6-2 overall, 4-1 in the ACC and stayed in position with North Carolina in the battle for the Coastal Division crown. The Hokies also won in Pittsburgh for the first time since 1999 and won at Heinz Field for the first time.

Pittsburgh (5-3, 2-2 ACC) tied the game at 29 on a 5-yard TD run by offensive lineman Brian O'Neill and two-point conversion pass from Nathan Peterman to James Conner with 13:25 left in the game. But the Hokies took a 32-29 lead on Slye's sixth field goal, which came with 9:39 to go, and then Evans threw a 16-yard touchdown pass to Isaiah Ford with 7:20 remaining, giving the Hokies a 39-29 lead.

The TD reception capped a string in which Tech scored on six straight drives. The Panthers scored on a TD pass from Peterman to Jester Weah with 2:31 left, but the Hokies got a first down on the ensuing possession and ran out the clock.

Tech finished with 556 yards of offense. Evans completed 24 of 40, and Ford, Bucky Hodges and Cam Phillips all finished with more than 100 yards receiving — marking the first time in school history that three players have caught more than 100 yards worth of passes in a single game.

Pittsburgh's James Conner rushed for 141 yards and three touchdowns. The Panthers finished with 458 yards.

GAME NOTES

- After taking a 3-0 lead on a 31-yard FG by Slye, Tech's second score came courtesy of a Pittsburgh turnover. On the ensuing kickoff, Pittsburgh's Quadree Henderson was stripped by Divine Deablo, and Tech's Jovon Quillen recovered. That led to a 21-yard field goal by Slye to give the Hokies a 6-0 lead.
- Tech's final TD came on a three-play drive. It started with a 41-yard pass to Phillips and ended with Ford's 23rd career TD catch, breaking the school record.

2016 GAME-BY-GAME

GAME NINE

23 VIRGINIA TECH 24
DUKE 21

BROOKS FIELD AT WWS • DURHAM, N.C. • NOVEMBER 5, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 38,217

Virginia Tech QB Jerod Evans accounted for 275 yards, Tech's defense got just enough stops, and the Hokies' offense held the ball for the final 4:06 of the game in lifting the No. 23 Hokies to a hard-fought 24-21 victory over Duke.

The win moved Tech to 7-2 overall, 5-1 in the ACC and kept the Hokies tied with North Carolina atop the Coastal Division. Tech holds the tiebreaker over the Tar Heels by virtue of its victory over North Carolina earlier this season.

The Hokies weren't the offensive juggernaut that they were the past two games, finishing with 399 yards. Defensively, they allowed 227 yards rushing. But they cobbled enough plays together to hold off a stubborn Duke team.

The Hokies – who have won seven straight in Durham going back to 1982 – led 21-7 at halftime, thanks to TD runs by Travon McMillian and Evans and a blocked field goal returned for a touchdown by Adonis Alexander. But the Blue Devils cut the lead to 24-21 on a 2-yard touchdown run by QB Daniel Jones with 7:10 left.

Tech went three-and-out on the ensuing possession, but the Hokies' defense forced a Duke punt, giving them the ball with 4:06 left. Tech never gave up the ball, converting twice on third down to drain the clock for the win.

Evans completed 15 of 27 for 192 yards and he also rushed for 83 yards and a touchdown. McMillian rushed for 72 yards, as Tech finished with 207 yards rushing.

GAME NOTES

- Greg Stroman's blocked FG marked the Hokies' fourth blocked kick of the season (three FGs and a punt). The last time Tech blocked four kicks in a season was 2008 when it blocked five and last blocked three FGs in one season in 2004.
- Terrell Edmunds finished with a career-high 14 tackles, while Woody Baron had 3.5 TFLs and has 13 on the year. He and Tremaine Edmunds are tied for the team lead.

GAME TEN

GEORGIA TECH 30
23 VIRGINIA TECH 20

LANE STADIUM • BLACKSBURG, VA. • NOVEMBER 12, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 65,632

Jerod Evans threw for a touchdown and ran for two scores, but Virginia Tech turned the ball over four times and that was its undoing, as the No. 18 Hokies fell 30-20 to Georgia Tech at Lane Stadium on Saturday.

With the loss, the Hokies fell to 7-3 overall, 5-2 in the ACC. Georgia Tech moved to 6-4 overall, 3-4 in league play. Virginia Tech still can clinch the Coastal Division crown with a win over Virginia in the regular-season finale.

The Hokies played one of their worst games of the season. They turned the ball over four times, botched a short field-goal attempt, had a terrible snap right before halftime that ultimately led to a Georgia Tech touchdown right before halftime, allowed five sacks and gave up more than 300 yards rushing.

The Hokies cut a 20-0 deficit to 20-7 on a 5-yard touchdown pass from Evans to Isaiah Ford with 12:30 left in the third quarter. They were in position to cut into it even more on their next possession, driving to the Georgia Tech 35. But Evans threw his second interception, ending the threat.

An Evans fumble in the fourth quarter led to a 56-yard touchdown run by Marcus Marshall. The Yellow Jackets scored 17 points off turnovers.

Marshall rushed for 143 yards for the Yellow Jackets. Backup quarterback Matthew Jordan, playing in place of an injury.

Evans threw for 316 yards and rushed for 75 to pace the Hokies.

GAME NOTES

- Evans saw his streak of consecutive passes without an interception end at 118 – the fifth-longest such streak in the past 30 seasons.
- Ford caught eight passes for 85 yards and the touchdown. With the eight receptions, he broke Jarrett Boykin's record (184, 2008-11) for career receptions. He now has 189 in his career.
- Ford also moved into second place on the list for career receiving yardage, passing Danny Coale (2,658, 2008-11). He now has 2,668 and needs 217 yards to pass Boykin's all-time mark of 2,884.
- Cam Phillips set a career high with 10 receptions and now has 135 for his career – a number that moved him into fourth place on the all-time list.

GAME ELEVEN

VIRGINIA TECH 34
NOTRE DAME 31

NOTRE DAME STADIUM • NOTRE DAME, IND. • NOVEMBER 19, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 80,795

Virginia Tech kicker Joey Slye hit a 20-yard field goal with 4:21 left and that was the game winner, as the Hokies twice rallied from 17-point deficits to knock off Notre Dame 34-31 on a blustery Saturday evening at historic Notre Dame Stadium.

The Hokies trailed 17-0 and 24-7 in the first half, but rallied in the second half. They cut the lead to 24-21 on their first possession of the second half when Steven Peoples scored on a 2-yard run.

Notre Dame pushed the lead back to 10 when Josh Adams scored on a 67-yard run with 3:49 left in the third. But the Hokies scored the final 13 points of the game.

Tech tied the game at 31 on a 7-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Jerod Evans to Bucky Hodges with 9:13 remaining. After a stop, the Hokies got the ball back and embarked on a 10-play, 51-yard drive that led to Slye's game-winning field goal.

Notre Dame tried to mount one last drive in the final minute, but Tech's defense stopped the Irish on fourth down at the Tech 47 on the game's final play.

Evans paced the Hokies, accounting for 334 yards of offense. He was 22 of 29 for 267 yards, with two TDs and an interception, and rushed for 67 yards and a TD.

Notre Dame amassed 435 yards of offense, but Tech's defense held the Irish to just six first downs in the second half.

GAME NOTES

- With 10 points, Slye became the fifth player in Tech history to score 300 points in a career. He needs just seven more FGs to break Shayne Graham's school record.
- With two TD passes and a TD run, Evans increased his total TDs to 31, breaking the single-season record of 30 held by former quarterback Logan Thomas (2014).
- Evans' two TD passes now give him 24 on the season, tying the school record held by Tyrod Taylor (2010).
- Peoples set a career high with 11 carries in the game. His previous career high was two carries. He finished with 32 yards rushing.

GAME TWELVE

VIRGINIA 10
VIRGINIA TECH 52

LANE STADIUM • BLACKSBURG, VA. • NOVEMBER 26, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 63,120

Playing in his final game at Lane Stadium, Tech RB Sam Rogers rushed for a career-high 105 yards and scored two TDs, as the Hokies rolled to a 52-10 victory over rival Virginia on Saturday afternoon to claim the Commonwealth Cup yet again.

The Hokies closed the regular season with wins in five of their final six games, moving to 9-3 overall, 6-2 in the ACC. Tech beat Virginia (2-10, 1-7) for the 13th straight time and for the 17th time in the past 18 meetings. The Cavaliers closed the season with seven straight losses.

The Hokies already had clinched the ACC's Coastal Division crown for the sixth time by virtue of North Carolina's loss to NC State on Friday and thus had earned a spot in the ACC title game next Saturday. With their nine wins, the Hokies have registered their most wins in a season since recording 11 victories in 2011.

Rogers got the Hokies started with an 8-yard touchdown run late in the first quarter, and following another Tech score, he added a 32-yard touchdown run midway through the second quarter to push the lead to 21-0. Jerod Evans' 1-yard touchdown run right before halftime gave the Hokies a 28-point lead – their largest halftime lead in the series since 2001.

Things only got worse. UVA went three-and-out on its first drive to start the second half, and the Hokies scored on their first offensive play when Jerod Evans hit Bucky Hodges for a 42-yard touchdown that sparked a 24-point quarter that put the game away. Virginia turned the ball over three times in the game, one of which was returned for a touchdown, and amassed just 247 yards against the Hokies' defense. UVA played three quarterbacks who combined to complete just 13 of 36 for 139 yards, with a touchdown and two interceptions. Taquan Mizzell led the Cavaliers with 113 yards rushing.

Rogers' 100-yard performance was the first of his career, as the Hokies racked up a season-high 289 yards rushing and finished with a season-high 579 total yards.

GAME NOTES

- Evans set the school single-season total offense record finishing with 3,752 yards of total offense, breaking the mark of 3,500 yards set by Logan Thomas in 2012.
- Ford's 29-yard reception marked the 200th reception of his career. The junior from Jacksonville, Florida, who has caught at least one reception in 38 of his 39 career games, became the 17th player in ACC history to record 200 receptions.

GAME THIRTEEN

3 CLEMSON 42
19 VIRGINIA TECH 35

CAMPING WORLD STADIUM • ORLANDO, FLA. • DECEMBER 3, 2016 • ATTENDANCE: 50,628

Virginia Tech's Jerod Evans accounted for 310 yards and three TDs, but Clemson's Deshaun Watson, the game's MVP, accounted for five touchdowns and led the Tigers to a 42-35 victory over the Hokies in the ACC Championship Game.

With the loss, the Hokies fell to 9-4 overall on the season. Tech fell to 3-3 in ACC championship games. Clemson moved to 12-1 overall and all but clinched its spot as one of the four teams in the College Football Playoff.

The Hokies trailed the Tigers 35-14 late in the third quarter, but responded by scoring touchdowns on three straight possessions. A 5-yard touchdown pass from Evans to Cam Phillips pulled Tech to within 42-35 with 5:43 remaining.

Tech held Clemson to three-and-out on its next possession and got the ball back with 4:03 to go. The Hokies drove to the Clemson 23, but on third-and-6, Evans was held to no gain, setting up a must-go-for-it fourth-down situation.

On the play, Evans dropped back to pass and was hit as he was trying to deliver a pass to Bucky Hodges. The Tigers intercepted the pass, and then ran out the clock.

GAME NOTES

- Evans' 264 passing yards give him 3,303 passing yards on the season, enabling him to break Don Strock's record of 3,243 passing yards set in 1972.
- Evans' 21 carries give him 184 carries on the season – the most ever by a Tech quarterback. Logan Thomas held the previous mark of 174 carries set in 2012.
- Ford's 53-yard catch enabled him to become the school's all-time leader in career receiving yardage. Jarrett Boykin (2008-11) held the previous mark of 2,884 yards.
- Phillips' career-high 12 receptions gave him 70 on the season – a number that ranks third on Tech's single-season list.

HOKIES' SECOND-HALF RALLY LEADS TO BELK BOWL WIN

Tech trailed 24-0 at halftime, but behind quarterback Jerod Evans and a stingy defense, the Hokies scored 35 unanswered points to record their third straight bowl win

CHARLOTTE, N.C. – Virginia Tech quarterback Jerod Evans accounted for four second-half touchdowns and Tech's defense forced four turnovers in the second half, as the No. 22 Hokies rallied from a 24-0 halftime deficit to knock off Arkansas 35-24 in the Belk Bowl played Thursday night at Bank of America Stadium.

With the win, the Hokies finished the season with a 10-4 record, recording at least 10 wins for the first time since 2011 and for the 14th time in program history. The Hokies also won their third straight bowl game for the first time in school history.

"I'm awfully proud of our kids and the way they battled today," Tech head coach Justin Fuente said. "We did not play well in the first half, and they did play well, but our kids didn't panic. They had to take it on play at a time in the second half, and they came out and played really well in all three phases of the game."

"I'm awfully proud to coach this group of kids. Our senior leadership, I've talked about since day 1. I can't say enough good things about those kids. I think it's fitting that, at least it's my understanding, it's the biggest comeback in Virginia Tech history. I think that senior class, being able to pull that off, is awfully fitting because of the character they have and the discipline and the work ethic."

The Hokies' 24-point rally was the biggest since 1987 and believed to be the biggest in school history. Tech turned the ball over twice in the first half, and the Razorbacks scored 10 points off of those – part of their 24-point barrage.

But Tech's Chuck Clark arguably turned the game, forcing a fumble on Arkansas first possession of the second half. Woody Baron recovered for the Hokies, and Evans scored on a 4-yard run for Tech's first score of the game.

Arkansas turned it over four times in the second half – and the Hokies scored touchdowns after every one of them. A Tremaine Edmunds interception led to a 5-yard touchdown pass from Evans to tight end Chris Cunningham with 4 minutes left in the third quarter that cut the lead to 24-21.

Tech took its first lead of the game on a 6-yard touchdown run by Travon McMillian with 12:03 left in the game. The Hokies then iced it when Terrell Edmunds' interception led to a 1-yard touchdown run by Evans with 6:41 remaining that accounted for the final margin.

"I think it [the turnovers] changed the game completely," said Tech's Anthony Shegog, who recorded an interception and forced a fumble in the game. "Just like in the first half, when we had that first turnover on offense, that gave all the momentum to them. In the second half, we were able to get those turnovers, and that helped significantly."

Evans completed 21 of 33 for 243 yards, with two touchdowns and an interception to lead the Hokies. He also rushed for 87 yards and two scores.

Tech finished with 402 yards of offense. Arkansas amassed 314 – but only 56 in the second half.

HOKIES ALL-AMERICANS

VIRGINIA TECH'S UNANIMOUS ALL-AMERICA SELECTIONS

JIM PYNE
C • 1993

In 1993, Jim Pyne achieved something even Bruce Smith failed to do – earn unanimous All-America honors. Pyne helped pave the way for an offensive unit that set school season marks for total offense and scoring in 1993. The Hokies averaged 444.1 yards and 36.4 points per game and finished 14th nationally in total offense, 11th in scoring offense and 10th in rushing.

Pyne was named first-team All-America by the AP, UPI, Walter Camp, the Football Writers Association and the Football Coaches Association (Kodak). He was one of the 12 semifinalists for the Lombardi Award, which goes to the nation's top lineman.

In four seasons at Tech, Pyne played more than 2,700 snaps and allowed just one quarterback sack. He started 35 consecutive games and 41 of the 42 games in which he played.

COREY MOORE
DE • 1998, 1999 (Unanimous)

Following an outstanding senior season in 1999, Corey Moore was voted first-team on all six major All-America teams to become the Hokies' second unanimous All-American. He was selected first-team by the AP, the Football Writers Association, the Football Coaches Association, Walter Camp, The Sporting News and Football News.

Moore posted a BIG EAST record 17 sacks during the '99 season to go with 11 other TFLs and 60 total tackles.

He also earned All-America honors in 1998 when he led the BIG EAST with 13.5 sacks. He gained first-team All-America recognition from the Football Coaches Association. Moore was a second-team pick by the AP and The Sporting News and a third-team choice of Football News.

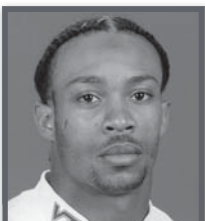

JAKE GROVE
C • 2002, 2003 (Unanimous)

Jake Grove became the third unanimous All-American in Tech football history when he was named to the first team of all five recognized All-America squads: the FWAA, the AFCA, The Sporting News, the Walter Camp Football Foundation and the AP. He was a fourth-team All-American in 2002 (Sporting News).

As a senior, he was named first-team All-BIG EAST and was presented the Rimington Trophy in Lincoln, Neb., honoring the nation's top collegiate center.

In 13 regular season games, Grove graded out at 91.8 percent on over 700 offensive plays and led the offensive line in knockdowns with 48.

He went on to be drafted in the second round by the Oakland Raiders in the 2004 NFL Draft as the first center taken.

JIMMY WILLIAMS
DB • 2005

Jimmy Williams became Tech's fourth unanimous All-American in football history when he was named to the first team of all five recognized All-America squads: the Football Writers Association of America, the American Football Coaches Association, The Sporting News, the Walter Camp Football Foundation and the AP.

As a senior, he was named first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference and was one of three finalists for the Jim Thorpe award, honoring the nation's top collegiate defensive back.

In 13 games, he recorded 44 tackles, including two for loss and a sack, along with 14 quarterback hurries, five pass break ups and an interception.

He went on to be drafted in the second round by the Atlanta Falcons in the 2006 NFL Draft.

THE HOKIES' OTHER FIRST-TEAM SELECTIONS

CARROLL DALE
E • 1959

After earning second-team Associated Press All-America honors as a junior in 1958, Carroll Dale went on to become the first Virginia Tech football player to earn first-team All-America honors following the 1959 season. Dale was named to the Football Writers Association (LOOK Magazine) and Newspaper Enterprise Association first teams as a senior and was once again a second-team choice by the AP. He led Tech in receiving four straight years and finished the '59 season with 17 receptions for 408 yards and six touchdowns.

BOB SCHWEICKERT
QB • 1963, 1964

One of the finest triple-threat quarterbacks in the history of the Southern Conference, Bob Schweickert was named to the LOOK All-America team picked by the Football Writers Association following the 1964 season. Schweickert fought off injuries during the '64 season to rush for 576 yards and nine touchdowns and pass for 833 yards and nine more TDs.

He also handled the punting duties with a 37.7-yard average. As a junior in 1963, Schweickert earned third-team All-America honors from The Associated Press.

FRANK LORIA
S • 1966, 1967 (Consensus)

Safety Frank Loria was the first Tech football player to gain first-team All-America honors in back-to-back seasons and became the Hokies' first consensus All-America pick in 1967. As a junior in 1966, Loria helped Tech to the Liberty Bowl, contributing three interceptions and returning three punts for touchdowns. He was named to first-team A-A squads picked by The Associated Press and the Football Writers Association and was a second-team selection by the Helms Athletic Foundation. Loria was named to six major All-America squads following the 1967 season. He finished the year with three interceptions and 420 yards on punt returns, including a 95-yard return for a TD against Miami. His first-team honors came from the AP, United Press International, NEA, the Football Coaches Association, the Football Writers Association and the Walter Camp Foundation.

MIKE WIDGER
LB • 1968

Mike Widger capped an incredible junior season by earning first-team All-America honors from The Associated Press and the Football Writers Association. Widger compiled a record 825 tackling points and was among the national leaders in pass interceptions (7) and return yardage (203 yards). He returned two of his interceptions for touchdowns and scored another TD after pulling the football loose from a Kansas State running back and racing 46 yards to the end zone.

BRUCE SMITH
DT • 1983, 1984 (Consensus)

Bruce Smith was named to first-team All-America squads picked by the Football Coaches Association and the Newspaper Enterprise Association after registering an incredible 22 quarterback sacks as a junior in 1983. Smith, who also was named to The Associated Press second team that year, finished with a total of 55 tackles, 31 of which were behind the line of scrimmage. As a senior in 1984,

Smith accumulated 16 sacks and nine other tackles behind the line. He finished the year with 69 total tackles and was a consensus All-America pick, making first teams selected by the AP, the Football Writers of America, Kodak and Walter Camp.

HOKIES FIRST-TEAM ALL-AMERICA SELECTIONS

EUGENE CHUNG
OT • 1991

When Eugene Chung was named to the Football Writers Association All-America team following his senior season, he became the first Tech offensive lineman to win first-team All-America honors. Chung started every game at tackle for the Hokies in 1991, allowing just one quarterback sack in 730 plays. The Washington Gridiron Club honored Chung as the National Lineman of the Year.

CORNELL BROWN
DE • 1995 (Consensus), 1996

Cornell Brown became the first Virginia Tech football player to gain consensus All-America honors as a junior when he was named to five first teams in 1995. Brown was a first-team A-A pick by AP, UPI, the Football Writers Association, The Sporting News and Football News. He finished the year with 103 total tackles, including a BIG EAST-leading 14 sacks. He was selected National Defensive Player of the Year by Football News and was one of five finalists for the Defensive Player of the Year. In 1996, Brown missed three games, but still earned first-team honors from Walter Camp and second-team recognition from AP. He posted eight sacks, five other tackles behind the line, 19 quarterback hurries and 58 total tackles during the '96 season.

BILLY CONATY
C • 1996

Considered one of the top offensive linemen in school history, Billy Conaty saw action on 98 percent of Virginia Tech's offensive plays in 1996 and went on to earn first-team All-America honors from The Sporting News. Conaty helped the Hokies to a 10-2 record and a trip to the Orange Bowl that season, grading a winning percentage in 10 of the 12 games and leading the squad with 65 knockdown blocks. He finished his career by setting an all-time school record for starts and consecutive starts with 48.

MICHAEL VICK
QB • 1999

In a spectacular freshman season that saw him lead Virginia Tech to its first ever 11-0 regular season and its first appearance in the national championship game, Michael Vick became the first Tech freshman football player to earn first-team All-America honors. Vick was named first-team by The Sporting News. He also was a second-team pick by The Associated Press. The redshirt freshman quarterback was third in the voting for the 1999 Heisman Trophy and second in the voting for the AP Player of the Year. Vick led Division I-A in passing efficiency (180.37), setting a NCAA record for a freshman in the process. He completed 59.2 percent of his passes for 1,840 yards and 12 touchdowns. He also contributed 585 yards and eight TDs rushing.

ANDRÉ DAVIS
PR • 2000

André Davis finished the 2000 season second in the Division I-A ranks in punt returns and earned first-team All-America honors on the American Football Coaches Association team as a return specialist. Davis returned 18 punts for 396 yards for a school-record average of 22 yards per return. He tied another school season mark when he returned three punts for touchdowns. His 87-yard TD return against East Carolina was the second-longest in school history.

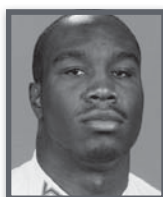

KEVIN JONES
RB • 2003 (Consensus)

One of the highest-rated recruits ever to sign with Virginia Tech, Kevin Jones rushed for a school-record 1,647 yards, including 241 yards against Pittsburgh, on 281 attempts with 21 touchdowns as a junior in '03. He went on to earn first-team All-America honors from The Sporting News, The Walter Camp Football Foundation, FWAA and AFCA. He was named to the second team by AP.

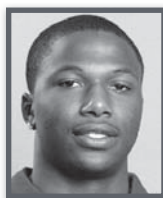

DARRYL TAPP
DE • 2005

Considered one of the best defensive ends in school history, Darryl Tapp capped an incredible career, earning first-team All-America honors by AFCA and second-team honors by The Associated Press. During his senior season, Tapp, who started all 13 games, recorded team-bests for sacks, tackles for loss and forced fumbles. He recorded 10 sacks, 14.5 tackles for loss and three forced fumbles. Tapp was also fifth on the team in tackles. He won the Dudley Award, given to the state's top player, and was a Lott Trophy finalist.

XAVIER ADIBI
LB • 2007

Xavier Adibi teamed with fellow linebacker Vince Hall throughout his career to form what was arguably the best linebacking duo in school history. Though he enjoyed a breakout season as a junior, Adibi put up eye-popping numbers as a senior on his way to first-team All-America honors from the American Football Coaches Association. He led the team with 115 tackles, including 12 tackles for loss, while chipping in three sacks and two interceptions – one of which he returned for a touchdown. In addition to being named first-team All-ACC, Adibi was also awarded a spot on The Associated Press All-America third team.

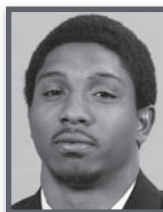

BRANDON FLOWERS
CB • 2007

Despite leaving a year early for the NFL, cornerback Brandon Flowers became only the seventh Hokie to be named a two-time All-American when he was placed on the American Football Coaches Association first team after his junior season. He was also named second team by both The Associated Press and the Walter Camp Football Foundation. Flowers was a third-team AP honoree as a sophomore. In 2007, he placed third on the team with 86 tackles from his secondary spot, adding eight tackles for loss in the process. After leading the ACC in 2006 in passes broken up and passes defended, opponents shied away from him as a junior, but he still managed nine breakups, 14 passes defended and a career-high five interceptions.

VICTOR "MACHO" HARRIS
CB • 2008

One of the nation's top cornerbacks, Victor Harris earned first-team All-America honors from Sporting News and was a second-team pick by The Associated Press after a stellar senior season. Harris considered entering the NFL Draft following his junior year, but decided to return, earning his degree along with A-A honors. He tied for 11th nationally in interceptions with six, two of which he returned for touchdowns. A two-time first-team All-ACC selection, he finished fourth in the league in interceptions and passes defended, and third in punt returns. His 15 career interceptions rank third all-time at Tech, while his four career TDs on picks are an all-time record for a Hokie.

JAYRON HOSLEY
CB • 2010

Jayron Hosley tied a 43-year old Virginia Tech season record for interceptions on the way to being selected first-team on the Walter Camp All-America squad. Hosley led the nation in interceptions with nine and tied for third in most passes defended with 17. The sophomore cornerback was also a second-team A-A pick by The Associated Press and earned the National Defensive Back Trophy from the College Football Performance Awards. Hosley was named first team All-ACC after topping the league in both interceptions and passes defended. He also ranked second among ACC players in punt returns.

NATIONAL HONORS

JAKE GROVE WON THE RIMINGTON TROPHY IN 2003

Jake Grove arrived on the Virginia Tech campus as a lightly recruited guard from Forest, Va. He left as a unanimous All-American, winner of the Rimington Trophy as the nation's top center and a second-round draft pick of the Oakland Raiders.

Heading into his junior season, Grove made the switch over to the center position and became a natural fit. By the time he headed into his final season, he was gaining headlines and recognition for his play. He was rewarded by being named to all five major All-America first teams. He was awarded the Dave Rimington Trophy, given to the nation's top collegiate center.

MICHAEL VICK WON AN ESPY AS THE NATIONAL PLAYER OF THE YEAR IN 1999

When Michael Vick took to the field against James Madison on Sept. 4, 1999, little did people in attendance or watching on television realize they would be witnessing the beginning of the most exciting two years in Virginia Tech football history.

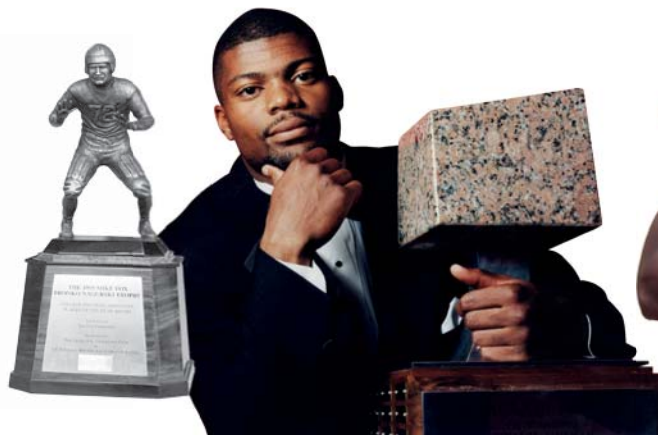

In 1999, Vick led the Hokies to a perfect 11-0 regular season and a berth in the national championship game, both firsts in school history. The Hokies lost that game to Florida State, but all the talk was about the performance the redshirt freshman put on in that game.

For his accomplishments that year, he was awarded an ESPY by ESPN, given to the nation's top college football player. Vick was awarded the trophy at the ESPY ceremonies on Feb. 14, 2000, in Las Vegas as he mingled with some of sports' all-time greats.

COREY MOORE EARNED THE LOMBARDI AND NAGURSKI AWARDS IN 1999

In three years on campus, Corey Moore amassed 35 sacks for losses, totaling 292 yards. He left Tech as the most decorated player ever to put on the Hokie uniform. He won the 1999 Bronko Nagurski Award as college football's Defensive Player of the Year. Moore also won the 1999 Lombardi Award as college football's lineman of the year. He became Tech's second-ever unanimous All-American, joining Jim Pyne. Moore won the Dudley Award as the top college player in Virginia, the BIG EAST Defensive Player of the Year award and was selected as Football News' Defensive Player of the Year.

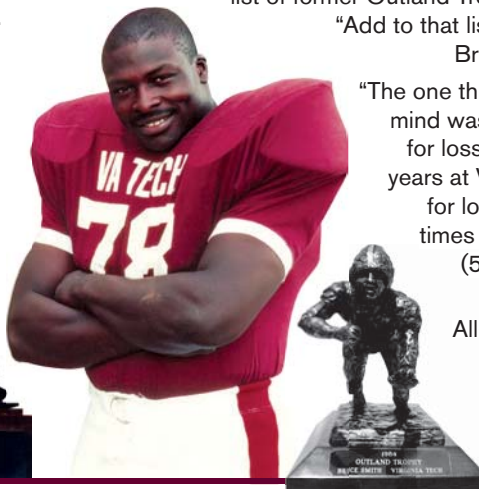

BRUCE SMITH WON THE OUTLAND TROPHY AS THE TOP LINEMAN IN 1984

Bruce Smith, "The Sack Man" of Virginia Tech football, capped his sensational college career in 1984 by winning the Outland Trophy as America's top lineman.

The big announcement was made by Wilt Browning at a press luncheon in Tech's Bowman Room. Browning, a sports columnist of The Greensboro Daily News and a committee member of the Football Writers' Association of America, began by reading a long list of former Outland Trophy winners. He then said, "Add to that list today, the 1984 winner – Bruce Smith of Virginia Tech."

"The one thing though, that stuck in my mind was the statistic on his tackles for losses," Browning said. "In four years at Virginia Tech, he accounted for losses totaling more than five times the length of a football field (504 yards). That's amazing."

Smith was a consensus All-American and was the first Virginian to win one of the national awards (including the Heisman and the Lombardi).

CARROLL DALE

A native of Wise, Va., Carroll Dale entered Virginia Tech in 1956 as an offensive and defensive end. After seeing varsity action as a reserve in the first game of the '56 season, Dale went on to start the remaining 39 games of his college career and became Tech's first bona fide All-American. As a junior in 1958, he was named the Southern Conference Player of the Year. In 1959, Dale was captain of the Tech team and earned first-team A-A honors. Dale led the Hokies in pass receiving each of his four seasons and finished his Tech career with 67 catches for 1,195 yards and 15 touchdowns. He went on to a pro football career that lasted more than a decade and was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1987. His Tech jersey was the first to be retired.

BRUCE SMITH

Known as "The Sack Man" of Virginia Tech football, Bruce Smith capped his sensational college career in 1984. As a Tech player, Smith had a career total of 71 tackles behind the line of scrimmage for losses totaling 504 yards. Smith had 46 career quarterback sacks, including 22 during his junior season in 1983 when he was named first-team All-America. In 1984, the Norfolk, Va., native won the Outland Trophy as America's top lineman and was a consensus All-American. Smith was the No. 1 player picked in the 1985 National Football League draft. During his pro career, he established himself as one of the greatest defensive players ever to play the game. He ended his career in 2003 as the NFL's all-time sack leader with 200.

FRANK LORIA

Despite his 5-9, 175-pound frame, Frank Loria was one of the most tenacious football players ever to play for Virginia Tech. Loria, who started every game at safety from 1965-67, rapidly established himself as one of Tech's all-time greats. During his junior year, he earned first-team All-American honors. As a senior in 1967, Loria became Tech's first consensus All-American, making seven first-team All-American squads. He finished his Tech career with seven interceptions and a number of punt return records. He went on to coach at Marshall. In 1970, at age 23, he died in an airplane tragedy that claimed the lives of the Marshall football team and staff. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1999. His number was retired prior to the 1971 season.

JIM PYNE

Center Jim Pyne became Virginia Tech's first unanimous All-American when he made all five major teams that were selected in 1993. In addition to All-America honors, Pyne was named winner of the Dudley Award as Virginia's Player of the Year. During his four seasons at Tech, he established himself as one of the Hokies' top linemen of all time, leading the charge for the 1993 team that rewrote the school record books for scoring and total offense. Pyne started 35 consecutive games and 41 of the 42 Tech games in which he played. He allowed just one quarterback sack by the man he was assigned to block during more than 2,700 career snaps. Pyne spent nine seasons as an NFL lineman before becoming an assistant coach in the pro ranks.

BEAMER AMONG FIVE WHO HAVE HAD JERSEYS RETIRED

In 2002, the Virginia Tech Athletics Department developed a new policy on retiring football jerseys. This special honor is bestowed to acknowledge an individual who has won an established national award in their sport, while allowing the number to continue to be worn by others. Tech no longer retires numbers. That year, three jerseys were retired in ceremonies. The jerseys of Frank Beamer, Cornell Brown and Michael Vick were the first to be honored. In 2006, Jake Grove had the same honor bestowed upon him. Corey Moore's jersey has been retired since 2009.

Michael Vick · Sept. 1, 2002
Won 2000 ESPY as College Football's Performer of the Year.

Frank Beamer · Sept. 12, 2002
Winner of eight national coach of the year awards following Tech's 1999 season.

Cornell Brown · Nov. 20, 2002
Named 1995 National Defensive Player of the Year by Football News in 1995.

Jake Grove · Sept. 23, 2006
Winner of the 2003 Rimington Trophy, given to the nation's top collegiate center.

Corey Moore · Oct. 23, 2010
Won Lombardi and Nagurski Awards in 1999.

GAME SUMMARY

The University of Cincinnati Bearcats scored three second-half touchdowns to defeat Virginia Tech 18-6 at Kidd Field. The game, played in freezing conditions, marked Tech's first bowl appearance and the first bowl game in which a football team from the commonwealth of Virginia had participated. The Hokies trailed 12-0 before scoring their lone touchdown on a 3-yard run by Ralph Beard on fourth-and-goal. A Cincinnati interception, though, set up a 3-yard touchdown run by Don McMillan to put the game away for the Bearcats.

GAME SUMMARY

The Miami Hurricanes, getting its second wind from a third-quarter roughing the kicker penalty, rebounded for two touchdowns in the second half to register a come-from-behind 14-7 win over Virginia Tech at Memorial Stadium. The Hokies took a 7-0 lead on a 2-yard run by Tommy Francisco, but couldn't hold it, squandering two other scoring opportunities in the first half. A third-quarter touchdown pass from Miami quarterback Bill Miller to Joe Mira tied the game and a fourth-quarter touchdown run by Doug McGee turned out to be the game winner.

GAME SUMMARY

Quarterback Bart Weiss got Air Force's wishbone attack going in the second half and led the Falcons to a 23-7 victory over Virginia Tech at Independence Stadium. Tech took a 7-3 lead in the first quarter on a 10-play, 72-yard drive that ended with a 3-yard touchdown run by Maurice Williams, but the game changed midway through the second quarter when the Falcons forced and recovered a fumble at the Tech 3. Halfback Jody Simmons took a pitchout to the left and put Air Force ahead for good. The turnover was one of four for the Hokies, as Air Force used its ground attack to control the clock. The Falcons rushed for 221 yards.

GAME SUMMARY

Virginia Tech earned its first bowl victory in dramatic fashion when Chris Kinzer hit a 40-yard field goal as time expired to give the Hokies a 25-24 comeback win over North Carolina State at Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium. The Hokies rallied from a 21-10 deficit, converting two NC State second-half turnovers into touchdowns to take a 22-21 lead. The Wolfpack regained the lead on a field goal by Mike Cofer with 7:12 remaining, but the Hokies drove to the NC State 23 in the final two minutes to set up Kinzer's game winner.

GAME SUMMARY

Virginia Tech scored two touchdowns in the final 35 seconds of the first half to spark an unforgettable 45-20 victory over Indiana at Independence Stadium. The Hokies' Lawrence Lewis returned a fumble 20 yards for a touchdown to give Tech a 21-13 lead with less than 35 seconds to go in the first half. Indiana got to the Tech 42 on the ensuing possession and lined up to try a field goal, but the Hokies blocked it and Antonio Banks returned it 80 yards for a touchdown. That gave the Hokies a 28-13 halftime lead and they never looked back. Tech quarterback Maurice DeShazo threw two touchdown passes in the win.

GAME SUMMARY

Quick-striking Tennessee got off to a big early lead and went on to defeat Virginia Tech 45-23 at Ben Hill Griffin Stadium on the University of Florida campus. Tech backed itself into a corner early, throwing an interception on the game's second play. The Volunteers kept the Hokies there with a variety of big plays that resulted in a 35-10 halftime advantage. Overall, Tennessee had seven plays of 20 or more yards and a total of 495 yards of offense. James Stewart had three rushing touchdowns for the Volunteers, while Peyton Manning threw a touchdown pass. Tech's Dwayne Thomas paced the Hokies with 102 yards rushing and a score.

GAME SUMMARY

Virginia Tech scored one of the most stirring victories in the university's athletics history when it came from behind to defeat Texas 28-10 at the Superdome. Tech spotted the favored Longhorns a 10-0 lead and then race back behind the play of flanker Bryan Still, who returned a punt 60 yards for a Tech touchdown with 2:34 left in the first half, caught a 27-yard pass from quarterback Jim Druckenmiller at the Texas 2-yard line to set up a touchdown run by Marcus Parker that put the Hokies ahead 14-10, and got behind the Texas defenders to haul in a 54-yard touchdown pass from Druckenmiller. That play spelled doom for the Longhorns and helped earn Still the game's MVP award.

GAME SUMMARY

Virginia Tech's second venture into Bowl Alliance territory wasn't as successful as the first, as the Hokies fell 41-21 to power-packed Nebraska at Pro Player Stadium. Nebraska out-gained Tech by just seven yards, 415 to 408, and managed to lead by only three points with less than one minute remaining in the third quarter. In the end, it was the Nebraska depth that wore down the Hokies. Tech quarterback Jim Druckenmiller threw three touchdown passes and Ken Oxendine rushed for 150 yards on 20 carries in the loss.

GAME SUMMARY

Highly rated North Carolina outplayed Virginia Tech in every phase of the game to score a 42-3 victory at Alltel Stadium. The Tar Heels threw for 318 yards and ground out 124 more yards on the ground. Tech, meanwhile, was held to 185 yards, its lowest total of the season. The Hokies never could get their offense on track, losing three of their six fumbles. Tech's only points came on a 40-yard field goal by Shayne Graham late in the third quarter.

GAME SUMMARY

A sellout crowd of 41,600 who braved a freezing rain and a wind chill that dipped to 14 degrees watched as Virginia Tech beat Alabama 38-7 in the inaugural Music City Bowl at Vanderbilt Stadium. Quarterback Al Clark got Tech off to a quick start with a 43-yard touchdown run on the fourth play of the game. In the second half, Corey Moore forced an interception that led to a 1-yard touchdown run by Lamont Pegues and then he blocked a punt that set up a 4-yard touchdown by Shyrone Stith. Anthony Midget's interception return for a touchdown sealed the Hokies' first win over the Tide.

GAME SUMMARY

In a breathtaking game, Tech rallied from a 21-point first-half deficit to take the lead from Florida State going into the fourth quarter. But the Hokies simply couldn't overcome their mistakes nor the big plays of the Seminoles, and as a result, FSU walked off the field with a 46-29 Sugar Bowl victory and the national title at the Superdome. The Hokies trailed 28-7, but took a 29-28 lead on Michael Vick's 3-yard touchdown run with 37 seconds left in the third. The Seminoles scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, though, to pull away. Vick finished with 323 of the Hokies' 503 yards of total offense.

GAME SUMMARY

The Virginia Tech Hokies twice rallied from 11-point deficits and scored 22 unanswered points in the fourth quarter to knock off Louisville 35-24 at Alltel Stadium. Tech trailed 24-13 in the fourth quarter, but a Cedric Humes touchdown run and a two-point conversion cut the deficit to 24-21. Then following a Louisville turnover, Tech's Marcus Vick threw a touchdown pass to Jeff King that enabled the Hokies to take the lead. James Anderson's interception return for a score sealed the win for Tech. Humes rushed for 113 yards and the touchdown in the win.

GAME SUMMARY

Virginia Tech jumped out to a 21-3 halftime lead, but the Hokies' second-half turnovers proved costly, as Georgia scored 28 unanswered points in the final 30 minutes to knock off Tech 31-24 at the Georgia Dome. The Hokies jumped out to the 18-point halftime lead thanks to two 1-yard touchdown runs by tailback Branden Ore and a 53-yard pass from receiver Eddie Royal to tight end Sam Wheeler on a trick play. But Tech turned the ball over four times in the second half and three of those turnovers led to 18 Georgia points. The Hokies finished with just 189 yards of offense.

GAME SUMMARY

The Virginia Tech Hokies trimmed a 17-point first-half deficit to three points in the second half, but couldn't quite get over the hump, falling to the Kansas Jayhawks 24-21 at Dolphin Stadium. Tech turned the ball over three times and those three turnovers led to 17 Kansas points. The Hokies also had a field goal blocked, allowed a first down on a fake punt that ultimately led to a score, and gave up five sacks. Justin Harper paced Tech with a touchdown reception and a punt return for a touchdown in the loss.

Tech's defense did not allow a point in the second half for the fifth straight game and allowed just 112 yards of offense in the final 30 minutes - 43 of that coming in Vols' final drive with the outcome well in hand. The defense also recorded six sacks. Williams rushed for 117 yards and two touchdowns, breaking Tech's single-season rushing record of 1,647 yards set by former tailback Kevin Jones in 2003. Williams finished the season with 1,655 yards.

GAME SUMMARY

Michigan kicker Brendan Gibbons booted a game-winning 37-yard field goal in overtime, as the Wolverines knocked off Virginia Tech 23-20 in a wild Sugar Bowl at the Superdome. Tech lost the coin flip in overtime and Michigan decided to play defense first. On third-and-5 from the Michigan 20, Tech quarterback Logan Thomas appeared to have thrown a touchdown pass to receiver Danny Coale in the corner of the end zone. Officials originally ruled the play a touchdown, but reviewed it, and then reversed the call, saying Coale didn't maintain control of the ball. Tech's defense only gave up 184 yards in the game, but turnovers and penalties kept the Wolverines in the game.

Virginia Tech kicker Cody Journell drilled a 22-yard field goal in overtime, and Rutgers kicker Nick Borgese misfired from 42-yards out on the Scarlet Knights' possession, enabling the Hokies to rally for a 13-10 overtime victory at the Florida Citrus Bowl. Tech entered the fourth quarter down 10-0, but a 25-yard field goal from Journell cut the Rutgers lead to 10-3 with 12:14 left in the game. Then, moments later, cornerback Antone Exum intercepted a pass and returned it 32 yards to the Rutgers 21. That put the Hokies in perfect field position with 11:11 remaining and they tied the game on a 21-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Logan Thomas to Corey Fuller. Tech's defense held Rutgers' offense without a touchdown and allowed just 196 yards.

Coleman was named MVP after running for 157 yards and a touchdown on 25 carries. The 157 yards set a new Tech bowl record for yards, surpassing Kevin Jones and Darren Evans, who each ran for 153 yards in a game. Slye's four field goals tied the school record for made field goals in a bowl game. Justin Myer hit four field goals in the 2012 Sugar Bowl against Michigan. Tech's defense allowed 489 yards of UC offense, but had two interceptions and clamped down in big situations to thwart drives.

GAME SUMMARY

Virginia Tech made the final game for its head coach a memorable one, beating Tulsa 55-52 at Independence Stadium. The win marked the final one for Frank Beamer, who decided in November to retire at the conclusion of the season after 29 seasons as the Hokies' head coach. Tech's players doused Beamer as he walked across the field to shake the hands of Tulsa coach Philip Montgomery. The Hokies led 55-37 with 11 minutes remaining and held on, getting a sack from Dadi Nicolas on Tulsa's final drive to seal the game. Tech receiver Isaiah Ford caught 12 passes for 227 yards, both bowl records for the Hokies, and Travon McMillian rushed for two of the Hokies' five touchdowns in the win.

GAME SUMMARY

Virginia Tech quarterback Jerod Evans accounted for four second-half touchdowns and Tech's defense forced four turnovers in the second half, as the No. 22 Hokies rallied from a 24-0 halftime deficit to knock off Arkansas 35-24 in the Belk Bowl. The Hokies' 24-point rally was the biggest since 1987 and believed to be the biggest in school history. Tech turned the ball over twice in the first half, and the Razorbacks scored 10 points off of those - part of their 24-point barrage. But Tech's Chuck Clark arguably turned the game, forcing a fumble on Arkansas' first possession of the second half. Woody Baron recovered for the Hokies, and Evans scored on a 4-yard run for Tech's first score of the game. Arkansas turned it over four times in the second half - and the Hokies scored touchdowns after every one of them. A Tremaine Edmunds interception led to a 5-yard touchdown pass from Evans to tight end Chris Cunningham with 4 minutes left in the third quarter that cut the lead to 24-21. Tech took its first lead of the game on a 6-yard touchdown run by Travon McMillian with 12:03 left in the game. The Hokies then iced it when Terrell Edmunds' interception led to a 1-yard touchdown run by Evans with 6:41 remaining that accounted for the final margin.

FRANK BEAMER INTRODUCTORY NEWS CONFERENCE

Virginia Tech fans are still beaming about their New Peach Bowl victory over N.C. State. But if such postseason success is to continue, it will be up to Frank Beamer.

Two days before Christmas, Beamer, 40, was named Tech's successor to head football coach Bill Dooley. And from the look of his credentials, it could be a prized gift for the Hokies.

FRANK BEAMER'S FIRST PRACTICE

"The players have treated me fairly. I'm a big person on trust, and I think you build relationships over time and not just on a few practices. I hope our relationship will grow tighter and tighter as time goes on."

ACCEPTANCE OF THE 1993 INDEPENDENCE BOWL INVITATION

The Hokies thrashed the Orangemen 45-24 before a season-high crowd of 44,722 at Lane Stadium. The win also gave Frank Beamer his most wins—seven—as head coach at his alma mater.

More importantly, Independence Bowl Chairman Mike McCarthy extended the Hokies an invitation to play in Shreveport on Dec. 31. The team accepted in a meeting held at 4:30 p.m.

1995 SUGAR BOWL VICTORY OVER TEXAS

The Hokies closed their finest season in their 103-year football history with an improbable 10-game winning streak that came on the heels of an ugly 0-2 start. Despite that streak and a co-BIG EAST championship, many questioned whether Tech, 2-8-1 just four years ago, belonged in a major bowl. There should be no questions after Sunday's dominant defensive performance.

—David Teel, The Daily Press, Jan. 1, 1996

"FRANK BEAMER HAS BEEN ONE OF THE ICONS, IN MY MIND, IN THIS ERA OF COACHING. HE HAS A FANTASTIC RECORD AT VIRGINIA TECH AND BEEN THERE A LONG, LONG TIME. HE'S ONE OF THE GREAT GUYS IN OUR PROFESSION. I'VE ALWAYS ADMIRER HIM AS A COACH, BUT ALSO THE PROFESSIONAL CHARACTER THAT HE ALWAYS CARRIES HIMSELF WITH AND THE WAY HE TREATS OTHER PEOPLE."

- ALABAMA HEAD COACH NICK SABAN

"FRANK BEAMER IS, HAS BEEN AND WILL REMAIN A BEACON OF LIGHT FOR COLLEGE FOOTBALL. NOT ONLY A GREAT CAREER AT VIRGINIA TECH, BUT MOST IMPORTANTLY, A TREMENDOUS LEADER AND MODEL FOR THE YOUNG MEN IN HIS PROGRAM AND HIS PERSONAL FAMILY. HE HAS GUIDED SO MANY TO BECOME SUCCESSFUL IN LIFE THROUGH A VALUE SYSTEM MUCH NEEDED TO TODAY'S SOCIETY. A SINCERE AND CARING FAMILY MAN, FRANK HAS BROUGHT THAT FEELING TO THE ENTIRETY OF HIS UNIVERSITY."

COLLEGE GAMEDAY VISITS FOR THE FIRST TIME

Tech fans certainly got excited over the arrival of Chris Fowler, Kirk Herbstreit and the infamous Lee Corso—the trio who made up College Gameday. Between 12,000-13,000 fans packed the press box side of Lane Stadium just to yell and scream and be on television.

1999 COACH OF THE YEAR AWARDS

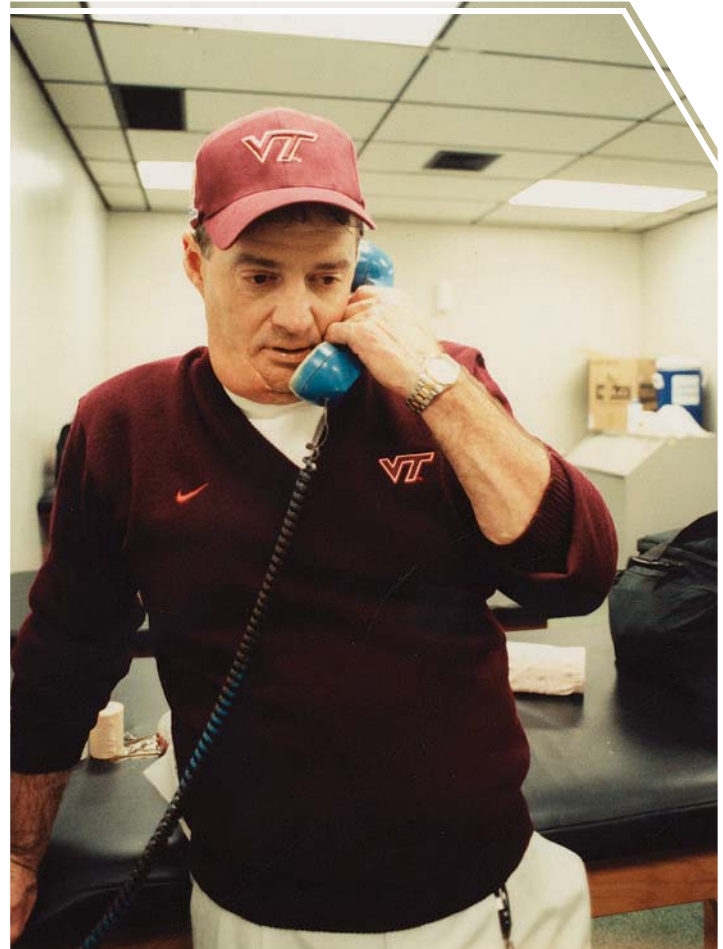

This season was a season of firsts for Tech's 53-year-old head coach. He was named Region I Coach of the Year as voted on by the American Football Coaches Association. He's speaking at the prestigious Heisman Trophy Award dinner next week. He became one of just a handful of coaches nationwide ever to lead a team to an unbeaten regular season. And then there's this little matter of playing for the national title.

2009 ORANGE BOWL VICTORY OVER CINCINNATI

The Orange Bowl championship trophy is likely the biggest — and heaviest — that Virginia Tech has ever won.

It took two managers and a pushcart to get the massive trophy and glass bowl into the lobby of head coach Frank Beamer's office — and that's after the real oranges were replaced with hollow plastic replicas.

2009 CHICK-FIL-A BOWL VICTORY OVER TENNESSEE

New Year's Eve in Atlanta features the annual ritual of dropping an oversized replica of a peach to commemorate the New Year. This year, the ritual also featured the Virginia Tech football team dropping the hammer on Tennessee.

Behind a punishing defense and the typical running of Ryan Williams, the Hokies closed 2009 by caging ol' Smokey and knocking the Volunteers off Rocky Top in a 37-14 rout in the Chick-fil-A Bowl at the Georgia Dome.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Frank Beamer, the first Tech alumnus to guide the Hokies' football program since the 1940s, won more games at Tech than any other head football coach. Prior to Beamer, no other grid coach in Virginia Tech history had served more than 10 seasons as head coach. Beamer was also the most-tenured active FBS head coach, having been at his current school consecutively longer than any other coach in the nation at the time of his retirement.

With a victory in the Independence Bowl, Beamer led the Hokies to 23 straight bowl games, making him one of four coaches all-time in college football history to accomplish that feat.

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF COACH BEAMER AND HIS STAFF, THE HOKIES ...

- played for the national championship for the first time in school history.
- become the only school to go to bowl games each of the last 23 seasons (longest active streak per NCAA).
- become one of only six programs in college football history to go to a bowl in at least 20 straight years, Nebraska (35), Michigan (33), Florida State (24), Alabama (25), Tech (23; active) and Florida (22).
- earned seven conference titles and eight "major" bowl bids in a 23-year span.
- become one of only four teams in the history of the Division I level to produce 10 or more wins eight seasons or more in a row.
- compiled a school-record streak in the Associated Press Top 25 Poll at 84 consecutive weeks.
- posted 11 wins in a season for the first time.
- registered the program's first back-to-back 11-win seasons.
- produced the school's first 11-0 regular-season record in football.
- won Sugar Bowl and Orange Bowl titles.
- won four Atlantic Coast Conference titles.
- won an ACC Championship in their first season of competition.
- played in five ACC Championship games.
- produced the ACC Coach of the Year and Player of the Year during their inaugural ACC season.
- become the first team in BIG EAST history to win all the league's major awards in the same season.
- earned the highest national rankings in school football history, including five top-10 finishes and back-to-back top-six finishes.
- won more games (238) than under any other coaching staff in school history.
- been to five times as many bowl games (23) than under any other staff.
- won more bowl games (11) than under any other coaching staff.
- posted 23 straight seasons of seven or more wins for the first time in school history.
- had 244 of their last 271 games televised (90 percent).
- compiled a 174-70 record in televised games since the start of the 1995 season.
- blocked more kicks in the 1990s than any other Division I-A team.
- become one of only eight FBS schools ever to lead the nation in both scoring offense and defense in the same season.
- had at least one player from every defensive position score a touchdown.
- produced a No. 1 pick in the National Football League draft.
- had 95 players taken in the NFL Draft and more than 200 players sign with NFL teams.
- had two players who entered the program as walk-ons drafted in the top four rounds of the NFL draft.
- had 19 different players earn AP All-America honors over the past 18 seasons.
- had players win 16 major conference individual awards in the past 18 years, including three in 2011.

BEAMER WAY AND BEAMER LOCKER ROOM

TECH HONORS BEAMER FOR TRANSFORMATIONAL CAREER

The school renames a street and the team's locker room after the retired football coach

Frank Beamer gave 29 years of his professional career to Virginia Tech, leading the football program to unprecedented heights and attracting national attention to the university.

In return, the university has recognized Beamer in numerous ways for his accomplishments, first renaming a campus street after him and later approving a renaming of the football team's locker room after him.

In August of 2015, the Virginia Tech Board of Visitors renamed Spring Road, the street that runs adjacent to Lane Stadium, to Beamer Way in appreciation of Beamer's years of service and extraordinary contributions to university life.

"Frank Beamer is the winningest football coach in Virginia Tech history and Cheryl [Beamer's wife] has been by his side supporting him and their family the entire way," Tech President Timothy Sands said when he made the announcement on Aug. 6, 2015, at the Hokies' first team meeting before the start of fall practice. "He has served as a figure of strength, excellence and compassion on campus and we wanted to honor Frank and Cheryl this way by renaming Spring Road to Beamer Way."

After 29 seasons as the head coach, Beamer retired at the conclusion of the 2015 season following the Hokies' win over Tulsa in the Independence Bowl. He finished his career with 280 victories, including 238 at Tech. He also won 11 bowl games and guided the Hokies to 23 straight bowl appearances.

This past spring, in March of 2016, the Board of Visitors decided more recognition of Beamer was warranted. The group approved the renaming of the football program's Team United Locker Room to The Frank Beamer Locker Room to honor Beamer for his years of service and contributions to the university and the game of football.

The locker room, which resides next to the team's indoor practice facility and outdoor practice field, was built four years ago after a generous donation from Beamer friends and longtime contributors Brian Callaghan (Class of 1993), Win Sheridan (Class of 1994), Jeff Veatch (Class of 1993) and Ted Hanson (Class of 1991). The quartet owns Apex Systems, Inc., in Richmond and their donation facilitated the construction of the facility, which now bears Beamer's name.

ABOUT VIRGINIA TECH

Dedicated to its motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), Virginia Tech takes a hands-on, minds-on approach to education, preparing scholars to be leaders in their fields and communities. Since its founding as a land-grant college in 1872, Virginia Tech has grown to an enrollment of about 33,000.

With a strong presence in the National Capital Region, Roanoke, and on the main campus in Blacksburg, Virginia, as well as an international campus in Europe, Virginia Tech offers the widest range of degree choices in Virginia and is the state's leading research institution. Tech offers approximately 250 undergraduate and graduate degree programs and $504 million in research expenditures each year. The university's undergraduate colleges are the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, College of Architecture and Urban Studies, College of Engineering, College of Liberal Arts and Human Sciences, College of Natural Resources and Environment, College of Science, and the Pamplin College of Business. At the postgraduate level is the Graduate School, the Virginia-Maryland College of Veterinary Medicine, and the Virginia Tech Carilion School of Medicine, a public-private partnership with Carilion Clinic in Roanoke.

Through defined Destination Areas and Strategic Growth Areas, Tech scholars seek to address complex global challenges. First, we look outside Virginia Tech and into the future for difficult problems of national and global importance. Then, we invest resources to build and support world-class groups of faculty that transcend our disciplinary strengths. Destination Areas create the agile and vibrant environment that makes Virginia Tech the "destination" for the people and resources we need to make a difference. Taking students to the next level by helping them solve real-world problems, Tech professors have a reputation for imagining the next great thing – from blind-driver cars to energy-conscious homes – and then making it happen. Faculty members and students, including undergraduates, are involved in research projects in fields ranging from biotechnology to urban planning.

Virginia Tech's Moss Arts Center presents renowned artists from around the globe and from close to home, with a special focus on experiences that expand cultural awareness and deepen understanding. The center is creating a thriving creative community fueled by inspiration, where patrons have meaningful experiences, enjoying arts of the highest caliber in a wide variety of forms.

The desire to serve is deeply ingrained in Virginia Tech's learning, discovery and engagement. More than a motto, Ut Prosim is a value system that guides students' decisions and helps mold them into responsible citizens of the world.

TIM SANDS

@VTSandsman

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

Timothy D. Sands is the 16th president of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, joining the university in June of 2014. A scientist, educator and inventor, he has dedicated much of his career to advancing the impact of research and innovation in public education. As president, he engaged the university community in a visionary plan to advance Virginia Tech's role as a global land grant institution, confronting the Commonwealth's, the country's and the world's most challenging problems.

The initiative, called "Beyond Boundaries", seeks to define Virginia Tech's role a generation into the future, and align the educational experience with the needs and opportunities that will be created by changing world economies and the evolving landscape of higher education.

In collaboration with the provost and academic leadership, he has championed the development of signature Destination Areas, thematic focus areas that leverage the university's signature strengths to attract talent and generate creative energy that extends across the disciplines. The development of these areas involves reimagining Virginia Tech's Blacksburg residential campus, catalyzing the economic development of the Blacksburg-Roanoke region with a growing health science and technology center of excellence and developing the experiential learning and research potential in the National Capital Region. He prioritizes building new and enhancing existing partnerships and collaborations to use resources and expertise in a focused and efficient way across the country and the globe.

He also launched and led InclusiveVT, an initiative to provide leadership, collaboration, guidance, and resources to support and accelerate the implementation of inclusion and diversity goals throughout the university community.

InclusiveVT supports the imperative of inclusion and diversity as key components of a university ecosystem rich in opportunities for experiential learning, cross-disciplinary engagement and the development of cultural awareness and empathy.

President Sands' vision for Virginia Tech embraces the university's heritage of service and community, and its motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve). Virginia Tech students will graduate with disciplinary mastery, technology literacy, cultural competency, resilience, empathy for others and the passions and strengths needed for a life and career of impactful service to humanity.

Before coming to Virginia Tech, President Sands served as executive vice president for academic affairs and provost of Purdue University in West Lafayette, Indiana. He was acting president during the summer and fall of 2012, before Mitchell E. Daniels became the 12th president of Purdue.

He earned a bachelor's degree with highest honors in engineering physics and a master's degree and doctorate in materials science from the University of California, Berkeley. He joined the Purdue faculty in 2002 as the Basil S. Turner Professor of Engineering in the schools of materials engineering and electrical and computer engineering. Prior to becoming provost, he served as the Mary Jo and Robert L. Kirk Director of the Birk Nanotechnology Center in Purdue's Discovery Park.

From 1993 to 2002, President Sands was a professor of materials science and engineering at the University of California, Berkeley, and before that, he performed research and directed research groups at Bell Communications Research (Bellcore) in Red Bank, New Jersey. Throughout his career, he has participated in and led research teams and academic programs that have been characterized by open collaboration across a wide array of disciplines.

He has published more than 250 refereed papers and conference proceedings and has been granted 20 patents in electronic and optoelectronic materials and devices. His recent research efforts have been directed toward the design and development of novel nanocomposite materials for environmentally friendly and cost-effective solid-state lighting, direct conversion of heat to electrical power and thermoelectric refrigeration. He is a fellow of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE), the Materials Research Society (MRS) and the National Academy of Inventors (NAI). He was recently appointed to Governor McAuliffe's Council on Youth Entrepreneurship.

President Sands is joined at Virginia Tech by his wife, Dr. Laura Sands, a professor of gerontology in the Department of Human Development at Virginia Tech. All four of their children graduated from Purdue and are proud members of the Virginia Tech community. Follow President Sands on Twitter at @VTSandsman.

With Babcock overseeing the Hokies' athletics programs, Tech continued building momentum in 2016-17, claiming The Commonwealth Clash that rewards head-to-head wins against the University of Virginia for the first time. The Hokies also tied North Carolina for the most ACC team championships with four this past academic year. Tech claimed titles in wrestling, as well as women's track and field (outdoor) and men's track and field (indoor and outdoor) adding more ACC trophies to the growing collection under 13-time ACC Track and field Coach of the Year Dave Cianelli.

The football squad extended the longest active bowl streak in the nation to 24 straight seasons as first-year head coach Justin Fuente earned consensus ACC Coach of the Year honors. The men's and women's basketball programs both reached the 20-win plateau in the same season for the first time since 1994-95. Under the director of Buzz Williams, the men's basketball program made the NCAA Tournament for the first time in a decade, while Kenny Brooks' women's squad earned a NIT berth during his debut campaign in Blacksburg.

Tech's men's soccer squad advanced to the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament under coach Mike Brizendine and the wrestling program registered its fifth straight top-10 national finish at the NCAA Championships under Tony Robie.

Under Babcock's watch, the Hokies also are excelling academically. Tech had three student-athletes named ACC Scholar-Athletes of the Year in their respective sports. At the conclusion of the 2017 spring semester, 285 student-athletes – more than half of those on team rosters – held a cumulative grade-point average of 3.0 or better. The cumulative grade-point average of Virginia Tech's student-athletes overall was 3.03 at the end of the 2017 spring semester with an all-time high of 16 teams maintaining a 3.0 cumulative GPA or better.

Along with former Virginia Tech football coach Frank Beamer, Babcock and the Hokie Club helped launch The Drive for 25 campaign with an objective of increasing membership in the organization to 25,000 members. Formally known as the Virginia Tech Athletic Fund, the Hokie Club was founded in 1949 with the expressed purpose of funding all scholarships for Virginia Tech student-athletes.

Hokie Nation has enthusiastically answered the call. As of June 2017, the organization boasted over 13,000 members and donors generously gave over $33 million to the Hokie Club, both all-time records for Virginia Tech. Of that record $33 million total, approximately $16.2 million was designated to the Hokie Scholarship Fund to be utilized specifically for scholarships for deserving student-athletes, a dramatic 65 percent increase in giving from the previous year's $9.8 million total.

Respected by his peers and other key figures on the collegiate athletics scene across the country, Babcock was selected as one of five finalists for the 2016-17 Athletic Director of the Year Award presented by the SportsBusiness Journal and SportsBusiness Daily. With the assistance of a talented staff, Babcock and his team are making a positive impact on all facets of the athletics department.

Perhaps one of the most tangible example of Babcock's leadership at Tech has been the continued success of established head coaches combined with the immediate impact made by newcomers to the Hokies' head coaching roster.

Led by Cianelli, the track and field program produced a 2017 NCAA individual champion in the javelin (Irena Sediva). Tech's women's soccer program has made five NCAA appearances under head coach Chugger Adair, including a national semifinal berth in 2013. The men's basketball program has continued to ascend to new heights under Williams, while Brooks won his first 15 games with the Hokies as Tech's women's basketball team ascended as high as No. 15 in the national polls.

Fuente guided the football team back to the ACC Championship Game and a thrilling Belk Bowl victory to cap a 10-win season and a No. 16 finish in the polls. In his first at the helm of the women's lacrosse coach John Sung spearheaded a Hokie resurgence in that sport. Sung led a program that tied a school record with 11 wins and was ranked as high as No. 12 during the season – the program's highest ranking ever. A total of 14 programs earned a top 25 ranking at some point during the 2016-17 academic year.

Robie took over the helm of the wrestling program on an interim basis for the postseason, earned ACC Co-Coach of the Year honors, guided his team to an ACC tournament title and a sixth-place finish at the NCAA Championships before receiving the job on a permanent basis following the season. Meanwhile, the Hokies hired Jill Wilson from LSU in January to lead the fortunes of Tech's volleyball program

Babcock's professional background is mostly in fundraising and marketing, and he believes that success in these areas begin with developing relationships.

"People have to trust you, and you have to paint a vision for them and show them a need; how they can make an impact," he said. "The reason we want to treat all of our fans well is because they are all important. There is strength in numbers and we have room for more to join our cause. There's an old adage in our business that everyone's first gift is their smallest. If you do things right, it moves on up the line. We look forward to engaging our ever-increasing fan and alumni base and focusing on creating memorable experiences whenever they come in contact with us."

Babcock continues to make an impact on Tech's facilities as well. Next year marks the 125th season of baseball at Virginia Tech. In conjunction with that anniversary, the Hokies will celebrate the completion of a $20 million renovation of English Field at Union Park thanks to a transformational corporate partnership investment by Virginia-based Union Bank and Trust. That tangible commitment to facilities was one of many factors that helped the Hokies hire a proven winner in John Szefc in June to lead Tech's baseball program. Szefc guided Maryland to three NCAA berths, including a pair of NCAA Super Regional appearances, and has led his squads to 10 campaigns with 30 or more victories in 12 previous seasons as a head coach.

A 2,600-square foot indoor golf practice facility for both the men's and women's programs was recently completed. $18 million in renovations to Rector Field House, which houses the track and field programs, as well as the construction of a softball batting facility are currently in progress, while improvements to the Burrows-Burleson Tennis Center are on the horizon.

Babcock was instrumental in securing a $5 million commitment from Roanoke-based Carilion Hospital for scholarships and improvements to Cassell Coliseum where new, padded seats were installed this summer. Future plans call for other renovations, including the Bowman Room, a projected $15 million project designed to aid the athletics department in its student-athlete nutrition efforts and to provide enhanced pregame hospitality options for donors and fans.

The $21.3 million Virginia Tech Indoor Practice Facility opened in the summer of 2015 and has proven to be a fabulous asset for the football program, as well as the men's and women's soccer teams, in addition to baseball, softball and lacrosse.

Other accomplishments during Babcock's tenure include the launching of a new mission statement and core values for the athletics department. The core values – integrity, service, honor, excellence and strong together – represent the brand and foundation of the department. In addition, he unveiled the "Pylons of Promise," a landmark document that sets forth the university's and the athletics department's commitment to student-athletes during their times at Virginia Tech. This document served as Virginia Tech's proactive response to the changes in the NCAA governance landscape. The Pylons of Promise is based on the ideals emblazoned on the eight pylons at the Virginia Tech War Memorial Court.

Babcock arrived in Blacksburg following two and a half years as the director of athletics at the University of Cincinnati and five years at the University of Missouri, where he served as the executive associate director of athletics. Babcock has cited three guiding principles for his vision for the athletics department's future: commitment to comprehensive excellence, centering the department's focus on the student-athlete experience and engaging the community.

During his stint as the AD at Cincinnati, Babcock initiated a new administrative structure within the department and proposed a comprehensive vision and capital campaign for athletics facility enhancement, which included an $86-million renovation and expansion to Nippert Stadium, the school's football stadium.

A member of the NCAA Division I Baseball Committee, Babcock is a past president of the National Association of Athletic Development Directors (NAADD). He has presented before the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), National Association of Collegiate Women Athletics Administrators (NACWAA) and the 1-A Athletic Directors Association annual institute.

A product of the student-athlete experience himself, Babcock lettered four seasons in baseball at James Madison University and served as team captain his senior year. Babcock earned his bachelor's degree from JMU in 1992. In 1996, he received his master's in sports management from West Virginia University. He and his wife, Kelly reside in Blacksburg and have three sons: Andrew, Brett and Eli.

Babcock welcomed 2016 Olympian Kristi Castlin back to Hokie Nation last year during Tech's 49-0 football win vs. Boston College. Castlin won a bronze medal at the Rio Games in an American sweep in the 100-meter hurdles.

HOKIEVISION

Led by Jed Castro, senior director of visual and broadcast communications, the HokieVision staff is on the cutting edge of entertainment both online and in games. The full-time staff of six, plus scholarship student workers, has worked together to put out top-notch work that highlights the best of Virginia Tech Athletics.

The stadium video display, which was installed in 2013, replaced a 13-year-old structure in the north end zone of Lane Stadium. Complete with a new Daktronics line array sound system, this true high-definition video board measures 45-by-95 feet with a display that takes up approximately 4,275 square feet to make it one of the largest video boards in an on-campus stadium.

A production studio with state-of-the-art equipment was built in Merryman Athletic Center for the use of the staff to run the video board in Lane Stadium, plus the two boards in Cassell Coliseum. From this master control room, HokieVision has the ability to produce network quality broadcasts that air on ESPN3 and hokiesports.com.

The video staff can use the LED display and the accompanying for on-field presentations, graduation ceremonies and other stadium events.

VT IMG SPORTS MARKETING

IMG College, a national leader in the collegiate sports marketing industry, is in its 21st year as the exclusive worldwide multi-media and advertising rights holder for Virginia Tech Athletics through its 2010 acquisition of ISP Sports.

In this partnership with the athletics program, Virginia Tech IMG Sports Marketing develops, produces and sells an extensive range of sports marketing opportunities for Tech. Radio play-by-play and coaches shows, television coaches shows and other related programming, Lane Stadium and Cassell Coliseum venue signage, video board and promotions, along with print and Internet advertising are available.

During its very successful partnership with Virginia Tech, IMG College has developed the Virginia Tech IMG Sports Network into the largest collegiate sports radio network in Virginia. Broadcast coverage includes the commonwealth of Virginia, as well as portions of Maryland, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Washington, D.C., and West Virginia.

The network's television coverage of Tech athletics is centered around Virginia Tech Sports Today, a Sunday morning magazine show aired on WDBJ-7 in Roanoke and Comcast SportsNet in the mid-Atlantic region. The 30-minute show features an action-packed, magazine-style format. With its superior production, animation and videography, it has the look and feel of a national sports telecast. Virginia Tech Sports Today airs from mid-August until mid-March.

IMG College also works diligently to stay on the forefront of an ever-evolving multi-media climate. That includes conceptualizing content that gives Hokie Nation a variety of video and audio streaming options to cover Tech football year-round.

Other advertising and marketing opportunities managed by Virginia Tech IMG Sports Marketing include the state-of-the-art video screens ("HokieVision") in both Lane Stadium and Cassell Coliseum, venue signage, ribbon board LED advertising and promotion, pre-game hospitality events and a wide array of print and digital opportunities across all sports.

The company provides a wide variety of sponsorship opportunities for Tech supporters at every level, through not only football and basketball but every other Virginia Tech varsity sport as well.

So, whether your interest is in radio or television media, print, promotions, signage, video board, event impact or digital ... Virginia Tech IMG Sports Marketing is your corporate connection to Virginia Tech athletics.

@LazeVT

JON LAASER

(pronounced "laser") enters his third season as "The Voice of the Hokies" in 2017. In that role, Laaser serves as the lead announcer for Virginia Tech football and men's basketball across the Virginia Tech IMG Sports Network. Additionally, he is the host of the weekly Tech Talk Live! radio program and Virginia Tech Sports Today television show. The 38-year old also pens the "Behind the Mic" column for Inside Hokie Sports magazine and frequently serves as an emcee, public speaker and ambassador for Virginia Tech. The Chanhassen, Minnesota native boasts a wide range of football, basketball and baseball announcing experience throughout his 17-year broadcasting career. Officially named to his current position on June 23, 2015, he joined Virginia Tech after spending four years working as a television and radio broadcaster for VCU basketball. His broadcasting journey originally brought him to Virginia in 2009 as one of the founding staff members of the Richmond Flying Squirrels, the Double-A affiliate of the San Francisco Giants. He served six seasons (2010-2015) as "The Voice of the Squirrels" and during that time garnered regional college basketball television assignments which included partnering with analyst John Feinstein on Comcast Sportsnet Washington.

Recognized by his peers as one of the top young play-by-play talents in the country, longtime FOX Sports and Cincinnati Reds broadcaster Thom Brennaman was one of several prominent sports figures who endorsed Laaser along with the "Voice of the Minnesota Vikings" Paul Allen and San Francisco Giants general manager Bobby Evans.

Working for Hampton Roads Sports Network in 2014-15, Laaser served as lead play-by-play broadcaster for college, high school football and basketball telecasts featuring schools throughout Virginia. He was also "The Voice of the Buccaneers" for the football and basketball programs of Charleston Southern from 2008-09, in addition to baseball broadcasting duties with the Myrtle Beach Pelicans, which at the time was the Class A Advanced Affiliate of the Atlanta Braves.

His extensive minor league baseball background also includes stints with the Altoona Curve (Pirates AA affiliate), Yakima Bears (Diamondbacks short-season A affiliate), St. Paul Saints (independent) and St. Cloud River Bats (Northwoods League). Laaser's professional career began in Minnesota with stints working for KFAN Radio in Minneapolis and KXSS Radio in St. Cloud as well with the NFL's Minnesota Vikings. Laaser is a graduate of Brown College in the Twin Cities.

@MikeBurnopVT

MIKE BURNOP

Virginia Tech's Hall of Fame network analyst received a multi-year contract extension prior to the 2015 football season and enters his 35th season in the Hokies' football booth. Burnop, a former star tight end for the Hokies, held the Virginia Tech record for receptions in a season by a tight end with 46 from the end of his playing career until it was broken by Bucky Hodges in 2016 (48). Burnop also ranks second all-time (Hodges) for career yards receiving by a tight end. In addition to his broadcasting duties, Burnop owns New River Office Supply; a business operating in Blacksburg, Pearisburg and Salem, Va.

In addition to his role as analyst, Burnop handles all post-game interviews from Tech's locker room. His versatility at the mic is nearly unparalleled in collegiate athletics as he also serves as the analyst for Tech men's basketball broadcasts. He is one of just a few announcers nationwide that provide analysis for both sports. Burnop is a prominent member of the Blacksburg community, frequently lending his time and talents to philanthropic causes throughout the area.

@AAllegretta

is in his seventh season as the Director of Broadcast Operations for Digital Media and Olympic Sports. He serves as the sideline reporter and pre/post-game host for football broadcasts on the Virginia Tech IMG Sports Network. He also serves as the play-by-play broadcaster for Virginia Tech's women's basketball and baseball teams. In addition, he anchors coverage of Tech Olympic sports on HokiesXtra and hokiesports.com. Allegretta is also a contributor to men's basketball radio broadcasts and Virginia Tech Sports Today, the network's weekly regional television program. A native of Yarmouth, Maine, Allegretta graduated from Syracuse University with a degree in broadcast journalism.

WHAT IS A HOKIE?

That's a frequently asked question in Virginia Tech athletics, and the answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer, and a contest for that purpose was held by the student body. Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell which is still used today. Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell. It soon became a nickname for all Virginia Tech teams and those people loyal to Tech athletics. The official school colors – Chicago maroon and burnt orange – also were introduced in 1896. They were chosen because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.

JUST VIRGINIA TECH, PLEASE

While the full name of the school is Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, the school is commonly referred to as "Virginia Tech." Founded in 1872, as Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, the university changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1896. Fans of the athletics department, as well as media covering the Hokies, shortened the name to VPI, but it eventually became Virginia Tech. The "State University" was added in 1970 to bring the official title to what it is today.

Those covering Hokie athletics are asked to refer to the university as simply "Virginia Tech." Virginia Tech University, VPI and SU, VPI&SU, "Vah Tech," VT or VA Tech are not recognized names and should not be used.

HOKIES AND NASCAR

BATTLE AT BRISTOL

Located in the heart of NASCAR territory in Southwest Virginia, the Hokies has long shared a strong bond with the NASCAR community. On Sept. 10, 2016, Virginia Tech took that partnership to a whole new level as the Hokies faced Tennessee in the Battle at Bristol before 156,990 fans, the largest crowd ever to witness a college football game.

VIP VISITORS

Frank Beamer and Bud Foster have attended many NASCAR races over the years and developed a strong bond with many racing families. In 2000, Elliott Sadler drove a Wood Brothers Racing car with a Virginia Tech paint scheme in Richmond. In 2016, the Wood Brothers unveiled their No. 21 Virginia Tech paint scheme on the Tech practice field in anticipation of races at Bristol and Martinsville. NASCAR drivers Ty Dillion and Jeb Burton (son of 2004 Daytona 500 winner Ward Burton) have also visited Blacksburg in recent years.

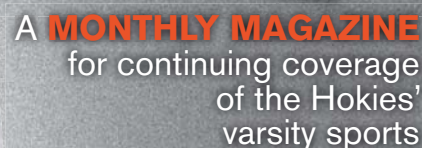

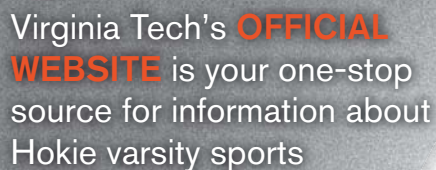

CHARLOTTE MOTOR SPEEDWAY

As part of Virginia Tech's trip to the 2016 Belk Bowl, the Hokies visited Charlotte Motor Speedway, where the team participated in ridealongs with NASCAR drivers. The window egress proved tricky for some of the squad's larger players like Tim Settle, who eventually got into the passenger's seat. The team also visited the NASCAR Hall of Fame while in Charlotte.

HOKIE CLUB

Founded in 1949 as the Virginia Tech Athletic Fund with the expressed purpose of funding scholarships for student-athletes at Tech, today the Hokie Club serves as the official conduit between fans and Virginia Tech Athletics.

"I know firsthand from both my experience as a player and from coaching just how important scholarships are to young people here at Virginia Tech," Frank Beamer said, who earned a football scholarship to Tech long before embarking on his legendary coaching career. "Scholarships change lives, and that's why Cheryl and I have always been willing to give to help these student-athletes not just to play sports, but to be a part of such a special place and get a degree. Many of my former players wouldn't have received that opportunity otherwise."

Simply put, joining the Hokie Club and making an annual gift to the Hokie Scholarship Fund to help provide scholarships for student-athletes is the best way you can make an impact on the lives of those young men and women who represent Virginia Tech Athletics.

"I want to personally thank those who believed in our vision and wanted to play an integral part in our success; who invested and wanted to directly elevate our program within the ACC and on a national stage," added Director of Athletics Whit Babcock. "They are playing a huge role in our success and continued momentum. We are sincerely grateful. We will continue to work hard, every day, to represent them well and make them proud."

BILL LANSDEN

SENIOR ASSOCIATE ATHLETICS DIRECTOR OF DEVELOPMENT AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE HOKIE CLUB

Lansden joined Virginia Tech in 2015 as Senior Associate Athletics Director of Development and Executive Director of the Hokie Club. As the chief major gift officer for Intercollegiate Athletics, Lansden is responsible for the planning and implementation of the overall fundraising efforts from all private sources and is charged with the continued growth and evolution of the Hokie Club. Previously, Lansden spent two years as the Senior Associate AD for External Relations at the University of Alabama at Birmingham. While at UAB, he oversaw a staff of 25 in the areas of development, marketing, media relations and ticketing for the Blazers' 18 sports. He also served as the liaison with the university's development office. Prior to UAB, Bill spent nine years (2004-2013) as the Associate AD for Athletics Development at the University of Memphis, where he oversaw capital campaigns, the major gifts program and annual giving. Lansden received a Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration from Rhodes College where he also lettered four-years in football. He also received a Master of Science degree in sports administration from Georgia State in 1993. Born and raised in Memphis, he lives in Blacksburg with his wife Blair and twin daughters, Madeline and Delaney.

DRIVE FOR 25

QUICK FACTS

- Launched – December 12, 2016
- Objective – Increase membership in the Hokie Club to 25,000 members
- History – The Hokie Club (formerly known as the Virginia Tech Athletic Fund) was founded in 1949 to fund scholarships for student-athletes at Tech
- ACC Peers – Clemson, Florida State and N.C. State all possess fundraising organizations approaching 25,000 members

STATUS UPDATE

- As of June 2017, Hokie Club membership was at an all-time record with over 13,000 members
- Annual giving to the Hokie Club approached $33 million for the most recent giving cycle that concluded March 31.
- Of that record $33 million total, approximately $16.2 million was designated to the Hokie Scholarship Fund to be utilized specifically for scholarships for student-athletes, a dramatic 65 percent increase in giving from the previous year's $9.8 million total.

"There is no better time to get involved with Virginia Tech Athletics, and there is no better way to impact our success than to join the Hokie Club, no matter where you live," "It's about our students and scholarship opportunities, and it's about competing at the highest levels. "We will keep working hard to represent Virginia Tech in a first-class manner and make the Hokie Nation proud, but we need our alumni and friends to step up and be a part of it all and to join the Drive for 25."

- Director of Athletics, Whit Babcock

"It wasn't a situation where, 'OK, I got the scholarship, so my parents won't have to pay for it. It was like, 'OK, now I've got this scholarship, so now I can go to college.' Otherwise, I wouldn't have been able to go. I had two hard-working parents, and as much as they loved me, they wouldn't have been able to afford to send me to college."

- Women's basketball head coach Kenny Brooks on receiving his college scholarship

Coach Beamer's retired No. 25 jersey symbolizes the collective spirit of Hokie Nation. With Beamer's blessing, current football head coach Justin Fuente affords a different Tech player the honor of wearing the No. 25 jersey for each week's game. The gesture serves as a reminder of Beamer's assertion that "Virginia Tech is at its best when we're all pulling together."

The Drive for 25 logo made its first appearance in Lane Stadium on Nov. 26, 2016 when Tech registered a 52-10 win over Virginia to claim its 13th consecutive victory over its in-state rival.

"There is strength in numbers. Compared to other top programs in the nation, we don't have enough folks on board as annual donors. This is a tremendous opportunity for fans and alumni to demonstrate their love for the Hokies by making a gift and making a difference in the lives of our students and student-athletes for generations to come."

- Frank Beamer

The Drive for 25 logo debuted on the Virginia Tech Carilion Court on Feb. 12, 2017 as the Hokies knocked off No. 12 ranked Virginia by a 80-78 margin in double OT at Cassell Coliseum. Tech trailed by a 37-23 margin at halftime, but thanks to a defense that allowed a mere 26 points over the next 20 minutes, a rousing halftime speech to the crowd by Coach Beamer and a raucous Cassell crowd, Coach Buzz Williams and the squad recorded a second straight home win over the Cavaliers.
